

A New Silence

Roosevelt no longer asks how secure we feel, Franklin W. Wainwright, back again after vacation, observes today in his "Politics and People" column. See Page 2.

The Washington Post

The Weather

Today—Rain in morning, probably clearing in afternoon.
Tomorrow—Probably fair.
Yesterday—High, 75; low, 47.

NO. 22,426

Entered as Second-Class Matter, Postoffice, Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON: TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1937

X ****

Copyright, 1937, By The Washington Post

THREE CENTS

Shanghai Falls, Set Afire by Fleeing Army

Outflanked Chinese Flee As Foes Pour Across Creek

Japanese Seize Hungjiao Behind Curtain of Shells, Bombs.

Defenders Retreat Into Winter Lines

Nippon's Troops Find Trenches Deserted; Take Airdrome.

Shanghai (Tuesday), Nov. 9.—Shanghai fell today to a wildly excited Japanese army which swept across the once-bitterly defended Szechow Creek on the western fringes of the heavily guarded International Settlement.

Before noon Japanese legions captured Hungjiao Airdrome—China's Sarajevo, where the spark fell which started the Sino-Japanese conflict in the Shanghai region.

Retreating Chinese troops, who left China's great commercial city within the Japanese battle lines, fired numerous buildings throughout the Hungjiao area as they fell back toward winter defense lines farther to the west.

Planes Bomb Chinese. Japanese planes, taking to the air quickly in the face of the Chinese withdrawal, heavily bombed the Chinese lines, while mobile shock troops raced forward in an attempt to wipe out Chinese stragglers.

Vast clouds of smoke in the vicinity of Nanjing, important railway point directly west of Shanghai, were believed by foreign military observers to indicate the Chinese probably had withdrawn along the entire western line which they had defended valiantly since Japanese captured Chapei October 27.

The Japanese advance had no military effect on the French Concession, the area packed with foreign refugees immediately adjoining the region evacuated by Chinese, but it left all foreign and Chinese sections surrounded by Japanese warships and troops.

Flank Attack Successful. Foreign observers were of the opinion the Chinese were not defeated south of Szechow Creek, where they had engaged heavy Japanese concentrations, but were forced to withdraw to avoid being cut off by a Japanese expeditionary force which was marching up from the south after landing along Hangchow Bay.

This expeditionary column was said to be making a strong attack against Sungkiang, a key point in China's communications to the west. It was believed the Chinese would take new positions several miles from Shanghai in an attempt to bar the Japanese advance toward Nanking.

Japanese forces started crossing Szechow Creek west of Shanghai at 8:30 a. m. (7:30 p. m. E. S. T.), meeting with only rear-guard action from the Chinese.

The foreign observers said Chinese forces fell back in the face of an intense Japanese artillery and aerial bombardment, with the re-

Continued on Page 14, Column 1.

Envoy's Daughter In Russian School

EMMA KNIGHT DAVIES, daughter of U. S. Ambassador to Russia, who enrolled at University of Moscow to study international law and capitalistic government as interpreted by Soviet professors.

Duke Considers Immediate Trip To Visit U. S.

Promise of Welcome by Labor Changes Mind; to Sail Now or in Spring.

Paris, Nov. 8.—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor, convinced that a favorable reception awaits them in the United States if their study of industrial conditions is "unspoiled," tonight discussed the possibility of leaving immediately for New York.

The duke, it was learned on unimpeachable authority, is anxious to carry out his abruptly canceled tour and has been told by American advisers that he and the duchess should either sail at once or wait until spring.

The former King's determination still to visit the United States was revived by the statement of William A. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, that organized labor would give the duke and duchess a "sincere and hearty" reception now that Charles E. Bledsoe, inventor of an industrial speed-up system, has severed his connection with the duke.

Edward was said to be debating whether to make steamship reservations for an immediate sailing or wait until spring. He was told that his arrival in the United States in midwinter would be unfavorable to a study of industrial conditions.

Continued on Page 14, Column 1.

Duce Broke Pledge, Soviet Envoy Claims

Rome Rejects Protest on Anti-Red Treaty; Relations Menaced.

Mussolini Flies Home; Poland Denies Wish to Sign Pact.

The Foreign Situation. Strained relations between Italy and Russia neared a diplomatic break when the Soviet Ambassador to Rome warned Italy's adherence to the German-Japanese pact against Communism was "contrary" to the friendship accord of 1933.

Foes of the British plan to exchange "commercial agents" with the Spanish insurgent regime charged in the House of Commons that Britain is "cringing at the feet of Franco." Page 14.

Italy was reported withdrawing volunteers from the Spanish insurgent forces as result of an agreement with Generalissimo Franco. The insurgents, meanwhile, warned foreign shipping mines would be laid to enforce a blockade of the Spanish coast. Page 14.

Soviet Warns Duce. By the United Press.

Rome, Nov. 8.—Strained relations between Italy and Russia neared a diplomatic break tonight when the Soviet Ambassador to Rome warned that Italy's adherence to the German-Japanese pact against Communism was "contrary" to the friendship accord of 1933.

An official communiqué revealed the warning was delivered when Russian Ambassador Boris E. Stein visited Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister.

Stein told Ciano the tripartite pact constituted "an unfriendly gesture toward the Soviet government on the part of Italy," in view of the existing Russian-Italian friendship treaty.

Duce Flies to Rome. The critical state of Italo-Russian relations brought Premier Mussolini back to Rome by airplane from Forlì, cutting short a holiday, after an urgent telephone call from Ciano, his son-in-law.

The communiqué, issued by the Italian foreign office at 8 p. m., said: "Count Ciano received Ambassador Stein, who communicated that the Moscow government considered conclusion of the tripartite pact as being contrary to the accord of 1933 and also considered the Italian gesture."

Continued on Page 6, Column 1.

Knute Hill Seeks Divorce; Says Wife Won't Live in D. C.

Continued on Page 6, Column 1.

Ellis Island Stops Her Stage Career

MAGDA DE FONTANGES, French woman journalist, who shot Count Charles de Chambrun because he "told all" about her friendship with Premier Mussolini; was prevented from landing when she arrived aboard the Normandie. Story on Page 3.

Black Lines Up With Liberals In Split Rulings

New Justice Survives 3d Attack on Eligibility, Reads First Opinion.

By Robert C. Albright. Surviving a third challenge of his right to sit on the Supreme Court, Justice Hugo L. Black yesterday delivered his first formal opinion from the bench and definitely identified himself with court "liberals" in the first two split decisions of the session.

With Black apparently participating, the court dismissed a petition for rehearing filed by three Florida oil companies, challenging his eligibility. It was the third such protest dismissed by the court, immediately after a fourth challenge was filed by two non-bar members.

In the first 5-to-4 and 6-to-3 opinions of the fall term, Chief Justice Hughes and Justice Roberts retained the balance of power that has previously rested with them in important tests. Black voted both times with the so-called court liberals.

With Justices Brandeis, Cardozo and Stone, the former Alabama Senator dissented from a majority court ruling that $10,000 received six years ago by Arthur G. Bogardus, of Larchmont, N. Y., was a "gift" from a corporation, and hence not taxable. The minority of four was un-

Continued on Page 6, Column 2.

Kunkel, Actor, Dies. Hollywood, Nov. 8 (AP).—George Kunkel, 70, pioneer film actor, died today. Kunkel's last work was in "Naughty Marietta."

Chest Appeal Is Sounded to Thousands

Washington Never Fails in Challenge, Freeman Tells Workers.

Social Agencies Present Moving Pageant of Remedies to Woe.

Pictures on Page 6.

Washington never fails to meet a challenge, Dr. Douglas Southall Freeman, biographer of Robert E. Lee, told thousands last night in opening the tenth annual Community Chest campaign.

He spoke in Constitution Hall. The Chest he spoke for has set its goal at $2,050,000 for this year. Dr. Freeman urged his thousands of hearers to seek inspiration for their task by looking again at the Capitol and the Washington Monument, "covered with light like the sleeping Brunehilde." Such light, he said, is needed to obliterate "shadows that exist in Washington, as in all other cities."

He spoke bitterly of those who would refuse to accept the communal responsibility and who tended to regard the city "as but a lodging for the night." "I doubt," said Dr. Freeman, "if the shadow of any ancestral human woe is half as dark as the shadow in the hearts of those who have no concern for their fellow human beings."

Pageant Profoundly Moving.

The speechmaking by Dr. Freeman, editor of Richmond News Leader, and others was, however, but an interlude in the long pageant of the member agencies, described by Dr. Freeman as "altogether the most moving pageant of its kind I have ever seen." It also was a pageant which profoundly taxed the versatility of Capt. Taylor Branson and the United States Marine Band orchestra, which went the whole gamut from Strauss waltzes to nursery rhymes and swing time.

It began with a procession of 200 nurses from the nine hospitals, in all their different caps and cloaks, marching in two down the aisles and across the stage, singing "America the Beautiful."

Character Builders March.

The character building agencies—19 of them—were next, filling the stage with a bewildering variety of symbolic costumes exhibiting numberless banners and placards. There was the delegation from the Georgetown Boys Club in white sweaters and trousers, turning hand-springs. There were deputations, white and colored, from the eight

Continued on Page 6, Column 5.

F.D. Roosevelt 2d Alias of Forger Seized by G-Men

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—Fred Peters, a swarthy, military-appearing man, was arrested today by Federal agents who said he has cashed thousands of dollars in forged checks during the last six years while impersonating many notables. One of the names he used was Franklin D. Roosevelt 2d. Federal agents described Peters as "one of the most persistent and prolific forgers and impersonators known to the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

Blast Tears Roof Of Angelus Temple

Los Angeles, Nov. 8 (AP).—Two persons were injured tonight in a mysterious explosion which tore a hole in the roof of Almee Temple McPherson's Angelus Temple.

Police found Edwin Bond, assistant janitor, and Gordon Atwater, 18, a student in the Bible school at the temple, injured on the roof. They were stunned and unable to give any explanation of the blast. They were taken to a hospital for treatment and questioning.

The temple was deserted, but in an adjoining building 2,000 students were gathered for Bible class. Three girls students fainted when the explosion occurred.

Exhausted, Pope Rests.

Vatican City, Nov. 8 (AP).—Pope Pius, yielding to insistence of his physicians, spent today resting. The Vatican semiofficial news service said he was considerably exhausted by last week's crowded calendar of engagements.

Business and Relief Given Right of Way by Roosevelt and Aides

After a White House Conference

Harry Hopkins, WPA administrator, and Leon Henderson, WPA economist, after a conference following which it was announced the President would give prime attention to the business and financial situation and its effect on employment, the budget and relief.

U.S. Makes First President Asks Gold Shipment Action to Slash Abroad in 2 Yrs. Highway Toll

Morgenthau Hails Outgo as Aid to Treasury, Proof of Accord's Value.

By the Associated Press.

For the first time in nearly two years Europe has begun to take back some of the huge glut of monetary gold which has been pouring into Uncle Sam's coffers at the rate of more than a billion dollars a year for four years.

Secretary Morgenthau announced yesterday a shipment of $10,250,000, purchased by the French stabilization fund, would leave New York tomorrow.

"We will let the gold go willingly," he explained, pointing out that the United States now has some $1,250,000,000 of the precious metal in its "sterilized" fund.

He explained the purchase by the French fund, created in September, 1936, to smooth out fluctuations in the French franc when it was taken off the gold standard, reflected the practical operation of the tripartite agreement between the United States, England and France to prevent damaging fluctuations in the relationship of their currencies.

The Secretary reassured business the gold outflow would not affect the credit and fiscal conditions of the United States, since it had been putting the influx of yellow metal in the "sterilization" fund.

Continued on Page 5, Column 1.

Yale Dean of Law Reported Approved for Appeals Court

Vinson Also Indorsed in Justice Department Note.

The name of Dean Charles E. Clark of the Yale University School of Law has been approved by the Department of Justice for appointment to the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia and has been forwarded to the White House, it was reliably reported yesterday.

Representative Fred M. Vinson (Democrat), Kentucky, already has been mentioned by The Post as being considered by President Roosevelt for a vacancy on the same bench. One vacancy was left when Chief Justice George Ewing Martin retired September 29; another was created when Associate Justice Henry Robb submitted his request for retirement at the age of 70.

Vinson, a staunch New Dealer, battled vigorously in the House for the President's program to reorganize the Federal judiciary.

Clark, at hearings of the Senate Judiciary Committee on the court plan last spring, submitted a statement in which he warned Congress it could reject the program "only on pain of rendering constitutional reform impossible for years or indefinitely."

Rising Demands for Aid and Slump in Trade Pose Problem.

New Turn in Policy Hints Tax Revision

Hopkins, Morgenthau, Eccles Lead Parade to White House.

Winter Program Planned.

President Roosevelt conferred at length with high Administration officials relative to development of an economic program for the coming winter and Secretary Morgenthau announced he will discuss "pump-priming" spending by the Government in an address tomorrow.

Chairman Douglas, of the Securities Exchange Commission, praising a decision by the Circuit Court of Appeals in New York upholding the law requiring utilities to register, invited the 65 per cent of the industry yet unregistered to comply with the act. Postmaster General Farley, in a radio speech here, assailed business critics of the Administration and said if "trembling capitalists" think taxes are too high they should to Congress. Page 9.

The Department of Agriculture forecast the largest cotton crop in history, 12,223,000 bales. Page 6.

Attention Focused.

By Sidney Olson.

President Roosevelt yesterday focused attention of the Administration on the business and monetary situation as it affects the budget and relief.

The sharp business slump, coupled with approaching heavy winter relief demands and complicated by insistence of industry on a balanced budget, forced the New Deal's newest and biggest problem to the top of the President's desk.

White House Secretary Stephen T. Early indicated to newsmen early in the day that the President has been making an intensive, detailed study of the market recession and general economic conditions.

New Program Emerging.

Out of a long series of technical conferences may come an entire new general economic program for the Nation, it appeared, with encouragement for business expected.

Facing the major problem of whether to continue "pump-priming," the President called in his biggest spender, WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, and three foremost economists of the Government—Dr. Leodor Lubin, of the Bureau of Labor Statistics; Leon Henderson, of the WPA, and Lauchlin Currie of the Federal Reserve Board.

Roper Is "Hopeful."

Developments, following fast throughout the day, included: Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., announced at a press conference that he will discuss the whole question of "pump-priming" in a speech before the League for Political Science in New York tomorrow night.

Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper visited the President with a report on the current business situation.

Continued on Page 4, Column 4.

Today's Index

	Pages.
Amusements	16
Bridge	7
Classified Ads	22, 23, 24
Comics	25
Crossword	22
Death Notices	19
Editorials	6
Federal Diary	7
Financial	20, 21, 22
Hollywood	16
McCarthy	9
Pegler	9
Picture Page	10
Radios	19
Sports	17, 18, 19
Society	12, 13
The Post's New Yorker	16
Woman's Page	11

POST FEATURE PARADE

Nelson Bell

From today's column, reporting Walter Wanger's speech:

"The foreign markets for American-made films are constantly diminishing. What please China would assuredly be anathema to Japan; fighting factions in Spain would find it difficult to reach a common ground of approval for any given release. South American and other Latin countries are producing a growing number of distinctly national films. The impediments are myriad, muddled and sometimes mauling."

Mr. Bell, tell Mr. Wanger that all foreign nations would just eat up a film called "Santa Claus" with Uncle Sam playing the title role.

You'll find Nelson Bell's column, "About the Show Shops" on Page 16.

Mrs. Howard, Last of Washington Family Born At Mt. Vernon, Dies in Alexandria Hotel at 81

Great-Great-Grandniece of President Succumbs to Old Age.

Mrs. Eleanor Selden Washington Howard, last of the Washington family to be born at Mount Vernon, died yesterday at the George Mason Hotel in Alexandria, where she had lived ten months.

She was 81 years old and was a great-great-grandniece of George Washington and a daughter of Col. John Augustine Washington who gave his life for the Confederacy at Cheat Mountain in 1861.

Mrs. Howard had been ill several months and her death was attributed to pneumonia complicated by infirmities of old age.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 10 a. m. in Christ Church, Alexandria. Rites will be conducted by the Right Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church and nephew of Mrs. Howard. He will be assisted by the Rev. Harry Lee Dall, rector of the church.

MRS. ELEANOR WASHINGTON HOWARD.

Later, at 2 p. m., rites will be held at Zion Episcopal Church, Charles Town, W. Va., conducted by the Rev. Mr. Gumere, rector of the church.

Said Estate Went Because Visitors 'Ate Father Out of House and Home.'

Continued on Page 5, Column 4.

Kennedy Study Of U. S. Marine Due Tomorrow

Comprehensive Survey Expected to Touch Upon Labor Problems.

By Edward T. Folliard

The long-awaited report on the American merchant marine, result of a comprehensive survey begun in August, will be made public tomorrow morning by the United States Maritime Commission.

A momentous document it is expected to have to make clear the effect on the shipping problem as the famed Wickham report had on prohibition. Like the latter report, too, it is expected to start a controversy.

In view of the many sit-down strikes, or "quackies," that have snarled American shipping, particular interest will attach to the report's comment on the labor situation.

Labor Situation Is Obstacle.

In announcing plans for the survey on August 10, Joseph P. Kennedy, chairman of the Maritime Commission, said:

"Another great obstacle to the development of American shipping, and one which assumes really serious proportions at this time, is the unsettled labor situation. No one is going to invest in an industry which is subject to such costly and prolonged interruptions as those which have characterized shipping during recent years. This is a problem that somehow must be solved if we are to interest the investing public and maintain a competitive position at sea."

Kennedy, one of President Roosevelt's most trusted lieutenants, who was drafted to head the Maritime Commission after he had started the Securities and Exchange Commission on its way and retired, discovered, upon taking over his new job, that there was "a mass of unproven data and contradictory opinion" with respect to the Merchant Marine.

Outside Experts Enlisted.

Hence he and the other members of the Maritime Commission ordered a survey. A number of outside experts were enlisted to help those of the commission.

Among these were Thomas H. Healy, dean of the School of Foreign Service, Georgetown University; H. L. Hays, professor of mechanical and marine engineering, Yale University; Grover G. Huebner, professor of commerce and transportation at the University of Wisconsin; Col. James M. S. Waring, industrial analyst of New York, for four years with the WPA; Theodore J. Krepes, business economist at Stanford University; Dr. Elmo P. Hoffman, associate professor of economics, Northwestern University; Grover Loening, noted aeronautical designer and manufacturer; Dr. M. Ogden Phillips, School of Commerce and Administration, Washington and Lee University; Capt. Felix Riesenbergh, authority on the training of seamen; Rear Admiral W. P. Robert, U. S. N., retired, and James Reed, of San Francisco, a former naval constructor and shipbuilder. In his announcement last August, Kennedy said tentative plans for the construction of 95 new ships would be held up until after the survey.

"The tragedy of American shipping," he said at the time, "has been its lack of stability. We have been at the bottom of the list. As a maritime power we once enjoyed undisputed pre-eminence. Unfortunately, we have seen that prestige slip as other nations carried the major part of our trade."

Investment World's Orphan.

As a result of the up-and-down behavior with respect to the Merchant Marine, he said, American shipping had become the "orphan of the investment world."

Referring to the Merchant Marine as an auxiliary to the Navy, Kennedy said:

"The Merchant Marine has been held by military authorities to be perhaps a third of the effective strength of the Navy in time of war."

"Consideration also will be given to the development of a trained personnel, both in the yards and at sea. Our war-time experience of having to operate ships with untrained men will be given consideration."

"The labor situation is to be the subject of special scrutiny, particularly because of the existing labor difficulties in the maritime field. . . . The Government, as a partner in the business of shipping, wants American seamen to have the best possible conditions aboard ship and the fairest wages."

"At the same time, it cannot permit factionalism and disloyalty to jeopardize our position in international shipping. The Nation has a stake in our maritime industry which transcends the claims of either labor or capital."

Red Charges 'Old Stuff.'

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—Joseph Curran, general organizer of the National Maritime Union (C. I. O.), today dismissed as "old stuff" a charge by William Green, A. F. of L. president, that "communist forces" were behind the N. M. U.

"The voice is that of Mr. Green," Curran said, "but the words are those of the ship owners. . . ."

$1,610,000 Asked in Suit.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 9 (AP)—George N. Mac, Richmond designer, sought to recover $1,610,000 in United States District Court today in a suit against the Orange Crush Co., of Chicago. He alleges the company illegally used a bottle he designed and submitted in 1923.

HOOVER Rebuilt Like New
by Clean-Rite!
Complete Will Be Attached
$16.95
15-DAY TRIAL PLAN
FREE home demonstration. Open 9 to 5 p. m.
CLEAN-RITE VACUUM
STOVE
615 14th St. N.W., CO. 6194
615 G St. N.W., RE. 9377

Politics and People

Retrospect of Year Since Roosevelt's Re-election Reveals 'Slipping,' Lack of Secure Feeling.

By Franklin Waltman

ONE year has elapsed since President Roosevelt's breathtaking and overwhelming re-election victory. The occasion provides an opportunity for taking a look backward and briefly casting up accounts, especially since this column is being resumed after an absence of several weeks. Retrospection after a vacation is much easier and safer than peering into the future.

Thinking about the last year, the conclusion seems irresistible that as a Nation we have stood still—when we have not slipped back. Indeed, there is an abundance of evidence to indicate much slipping. Do you remember when President Roosevelt used to propound, periodically, to the country a question to this general effect:

"Are you not much better off in your private life, and do you not feel more secure today than you did one year ago?"

We have not heard that question recently, and from Mr. Roosevelt's viewpoint it is not a wise question to ask. But nevertheless it is a pertinent question to ask just now. On the basis of the records before me, I do not think the answer would be a resounding "Yes!" as it was one, two or three years ago.

In the week following Mr. Roosevelt's re-election, a wave of confidence spread through the country. Those who had opposed Mr. Roosevelt's re-election could not be bitter about the result—it was too overwhelming. Many had the reverse of the feeling of the Irish mother who proudly watched her soldier son parade—they felt that they were out of step with the country, not the country with them.

Business and industry at that time seemed genuinely anxious to co-operate with the President in his second term. They wished to get rid of that feeling of being orphans after the storm. The steel industry ordered a general wage increase. Business organizations made gestures of friendliness toward the New Deal and much was said about an "era of good feeling."

This atmosphere permeated the day-to-day activities of business and industry. The week after Mr. Roosevelt's re-election the New York Times index of business activity reached a new peak for the whole recovery movement. Employment and pay-roll figures had reached new tops for six years. For the first time in years the steel barons were rubbing their hands in glee over the rush of orders and steel workers were going on full time. Automobile production sprang forward.

Wherever one looked it appeared that an era of prosperity, as well as "good feeling," had set in.

Soviet's Presence Barrier to Japan's Discussing Peace

Tokyo, Nov. 8 (AP)—A foreign office spokesman said today he saw no reason why Japan should accept the invitation of the Brussels conference to name envoys for discussion of Japan's conflict with China.

He indicated Soviet Russia's membership in the conference was a barrier to Japan's acceptance of the invitation.

Saturday the conference, expressing regret at Japan's absence, sent a note asking whether she would name envoys to discuss the crisis with representatives of "a smaller number of powers." The conference, urging Japan to reply promptly, adjourned until Tuesday.

It was believed in Brussels, however, that the next conference session, scheduled for tomorrow, might be postponed until Thursday to give time for Japan to reply to the invitation.

Spanish Loyalists Receive 300 Tons Of Italian Wheat

Perpignan, France, Nov. 8 (AP)—From Italy, whose soldiers are fighting for the Spanish insurgents, a shipment of food supplies came today for government Spain by way of France.

Eighteen carloads of Italian wheat totaling 300 tons passed through Perpignan on the way to Catalonia.

Shippers said this was the first supply sent by Italian merchants. It originated in Bologna and was said to be the first of a series of shipments.

I HAD A HEADACHE

I TOOK B.C.

I'M FEELING GRAND!

The quick-acting, prescription-type ingredients in the "B.C." formula are also most effective for relieving neuralgia, muscular aches and rheumatism. 20c and 25c sizes, at all drug stores.

In. Most significant was the fact that the heavy industries—those producing durable goods—the most heavily hit by the depression, were showing progress. Housing statistics led some to believe that we were on the edge of a housing boom, while the railroads were buying equipment in volume for the first time since the depression began. Security prices commenced to rise and moved forward slowly but steadily.

The situation which existed last November continued to show improvement through December and into January. The desire for an "era of good feeling" was still in evidence, although little could be cited to substantiate the contention that it was being encouraged by the Administration. The New Dealers refused to concede that the protests coming from business about certain New Deal measures contained merit. Then came the alarming labor controversies in the steel and automobile industries, followed by the explosion of the President's Supreme Court reorganization program.

In March Mr. Roosevelt commenced talking about a new crisis on the horizon—an undefined, vague crisis, but the talk about which, nevertheless, caused some misgivings. In the same speech he gleefully rejected the "era of good feeling," asserting that his followers now could be "reassured"—of what, he did not say.

There is no need to recall what subsequently has happened, particularly in recent weeks, in the fields of industrial production, security prices and employment rolls. Some chickens have come to roost—whose, I do not mention. But once again it has become apparent that what happened in Wall Street, among the huge corporations has its impact on the man in the street.

Now we hear less about things occurring because "we planned it that way" and more about the operation of a resurrected business cycle. Yes, we even read editorials which say that "the underlying factors of the present situation are fundamentally sound." Perhaps so, the New Dealer, forgetting himself, will assert that "prosperity is just around the corner!"

Seriously, however, this is all the good. The idea that a little group of Olympians in Washington could, single-handed, so to speak, run this country was a menace to American well-being toward the New Deal and much was said about an "era of good feeling."

This atmosphere permeated the day-to-day activities of business and industry. The week after Mr. Roosevelt's re-election the New York Times index of business activity reached a new peak for the whole recovery movement. Employment and pay-roll figures had reached new tops for six years. For the first time in years the steel barons were rubbing their hands in glee over the rush of orders and steel workers were going on full time. Automobile production sprang forward.

Wherever one looked it appeared that an era of prosperity, as well as "good feeling," had set in.

Prominent Artists Attend Opening of Children's Gallery

America's first permanent gallery of children's art opened yesterday in the WPA building at 816 Independence avenue southwest.

The first-day crowd included many District officials and prominent artists, but even these notable couldn't steal the show from the 20 children whose work was on display.

A Dutch schoolmaster who saw the show yesterday said plans to introduce a similar project in Holland. Several directors of WPA regional art projects are carrying the idea back with them to their States.

For in the Federal art project of the WPA has been co-operating with community centers and other social agencies to sponsor art classes, which now enroll more than 2,000. Some of the best work done in these classes is now hanging in the children's gallery. Exhibits will be changed monthly.

President Congratulates Russia on Anniversary

By the Associated Press.

The State Department made public yesterday a message of congratulation to Michael Kalinin, president of the Soviet Union, on the anniversary of establishment of the union.

"Permit me to extend to your excellency upon this anniversary, congratulations and my best wishes for the welfare of your fellow countrymen," the President said.

1 Killed, 28 Hurt on Bus.

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 8 (AP)—An automobile crashed into the rear of a transport bus here today, killing Jesse Jackson, 28, of Chicago, the bus steward, and injuring 28 passengers, none seriously.

$500 Bar Pin Lost.

A platinum bar pin containing about 40 diamonds and valued at $500 was lost in a jewelry department store yesterday. Miss Isabelle Henderson, 4000 Cathedral avenue northwest, reported to police.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

PRIVATE SECRETARIES
Earn real money—no experience needed.
Board Graduates win prize positions. Beginners' and Review Courses. Day-Evening Sessions. Guaranteed positions for graduates. Inquire
BOYD SCHOOL 1232 F St. N.W.

Tailored at Fashion Park

The Famous Pargora Overcoat
A Genuine $60 Value
now available at $47.75
In our Special Purchase Sale
The Mode
F at Eleventh

Hoover Terms Press Antidote For Dictators

Former President Is Given Ph. D. at Fete for Slavery Martyr.

By the Associated Press.

Waterville, Me., Nov. 8.—Herbert Hoover today termed free speech and free press the "bulwark of human liberty" and warned the country to guard against inroads of propaganda.

In somber cap and gown, the former President at Colby College exercises described propaganda as a "poison" nurtured by war and applied with refinements to politics.

The antidote, he said, was "more free speech" to expose "intellectual dishonesty and the purpose that lies behind it."

Hoover spoke at exercises commemorating a Colby graduate, Elijah Parish Lovejoy, who died 100 years ago at the hands of a pro-slavery mob in Alton, Ill., as he defended the right of free press.

The address was broadcast on a national hookup.

An honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred on Hoover by the Colby College. President Franklin W. Johnson cited Hoover as a "chosen leader who served his Nation in a great crisis without surrender of high principle to low policy; and now no less the militant patriot—in spirit a follower of the martyr Lovejoy—in teaching his fellow citizens to value freedom above security."

Declaring propaganda, "magic formulas" and "potent catch phrases and slogans" played a key part in postwar revolutions abroad, Hoover asserted:

"It is a paradox that we find every dictator who has ascended to power has climbed on the ladder of free speech and free press. Immediately on attaining power each dictator has suppressed all free speech except his own."

Hoover described a free press as "far more than a publisher's privilege."

"It is the right of the people," he said, "but the publishers are its first line of defense. They deserve the gratitude of the country for the zeal with which they have driven back every attempt at legal restrictions."

Burke Expects New Battle for Power

Topeka, Nov. 8 (AP)—Senator Edward Burke (Democrat), Nebraska, said a luncheon group of 400 here today that "many of our Congressmen just now are preparing for the greatest fight in years. . . a fight to prevent one of the worst mental power into the hands of one man."

He predicted the fight would be "more bitter" than the one over the President's Supreme Court proposal.

Marie Is Reported Slightly Improved

Bucharest, Rumania, Nov. 8 (AP)—The condition of Dowager Queen Marie, suffering from an internal hemorrhage, was reported a "little better," but not entirely satisfactory, tonight.

Seven foreign and Rumanian physicians, hastily summoned to attend the ailing queen, announced that "her majesty is suffering from liver bleeding which will necessitate a long and complete rest."

King Carol, with his sisters, Queen Marie of Yugoslavia and former Queen Elizabeth of Greece, were present at the consultation.

1 Killed, 28 Hurt on Bus.

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 8 (AP)—An automobile crashed into the rear of a transport bus here today, killing Jesse Jackson, 28, of Chicago, the bus steward, and injuring 28 passengers, none seriously.

President Congratulates Russia on Anniversary

By the Associated Press.

The State Department made public yesterday a message of congratulation to Michael Kalinin, president of the Soviet Union, on the anniversary of establishment of the union.

"Permit me to extend to your excellency upon this anniversary, congratulations and my best wishes for the welfare of your fellow countrymen," the President said.

1 Killed, 28 Hurt on Bus.

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 8 (AP)—An automobile crashed into the rear of a transport bus here today, killing Jesse Jackson, 28, of Chicago, the bus steward, and injuring 28 passengers, none seriously.

$500 Bar Pin Lost.

A platinum bar pin containing about 40 diamonds and valued at $500 was lost in a jewelry department store yesterday. Miss Isabelle Henderson, 4000 Cathedral avenue northwest, reported to police.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

PRIVATE SECRETARIES
Earn real money—no experience needed.
Board Graduates win prize positions. Beginners' and Review Courses. Day-Evening Sessions. Guaranteed positions for graduates. Inquire
BOYD SCHOOL 1232 F St. N.W.

Tailored at Fashion Park

The Famous Pargora Overcoat
A Genuine $60 Value
now available at $47.75
In our Special Purchase Sale
The Mode
F at Eleventh

Corn States Back Wallace's Ever-Normal Granary Plan

Farm Spokesmen Hear Him Explain System for Maize and Then Urge Its Adoption for Agriculture Generally.

By the Associated Press.

Indianapolis, Nov. 8.—After hearing Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace plead for an ever-normal granary system of corn production control, representatives of organized farmers from 11 corn belt States today urged that Congress enact such legislation, although they did not name the granary plan.

The committee's statement, drawn following Wallace's one-hour address on a national radio hookup (N. B. C.), was not confined to corn, but included all agriculture. It said in part:

"A vast majority of the thinking citizens of the corn belt are in accord in urging the Congress during the special session called to convene November 15 to adopt without delay a national farm policy that is equitable in its treatment of the basic commodity problems of agriculture, regardless of the section of the country where grown, and which would give to each farmer of the Nation his just and fair portion of the domestic market, and such export market as could be secured and maintained."

Jam on Sharing Field Hampers Labor Peace

Hopeful Sign Is Seen in Roosevelt-McGrady Conference.

By the United Press.

Continued deadlock over industries to be earmarked as falling under the jurisdiction of the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization last night blocked immediate hopes of a truce between the warring trades union factions.

Observers saw as a hopeful sign the conference between President Roosevelt and Edward F. McGrady, director of labor relations for the Radio Corporation of America and former Assistant Secretary of Labor. Although McGrady said his visit was chiefly to see "my old chief," he admitted the A. F. of L.-C. I. O. feud was discussed. McGrady arranged to see John L. Lewis, head of the C. I. O., before departing for New York.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins also conferred with Mr. Roosevelt yesterday and said afterward that the labor war was discussed "only incidentally."

Announcement of the controller came in an official statement after James H. C. Nolen, the receiver, had filed a petition in the District Court submitting the "proposed sale," of the assets of the Fidelity to the new First Federal. At the request of Nolen's attorney, Justice Daniel O'Donoghue fixed November 22 as the return date for hearing and consideration.

Fidelity Pay-Off Of 85 Pct. Seen By Christmas

O'Connor Predicts Quick Distribution If Sale of Assets Is Made.

Controller of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor yesterday predicted a distribution of 85 per cent dividend to shareholders of the closed Fidelity Building and Loan Association before Christmas, either in cash or shares of the new First Federal Savings and Loan Association, at the recipient's option.

Announcement of the controller came in an official statement after James H. C. Nolen, the receiver, had filed a petition in the District Court submitting the "proposed sale," of the assets of the Fidelity to the new First Federal. At the request of Nolen's attorney, Justice Daniel O'Donoghue fixed November 22 as the return date for hearing and consideration.

"The completion of the sale," said O'Connor in a formal statement, "will be the culmination of serious and earnest efforts to work out a solution of the problems presented by the receivership of the old association, and it has been made possible by the hearty and generous co-operation of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board and of the representatives of the new First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Washington."

1 Killed, 28 Hurt on Bus.

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 8 (AP)—An automobile crashed into the rear of a transport bus here today, killing Jesse Jackson, 28, of Chicago, the bus steward, and injuring 28 passengers, none seriously.

Do you toss RESTLESSLY half the night?

Sleepless nights leave their mark. Few things can age you more quickly. Tonight—and every night—soothe and relax those tense nerves that are probably keeping you awake. Take a glass of milk—warmed just enough to take off the chill.

Try this sensible bedtime habit for a month and see how much better you look and feel. Order Chestnut Farms-Chevy Chase Sealtest Milk.

CHESTNUT FARMS-CHEVY CHASE MILK

26th STREET AT PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE
Telephone—Decatur 1011

KEEP YOUTHFUL WITH MILK

NATIONAL MILK WEEK—NOV. 14-20

Sealtest

Sealtest

Hickey-Freeman CUSTOMIZED CLOTHES

Brown HERRINGBONE WORSTED

Hickey-Freeman's master craftsmen have achieved an ideal combination in this suit; all the smartness and style of the famous Hickey-Freeman double-breasted London Model—and all the stability of a firmly woven herringbone worsted fabric that will hold its shape and fit, regardless of how much or how long it is worn.

$60
Other Hickey-Freeman Suits—$75 to $100

Goldheim's
1409 H Street

THE WISE DRINKER CHOOSES GIBSON'S WHISKY BECAUSE

Gibson's GOES DOWN EASILY!

GIBSON'S CLUB BLENDED WHISKY—90 PROOF, 70% GRAIN NEUTRAL SPIRITS, GIBSON DISTILLING CO., ALADDIN, PENNSYLVANIA. EXECUTIVE OFFICES, N.Y.C.

"See how much Brighter these new G-E Bulbs are!"

Thanks to MAZDA lamp research, MAZDA lamps made by G-E now give you more light than ever before . . . at no increase in price and no extra cost for electric current.

For example, the 60-watt MAZDA lamp this year gives 10% more light than the same size lamp in 1936! And it costs not a penny more.

Give your family's eyes the benefit of this extra light. Get a fresh supply of G-E bulbs today, including some of the larger sight-saving sizes, 75, 100 and 150-watts. And to be sure of bulbs that Stay Brighter Longer, be sure to look for the G-E trademark when you buy.

EXTRA LIGHT WITHOUT USING MORE CURRENT

Thanks to MAZDA lamp research, MAZDA lamps made by G-E now give you more light than ever before . . . at no increase in price and no extra cost for electric current.

For example, the 60-watt MAZDA lamp this year gives 10% more light than the same size lamp in 1936! And it costs not a penny more.

Give your family's eyes the benefit of this extra light. Get a fresh supply of G-E bulbs today, including some of the larger sight-saving sizes, 75, 100 and 150-watts. And to be sure of bulbs that Stay Brighter Longer, be sure to look for the G-E trademark when you buy.

EXTRA LIGHT WITHOUT USING MORE CURRENT

Thanks to MAZDA lamp research, MAZDA lamps made by G-E now give you more light than ever before . . . at no increase in price and no extra cost for electric current.

For example, the 60-watt MAZDA lamp this year gives 10% more light than the same size lamp in 1936! And it costs not a penny more.

Give your family's eyes the benefit of this extra light. Get a fresh supply of G-E bulbs today, including some of the larger sight-saving sizes, 75, 100 and 150-watts. And to be sure of bulbs that Stay Brighter Longer, be sure to look for the G-E trademark when you buy.

EXTRA LIGHT WITHOUT USING MORE CURRENT

Thanks to MAZDA lamp research, MAZDA lamps made by G-E now give you more light than ever before . . . at no increase in price and no extra cost for electric current.

For example, the 60-watt MAZDA lamp this year gives 10% more light than the same size lamp in 1936! And it costs not a penny more.

Give your family's eyes the benefit of this extra light. Get a fresh supply of G-E bulbs today, including some of the larger sight-saving sizes, 75, 100 and 150-watts. And to be sure of bulbs that Stay Brighter Longer, be sure to look for the G-E trademark when you buy.

EXTRA LIGHT WITHOUT USING MORE CURRENT

Thanks to MAZDA lamp research, MAZDA lamps made by G-E now give you more light than ever before . . . at no increase in price and no extra cost for electric current.

For example, the 60-watt MAZDA lamp this year gives 10% more light than the same size lamp in 1936! And it costs not a penny more.

U. S. Bars Girl Who Shot Count Over Mussolini

Magda, Here for Chorus Job, Would Forget "Sweet Benito."

New York, Nov. 8.—Dark-eyed Magda Fontanges, the Paris Journalist who loved and lost "Sweet Benito" Mussolini of Italy, also lost her first round with United States immigration authorities today.

Without mentioning Magda's having pumped a bullet from a dainty "woman-size" revolver into former French Ambassador Count Charles de Chambrun, last March 17, because he broke up her "great romance" with Il Duce, the immigration officials denied her entrance to this country.

They ordered her shuttled from the French liner Normandie—and from her moment of glory which she had even Lord Beaverbrook and several Hollywood movie stars in the shadow—in the glamorous confines of Ellis Island. With a curt "none-of-your-business" answer to reporters' inquiries, immigration officials declined to state the reasons for detaining her.

Magda was given a last-minute reprieve from spending the night on the island when French Line officials agreed to let her get the "appearance" subject to a $1,000 penalty if she should "escape," and permitted her to remain aboard the Normandie.

At Ellis Island before a special Federal board of inquiry, the sleek-haired Magda will tell her story tomorrow. And the board will be determining the status of her admissibility.

It was a story which Magda, with her heavily-masqued eye smoldering, refused to tell ship news reporters down the bay.

Greeted by a press agent's dream of newsworthy cameras, photographers and reporters that overflowed her tourist-class compartment in the French luxury liner and had to adjourn to the main cabin, the 36-year-old Frenchwoman kept mum about her much-publicized "unforgettable hour" with Mussolini.

"I only want to forget," Magda said through an interpreter.

All Magda really wanted to talk about, under the careful cueing of her manager, was the mid-town Manhattan night club in which she will appear—if it gets by the immigration board—as a high-kicking chorus girl at the regular showgirl salary of between $50 and $75 a week.

Expelled From Italy.

Up on the sun deck before half a dozen sound-reel cameras, Magda managed enough English to say that she was glad to be here and that she was sorry she didn't have the famous diary in which she had penned lines recounting rapturous moments with Il Duce in the Palazzo Venezia in Rome.

"I met him during a political interview, for my Paris newspaper, in April, 1936," she said.

It was just a year later, after she had been given $1,250, she said, and told to "get out of Italy," that she shot the Count de Chambrun, a direct descendant of Lafayette, in the Gare du Nord.

The count recovered and Magda de Fontanges, nee Magdeleine Coraboeuf, former wife of a French prefect, received a suspended sentence of one year and a fine of $3,750.

Trial of 7 Accused Of Gaming Opens

A jury was selected yesterday to try indictments charging Carroll P. (Nubby) Nuckolls, Moe Morganstein, Robert A. Murray, Anthony T. Costello, Lawrence F. Pissani, Harry C. Adams and George W. Godfrey, on charges of setting up a gaming table at 1230 Fourteenth street northwest. The trial was expected to take three days.

The raid on the place was the forerunner of some 65 engineered last fall when United States Attorney Leslie C. Gamett and Chief of Police Ernest Brown determined to stamp out what they then said was wholesale gambling in the District. United States Attorney Samuel F. Beach had concluded his opening statements to the jurors yesterday when Justice Jesse C. Adkins adjourned court.

'All-Fours' Scrap Is Smith's Topic

French boxing, in which the fighters use both hands and feet, will be seen on the screen for the first time in "La Savata," new Pete Smith subject in preparation at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

The sport is hundreds of years old in France, but practically unknown in other parts of the world. The boxer feints, parries, uppercuts and performs all other movements in boxing with all four limbs. Hence must watch his adversary's arms and legs at the same time. It is one of the fastest sports in the world.

Ross Trial for Davidson Murder Is Set for Dec. 1

Special Dispatch to The Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Nov. 8.—Walter L. Ross was indicted for the murder of Elmer J. Davidson, 52-year-old United States Chamber of Commerce attorney, by a Stafford County grand jury at Stafford County Court House today. Trial was set for December 1 by Judge Frederick W. Coleman.

Ross, whose home is in Aberdeen, Md., is charged with slaying Davidson near Widewater, Va., October 3. He was arrested at Quantico October 20 by State Police. Sgt. E. J. McDermott, who declared he had secured a "complete confession" from the young marine private.

Wirephoto: Five Killed in Dutch Ship Blast

The Dutch tanker Megara as she limped into Southampton with her starboard bow ripped apart by a mysterious explosion. Five Chinese seamen were killed.

Idle Census Plans Explained to Aides

The National Unemployment Census, scheduled to begin November 16, was explained yesterday to the members of the Commissioners' Committee on Census by Postmaster Vincent C. Burke and W. W. Spaid, chairman of the body.

Postmaster Burke explained the technical details of registering the unemployed and the partly employed, which will be handled by the postal service.

On Tuesday morning at least one registration card will be delivered to every home in Washington. When the mail carrier knows there are homes on his route where more than one person is unemployed, he will leave additional cards there. He will also leave as many cards at lodging houses and shelters for transients as the keepers of these places tell him are necessary to supply all transients there.

The cards are expected to be returned by November 20, and will then be checked by the individual carriers for duplications and obvious discrepancies. Then two days later a picked force of mail carriers will make a two-hour visit to the selected test areas and canvass them for unemployed persons who have not returned cards.

8 Men Indicted On Theft Charge

Indictments returned yesterday include a charge of robbery against eight men alleged to have taken $1,250 from Sidney Simms in a house on Wylie street northeast last month. They were Joseph J. Murphy, Charles L. Lampkin, Charles P. Thomas, Robert F. Osborne, William H. Anderson, Robert Mitchell, Francis Hall and William A. Saunders.

In addition the grand jurors indicted Albert Beasley and Marion Johnson, grand larceny; Cordell Davidson and George Webb, housebreaking and larceny; Harry E. Morris, housebreaking; Benjamin E. Barton, robbery; Jesse Brock, Stanley M. Benson, Albert H. Hooton, Louis Horan, William D. Hoover, Charles S. Evans, Marion Evans, John Vidson, Henry C. Harris, James L. Hanks, Henry M. Leake and Ella N. Scott, gambling charges; Albert E. Patel, assault with intent to commit robbery; and Sammy Velasco, assault with a dangerous weapon.

$1,490,972 Order For Army Planes

An order for 95 basic combat, low-wing monoplane, valued at approximately $1,490,972, has been placed with North American Aviation, Inc., of Inglewood, Calif., Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson announced yesterday.

The new planes, equipped with two-way radios, landing lights and fittings for aerial cameras, will be used for observation and courier work, War Department officials said.

The aircraft were secured at a considerable reduction in price, it was said.

Gen. Schley to Speak

Maj. Gen. Julian L. Schley, chief of engineers, will address a luncheon meeting of the Washington Post Society of Military Engineers, at 12:30 p. m. next Monday at the Army and Navy Club. This will be the first luncheon of the season for the post.

Mrs. McMillin to Speak

Mrs. Lucile Foster McMillin, of the Civil Service Commission, will address employees of the Department of Labor in the Labor Building auditorium at 11:30 a. m. today under auspices of the Community Chest.

Remodeling JOBS

Quickly Arranged with Monthly Payments

(Loans may run as long as 5 years) Loan covers labor and materials NO Carrying Charge FREE Estimates

DO YOU NEED: (1) New Roof, (2) Porch, (3) Enclosed Porch, (4) Insulation, (5) Modernized Kitchen, (6) Room in attic, (7) Recreation Room?

WILL EISINGER

WISC. 2400

Jesse Duke Seeks To Bar 3 Justices From His Appeals

Jesse Duke, disbarred Washington lawyer, yesterday was permitted by the United States Supreme Court to file a writ of mandamus seeking to disqualify three of its justices because of "personal bias and prejudice" from considering his cases before the court. Justices mentioned were Chief Justice Hughes and Associate Justices McReynolds and Roberts.

Earlier Duke was denied a rehearing of a case in which he was sentenced to four months imprisonment for his activities as counsel for former Representative John Hoepfel and his son Charles, convicted of selling West Point appointments.

Duke asked the Supreme Court for "a rule to show cause why the writ should not be reissued commanding" the three justices not to take part in consideration of his cases. "Justice McReynolds," he said, "is publicly known to be a close personal and political friend of Justice Charles H. Robb of the United States Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, who is vitally interested in charges brought in the disbarment proceedings."

Child Development Topic of Institute

Development of the child at home and in school will be treated in a two-day institute, opening at 9 a. m. today in Corcoran Hall, George Washington University, under auspices of the university and the District of Columbia Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Following registration at 9 a. m., Mrs. Walter B. Fry, president of the District Parents-Teachers Congress, will open the first session of the institute at 9:30 a. m.

Cloyd H. Marvin, president of the university, and Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of District schools, will welcome the delegates to the conference. Mrs. J. K. Pettengill, of Detroit, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, will discuss the parent-teacher movement.

A period of informal discussion following the main addresses will be led by Mrs. Joseph N. Saunders, past president of the District Congress, and Robert L. Haycock, assistant superintendent of schools.

Prof. Willard H. Yeager, head of the department of public speaking at the university, will discuss parliamentary procedure during the afternoon session, starting at 1:30 p. m. Mrs. Pettengill will speak on program-making.

Southern Governors In Freight Cut Effort

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 8 (AP). Gov. Bibb Graves, chairman of a Southeastern Governors' freight rate conference, said today Southern chief executives would meet in Atlanta the night of November 26, to "solidify plans" for pressing a lower tariff petition pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Southeastern Governors have been asked by President Roosevelt to lunch November 26 at Warm Springs, Ga.

Ocean Liner Receives Television Broadcasts

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—Successful reception of television broadcasts by a liner at sea was reported today by Capt. A. T. Brown, of the Cunard White Star liner Britannic. Capt. Brown said the experiments, believed the first of their kind ever attempted, were performed October 29, 30 and 31 after the ship sailed from London.

If you are poisoned by URIC ACID

Read Our Offer—Do This Is Urac Acid in your blood causing "Arthritis," stiff joints; sore muscles; rheumatic pains; neuritis; neuralgia?

Bladder weakness? Kidney irritation? Up many times a night? "Orn Out"? "Acid" Stomach? "Catch cold" easily? Skin itchy? No "pep"? Nervous?

WANT A 75c BOTTLE? (Regular Prescription Quantity) For more than 45 years The Williams Treatment has been helping others to comfortable days and nights.

We will give uric acid sufferers who send this advertisement, home address and ten cents (stamps or coin) one full size 75-cent bottle (32 doses) of THE WILLIAMS TREATMENT and booklet with DETAILED and helpful suggestions. No obligation. No C. O. D. Only one bottle given same person, family or address. Sold since 1892. This advt. and 10c. must be sent Dr. W. A. WILLIAMS COMPANY Offer MD 133 East Hampton, Conn.

Hundreds of Occasional Pieces Reduced

MAYER & CO.

Seventh Street Between D and E

HOLC Health Co-Op Classed As Insurance

District Official Believes Clinic Must Meet Capital Regulations.

The Group Health Association, Inc., HOLC employees' clinic, is operating as an insurance corporation, and as such, must comply with the provided regulations, was the opinion expressed by a District Building official yesterday.

Stating that the operation of the newly created clinic might possibly have been conceived as "a corporation practicing medicine," the official was of the firm conviction that the association would be required to put up capital and reserves as is required of all insurance corporations.

Lawyer Defends Plan.

Citing a similar situation in Omaha, Neb., where the supreme court of that State ruled, "while a corporation is a person in a certain sense, it is not such a person that can practice medicine."

The official said the HOLC plan would probably not receive a license from the Board of Licensure.

Local physicians have been attacking the Group Health Association recently.

District Attorney Garnett and Corporation Counsel Seal are to confer on the situation. Horace Russell, general counsel for the HOLC, has notified Seal that he would submit a brief before the scheduled conference presenting the "HOLC plan as it actually operates."

Chiropractors Object.

Dr. E. M. Gustafson, Washington director of the National Chiropractic Association, yesterday petitioned John H. Fahey, FHLB head, for a hearing. "Elimination of Chiropractic and other legalized systems of drugless therapy from this plan is equivalent to the establishment of a dictatorship in health," he said.

The directors of the HOLC have granted the clinic $20,000 this year, and will duplicate a similar sum in 1938, to enable the group to meet the initial expenses. It is believed that the clinic will be self-providing after 1938.

Runaway White Girl Arrested in 'Heaven'

Kingston, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP).—Jean Becker, 19-year-old white girl, was turned over to Sheriff Abram Molyneux, of Ulster County today by two "angels" from a "heaven" of Father Divine, colored cult leader.

She was held by the sheriff on a warrant charging juvenile delinquency sworn out by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Becker, who said she disappeared from her home in California three years ago.

Strack Will Address Spiritualist Gathering

The Rev. Harry P. Strack, secretary of the National Spiritualist Association, will be the principal speaker at a mass meeting of the Association at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the Hotel Continental.

The Rev. Mr. Strack will give a history of the national organization and discuss "Spiritualism Per Se." Talks will also be given by the Rev. Alfred H. Terry, pastor of the First Spiritualist Church, and the Rev. H. Gordon Burroughs, minister of the Church of Two Worlds.

Children's Author Seized as Fugitive On Larceny Count

Valerie McMahon, 43, prominent writer of children's books who was arrested here in September on a charge of larceny after trust, was arrested again yesterday as a fugitive from New York City.

Miss McMahon was released under $500 bond at the time of her first arrest and was granted a continuance when her case was called in Police Court. She was given several weeks in which to recuperate from the effects of an automobile accident.

Still at her home at 1107 Sixteenth street, northwest yesterday, Miss McMahon was taken into custody by Detective Sergeants Richard Cox and Guy Rone. A telegram from John J. Seery, chief inspector of New York police, was received yesterday, saying a warrant charging the woman with grand larceny was being forwarded.

The original charge was preferred by Miss Jennie M. Irvin, of the Park Lane Apartments, who complained she had loaned Miss McMahon $125 to buy stationery for the management of a children's "Utopia" project. The money, Miss Irvin accused in the warrant, never was accounted for.

Strack Will Address Spiritualist Gathering

The Rev. Harry P. Strack, secretary of the National Spiritualist Association, will be the principal speaker at a mass meeting of the Association at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the Hotel Continental.

The Rev. Mr. Strack will give a history of the national organization and discuss "Spiritualism Per Se." Talks will also be given by the Rev. Alfred H. Terry, pastor of the First Spiritualist Church, and the Rev. H. Gordon Burroughs, minister of the Church of Two Worlds.

Handsomely Designed Lifetime Bed Room Suites at 43d Anniversary Savings

Good taste and remarkably low prices distinguish the many artistic Lifetime Bed Room Suites which are included in our 43d Anniversary Event. Only a suggestive few are quoted below. May we show you all today?

Modern Twin Bed Suite . . . Avodere and white making a delightful white and golden combination of finish . . . exquisite Grand Rapids cabinetry . . . rose covered vanity bench and chair . . . large vanity mirror . . . 8 pieces . . . was $395, now $325

Colonial Bed Room Suite . . . solid Honduras mahogany spiral turned posts, skillfully carved . . . hand-matched crotch mahogany veneers on case fronts and bed panels . . . 6 Grand Rapids made pieces . . . was $550, now $450

Louis XV Suite . . . twin beds . . . an excellent Grand Rapids made suite with hand painted floral decorations on a durable parchment finish . . . delightful carvings finished in gold . . . cane seat chair and bench . . . 8 pieces . . . $435

Chippendale Style Suite . . . exquisitely carved and done in that durable, mellow English oxford finish on Honduras mahogany. Solid mahogany jewelry trays . . . plate glass cosmetic tray in one vanity drawer . . . 6 Grand Rapids made pieces . . . $450

Grand Rapids Made Suite . . . choice of walnut or mahogany face veneers on sturdy laminated construction . . . solid walnut or solid mahogany structural parts . . . solid mahogany sliding jewelry trays . . . 6 pieces . . . was $415, now $335

Attractive Double Bed Suite . . . six well made pieces with charming drop-leaf dressing table and oval hanging mirror over the dresser base . . . mahogany and gumwood construction . . . reduced to . . . $235

A. D. Condon to Practice Before Supreme Court

Arthur D. Condon, Washington attorney, who was appointed in 1934 to the Bureau of Internal Revenue, yesterday was admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court. His admission was moved by Alfons B. Landa, of the Washington law firm of Davies, Richberg, Beebe, Busick & Richardson, of which Joseph R. Davies, Ambassador to Russia, is senior partner. Condon, who lives at 4406 Western avenue northwest, is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy and of National University Law School. Condon resigned from the Navy in 1935 and has since lived here.

SPECIAL PURCHASE!

MATCHMAKING "PEPPER AND SALT" TWEED

It costs you very little to assemble this smart costume for sport and business wear! Of the same smart "pepper and salt" tweed—a trig three-button jacket and a skirt with plain gored or pleated effect. Brown, green, navy, oxford. Jacket, sizes 12 to 18; skirt, sizes 24 to 30.

JACKET . . . $7.95 SKIRT . . . $3.95

Charge Accounts Invited

RALEIGH HABERDASHER

1310 F STREET

Washington's Finest Men's Wear Store

RALEIGH HABERDASHER

1310 F STREET

The Perfect Coat for Washington Weather

Lamgora TOPCOATS

Twelfth Exclusive Season at Raleigh

$40

Lamgora is a scientifically balanced blend of the finest Angora Pile and Wool. It's light . . . yet warm. It's shower-proof, wind-proof and wrinkle-proof, the ideal Topcoat. Blue, camel, brown, oxford, grey, green . . . In plain shades, plaids and checks.

Caton Will Get Gold Medal for Halting Holdup

Fireman Waldenmaier to Receive Like Award for Saving Comrade.

Detective Sergt. John A. Caton, of the Tenth Precinct, and Private William P. Waldenmaier, of No. 9 Truck Company, Fire Department, were chosen yesterday for the highest awards for 1937 by the Committee of Award for Meritorious Service, Police and Fire Departments.

Each will receive a gold medal from their respective departments at the annual Board of Trade dinner, November 19.

The committee also announced the following awards:

A silver medal to Private Augustus Bodwell, Eighth Precinct, and a bronze medal to Private John A. Burgess, First Precinct.

Fire Department silver medal to Lieut. Harvey J. Clark, No. 7 Engine Company, and a bronze medal to Private Jesse M. Jamison, No. 17 Engine Company.

Detective Sergt. Caton, on April 6, 1937, while driving on Upshur street, observed a man in an ice cream store rifling the money drawer. He rushed in, but the man fled into a rear room, followed by Caton.

There the officer was confronted by two other men, one armed with a revolver, who were holding the manager with her face to the wall. In an exchange of gun fire Caton fell wounded. Two of the three bandits were wounded by the policeman's bullets.

Private Bodwell on the night of January 27, displaying "extreme personal risk," shot and killed a crazed man who had slashed the policeman severely on the face.

Private John Burgess, on April 28, while on sick leave, rescued two boys from the flood waters of the Potomac River. The boys were marooned in a tree. Burgess was awarded a bronze medal.

Private Waldenmaier, winner of the Fire Department gold medal, on December 21, 1936, rescued another fireman who had fallen through a skylight into a burning building. Waldenmaier descended on a ladder and pulled the injured fireman to safety.

Lieut. Clark, recipient of the silver medal, on December, 1936, rescued a mother and her two children from a burning house, involving "unusual personal risk."

Private Jamison, on June 21, 1937, while en route back to his company from theater detail, assisted police in the capture of a fugitive, though he received severe injuries, requiring hospital treatment. He was awarded the silver medal.

Members of the awards committee are John A. Johnston, chairman; Robert V. Fleming, Henry C. Stein, L. E. Edwards, assistant superintendent of police, and Charles E. Schrom, chief engineer, Fire Department.

Soldier Succumbs To Crash Injuries

John W. Wynne, 47, a private attached to Fort Belvoir, Va., died in Walter Reed Hospital yesterday of injuries suffered when struck by an automobile in Accotink, Va., November 1.

Wynne was crossing the boulevard near the Army base when he was knocked down. He died of a fractured skull. Corner A. Magruder MacDonald ordered the body released to military authorities.

James Lewis, colored, 3, of 211 C street, southwest, was treated at Providence Hospital yesterday for cuts and bruises received when he was struck in front of his home. Police said the machine was driven by Clarence A. Brook, 50, of 3533 Fourteenth street northwest.

Virginia Society Arranges Affair For Legislators

Gov. George C. Peery and Gov.-elect James H. Price of Virginia have been invited to join the Virginia delegation in Congress to attend the first event of the winter season sponsored by the Society of Virginia of the District of Columbia here December 6.

The function will be an entertainment and ball in honor of the Congressional delegation.

Warrants Hold Up 5,000 Auto Tags

If you do not receive your application for 1938 automobile license tags by next Monday it's because you have a traffic warrant against you or have moved without notifying police.

Such was the statement of William A. Van Duzer, traffic director, yesterday when he said that more than 100,000 applications already have been mailed. The remainder will be sent out this week.

More than 5,000 warrants are still holding up tags at the Ford Building, Van Duzer stated. Each warrant requires $5 collateral.

Workers Strike to Bar Clause Against Disease

Newark N. J., Nov. 8 (AP).—Eighteen C. I. O. members were on strike today against signing a contract with a toy hat manufacturer under which they would be subject to discharge if found suffering from a venereal disease or diabetes.

Picketing was planned for tomorrow in front of the Mode Novelty Co. plant, where Sam Wiseman, company manager, said 12 employees who refused to join the strikers would continue operations.

Girl Bride Shot After Quarrel

Associated Press WIREPHOTO.

15-year-old girl bride, smiles at Los Angeles Hospital after being told by doctors that she would recover from a bullet wound in the abdomen. Mrs. Glick told authorities she shot herself after quarreling with her husband.

Dog Mart Patron Will Ignore Offers to Buy Back 'Queenie'

Arlington Man Doubts Alonzo Whitlock's Tears; 'Just a Publicity Stunt for Fredericksburg,' He Says as 20 Offer to Restore Hound.

Karl M. Knight, 3314 Pershing drive, Arlington, said yesterday he was tired of hearing from sentimentalists who want to buy his 'coon dog "Queenie" and return her to her supposedly grief-stricken former owner, Alonzo Whitlock, of Unionville, Va.

Yast month Alonzo led "Queenie" to the dog mart at Fredericksburg and watched with cascading tears while she was auctioned to Mr. Knight for $8. Alonzo said he would never have done it if he "hadn't needed money mighty bad."

The parting of Alonzo and "Queenie" got a big press. Yesterday, according to the Associated Press, C. M. Dahloger, all the way out in Tacoma, Wash., offered to buy back "Queenie" for Alonzo. Mr. Knight said he had received between 15 and 20 similar proposals but intended to ignore them. Said Mr. Knight:

"If people feel so sorry for this fellow, why don't they just send him some money? I don't think he was as much attached to the dog as they make out. It's a real young dog anyhow."

"If you ask me," went on Mr. Knight, "the whole thing is just a publicity stunt for Fredericksburg and this annual dog auction of theirs."

Some have coupled such predictions with the hope that WPA expenditures would be slashed, thus bringing nearer the prospect of a balanced budget and increasing business assurance.

But some Government economists contend that the business downswing has drastically cut public purchasing power and that, therefore, the President should continue pump-priming outlays.

President Demanded Figures.

The President's purpose in the series of chats with what are sometimes called his "intellectual legmen" is to get first-hand information on actual facts of the general situation, budgetary, financial, business, relief and employment.

One of the group conferring yesterday said later:

"He kept us all on our toes, shooting facts and figures at us and demanding more facts and figures back. In fact, he gave me a hell of a going-over!"

Administrator Hopkins said later, stressing that no decisions were reached: "We simply discussed the economic situation as we saw it, and its implications in terms of unemployment and relief."

"No One Shall Starve."

Hopkins, noting present uncertainty as to the future of business, refrained from predicting extent of the winter relief budget.

Chairman Marriner S. Eccles, of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, was one of the agency heads who visited James Roosevelt at the White House, as the President's son continued his conferences with bureau chieftains.

Eccles, asked his view of business prospects, said smilingly:

"Boys, I'm just deaf, dumb and blind these days."

In direct relation to the Administration's far-flung studies of the present situation, Chairman Wil-

Budget, Relief Pushed Ahead By Roosevelt

Rising Need for Aid Versus Business Slump Poses New Problem.

Continued from Page 1.

ineas situation—a report he described as "hopeful."

J. David Stern, newspaper publisher, also a White House visitor, told newsmen he had told the President that the Administration had applied brakes to credit "too hard and too quickly."

The Federal Reserve Board reported that bank loans for commercial, industrial and agricultural purposes declined in the week ended November 3 for the third consecutive week.

Secretary Morgenthau and Acting Budget Director Daniel W. Bell checked over the money and budgetary situation with the President, refraining from comment as they left.

"No One Shall Starve."

The White House announced that, despite demands for curtailment of WPA expenditures, "no one shall starve" this winter.

The House Ways and Means tax revision sub-committee devoted a full day to considering possible changes in the capital gains and losses tax, the levy which business leaders contend is handicapping recovery.

The American Federation of Labor reported that employment among its members declined slightly last month—the first October decrease since 1931.

Postmaster General James A. Farley, in a radio address last night, called business critics of the Administration "trembling capitalists" who should "be at pains to instill confidence instead of disseminating fear."

Tax Revision Forecasts.

The conferences which the President began yesterday will continue throughout the winter, he let it be known at the White House.

Figures high in Administration circles have recently expressed the view that the President favors a series of actions that will be regarded favorably by business, such as reduction of the capital gains and undivided surplus profits taxes, an increase in railroad freight rates, and so forth.

Some have coupled such predictions with the hope that WPA expenditures would be slashed, thus bringing nearer the prospect of a balanced budget and increasing business assurance.

But some Government economists contend that the business downswing has drastically cut public purchasing power and that, therefore, the President should continue pump-priming outlays.

President Demanded Figures.

The President's purpose in the series of chats with what are sometimes called his "intellectual legmen" is to get first-hand information on actual facts of the general situation, budgetary, financial, business, relief and employment.

One of the group conferring yesterday said later:

"He kept us all on our toes, shooting facts and figures at us and demanding more facts and figures back. In fact, he gave me a hell of a going-over!"

Administrator Hopkins said later, stressing that no decisions were reached: "We simply discussed the economic situation as we saw it, and its implications in terms of unemployment and relief."

"No One Shall Starve."

Hopkins, noting present uncertainty as to the future of business, refrained from predicting extent of the winter relief budget.

Chairman Marriner S. Eccles, of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, was one of the agency heads who visited James Roosevelt at the White House, as the President's son continued his conferences with bureau chieftains.

Eccles, asked his view of business prospects, said smilingly:

"Boys, I'm just deaf, dumb and blind these days."

In direct relation to the Administration's far-flung studies of the present situation, Chairman Wil-

Clay Thunderbird Shows Incas Lived In Pennsylvania

Pittsburgh, Nov. 8 (AP).—G. S. Fisher, chief of the Pennsylvania Historical Survey, declared today he had uncovered evidence that ancient Inca Indians once roamed Pennsylvania, and said the discovery would undoubtedly cause revision of history textbooks.

Fisher described the discovery as a symbolical effigy of a "thunderbird" or spread eagle, carved in clay, and bits of pottery known to be solely the handwork of the Incas.

Only the Incas, he said, worshipped the thunderbird.

The sacred symbol, measuring 14 feet from wingtip to wingtip and 8 feet in length, was discovered under a bed of mound earth 2 feet deep on a farm in Washington County.

Liam O. Douglas, of the Securities and Exchange Commission, announced he is making a survey of stock market trading problems which will be made public as soon as it is completed.

Douglas said:

"We are taking an inventory of what has been done and should be done. The study embraces inside trading, member trading, certain aspects of margin trading, some aspects of short sales and odd-lot trading."

The Federation stated that 9.4 per cent of its members were unemployed in October, compared with 9.3 per cent in the summer months.

"While this seems a small change, actually the figures are a very important barometer. October is normally the peak month of the fall busy season and employment has always increased from August to October, except during the severe business declines of the depression."

The President's fact-finding survey of conditions is not concerned with the immediate situation, it was learned, but includes all data relevant to the long-range situation. He is believed ready to make use of this data in his message to the special session of Congress next week.

Statistical tables on operation of the capital gains tax were laid before the House committee by Undersecretary of the Treasury Roswell Magill. Chairman Fred Vinson said they showed that "far from drying up as a source of revenue, capital gains in 1936 were about three times the 1934 figure."

Treasury tables showed that aggregate net capital gains in 1936 were $738,760,000, compared with $287,190,000 for 1934.

Big Business Pays Less.

Figures indicated the largest gains were realized in income brackets ranging between $5,000 and $25,000. Highest gains for any group were $74,392,000 for the net income class earning between $15,000 and $20,000.

"They show that the fellow in the brackets below $25,000 under the existing law is paying a higher rate. The fellows in the higher brackets, that are doing the most complaining about the tax, are not paying as much," Vinson said.

He added that the sub-committee called for more data from the Treasury, but he declined to speculate on what changes will be made in the law. He said no conclusions have been reached.

Dentists Invade D. C. Schools in Health Drive

Children Having All Defects Remedied Eligible for 'Good Teeth Club.'

"Is nothing sacred?" mused hundreds of school children yesterday as dental hygienists from the District Health Department invaded their classrooms and thrust sharp instruments into their mouths. Their privacy was violated for a good cause, however. The expected result of the examination is that the teeth of about 3,000 local children will be in good repair.

The project is sponsored by the District of Columbia Congress of Parents and Teachers, the public schools, the Health Department and the District of Columbia Dental Association. By the end of the week examinations will have been conducted in Brookland, Bunker Hill, Noyes, Burroughs, Gage, Henry, Eckington, Langdon, Park View, Thomson, Woodridge and Polk schools.

Five white and two colored dental hygienists have been assigned to the task. Their job is to look at the children's teeth and make out a report of defects which should be corrected. The pupils take this record home to their parents with instructions to visit a dentist. When all their cavities have been filled, the dentist signs a statement which entitles them to membership in the "Good Teeth Club."

Received Yellow Button.

Any discomfort the children experience at the hands of the examiners is compensated for by a bright yellow button which distinguishes them as candidates for the club. They also are given a lunch of milk and crackers (furnished by the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers). Motion pictures demonstrating care of the teeth, released by the District Dental Association, are shown and the hygienists give short talks on the same subject.

The school in which the highest proportion of children become members of the club will be given "a free trip to the movies, or something," according to Mrs. Lucian Jordan, chairman of the project. Last spring, after examinations were given in the sixth district, 1,750 pupils visited their dentists.

P. T. A. Representatives.

The Congress of Parents and Teachers is represented on the committee by Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. P. C. Ellett, health director; Mrs. Mabel Hubbell, sixth division representative; and Mrs. C. E. Kendall, seventh division representative. Health department officials who are co-operating include Dr. Joseph Murphy, chief of the school medical service, and Dr. Harry A. Ostrow, chief of the dental service.

New Baltimore Strike Slows Harbor Activities

Baltimore, Nov. 8 (AP).—A second strike of tugboat workmen within a month slowed harbor traffic today and only two small companies were reported operating.

Tugboat company officials met to consider the demands of the men for an eight-hour day for one-crew boats, a ten-hour day for two-crew boats, and time and a half for overtime.

Shipping was not seriously hampered today as there were no sailings and only six arrivals of ocean-going ships.

EDUCATIONAL

STENOTYPY

THE MACHINE-WAY IN SHORTHAND

150 to 200 Words Per Minute

Business English included. Cash, write or phone for details about training. Stenotype of course by certified instructor.

THE STENOGRAPH COMPANY

904 Albee Bldg. Phone National 8224

PERMANENT GREEN PAINT

By the Manufacturer

E. J. MURPHY CO., Inc.

WOODWARD & LOTHROP

1011 F and G Streets Phone District 5300

These Foods offer ideas for new menus

Geography means little to us because we defeat seas and mountains to bring you foods that please the palate every day as well as party days. There are:

- Czechoslovakian Prague Hams—
- 1 pound tin, 95c 2 pound tin, $1.85
- Hygrade West Virginia Cooked Hams
- Whole or string end, pound..... 50c
- Butt end, pound..... 52c
- Center slices, cut thickly, pound..... 70c
- Frog a la Queen. 10 1/2-ounce tin..... 65c
- Snails (with shells). 12 in tin..... 55c
- Hostess Canape Pastes. Box of 10 glasses, assorted flavors..... $1.10

New Ways to Serve Food

If your menus need fresh inspiration, come to our Menu Consultant. She will show you new foods, new ways to serve food, help you plan parties or special menus.

Fresh Fruit Baskets, $2.50 up

For some friend who is ill, or as a bon voyage gift, remember to order one of our delicious baskets of selected fruits, each one packed to order.

THE FOOD SHOP, FIFTH FLOOR

WOODWARD & LOTHROP

1011 F and G Streets Phone District 5300

Exceptional Offering of Chinese Lamps

$8.50 $12.50

... shed new light in your home, particularly if it is 18th Century in its decoration. Imported vases and ginger jars are mounted on metal and topped with shades especially designed to harmonize in shape and color with the base. Deep oxblood, blue, green, black, are some of the colors, Hawthorne and the festive thousand flower designs among the patterns. Carved finials add to their distinction. Except for pairs, they are one of a kind, so we suggest that you make your selection promptly.

Not shown, a group at $18.50

LAMPS, SEVENTH FLOOR

WOODWARD & LOTHROP

1011 F and G Streets Phone District 5300

Is it WALL STREET that brings you to NEW YORK?

You will find The Vanderbilt the nearest hotel of distinction to the downtown financial district. 10 minutes from the subway station, at our door.

The uptown Grand Central zone is just a pleasant walk on Park Avenue through charming Murray Hill... or only 5 minutes by subway or bus. All other business districts, shops and places of amusement are equally convenient.

Illustrated folder upon request

SINGLE FROM $4
DOUBLE FROM $6
SUITES FROM $10

THE VANDERBILT HOTEL

TAK AVENUE AT 34th ST., NEW YORK

Money Can't Buy Better Teeth

Plains, $10, $15 and $20

Plates, $10, $15 and $20

Partial Dentures in 24 Hours

No Pain, No Loss of Time

$5 00000 $5

Extraction, $1—No Gas

DR. SMATHERS

CENTRAL SPECIALIST

One Block National Bank (1st and 2nd Sts.)

Hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. 7a. 9a. 11a. 2p. 5p.

Is it WALL STREET that brings you to NEW YORK?

You will find The Vanderbilt the nearest hotel of distinction to the downtown financial district. 10 minutes from the subway station, at our door.

The uptown Grand Central zone is just a pleasant walk on Park Avenue through charming Murray Hill... or only 5 minutes by subway or bus. All other business districts, shops and places of amusement are equally convenient.

Illustrated folder upon request

SINGLE FROM $4
DOUBLE FROM $6
SUITES FROM $10

THE VANDERBILT HOTEL

TAK AVENUE AT 34th ST., NEW YORK

HEADLINES

... for the business executive. Schiaparelli made an hourglass of black felt, smoked the lower half in red or black, added a bow, and set it at a confident angle.

$22.50

MILLINERY SALON, THIRD FLOOR

President Asks Action to Slash Highway Toll

C. I. T. Seminar of Safety Opens in New York; The Post Is Cited.

Continued from Page 1.

to lessen the appalling number of accidents and wholesale destruction of human life.

"We must redouble our efforts to achieve traffic safety," the President's message continued. "The newspapers of the country have given generously of their space in the campaign to arouse individual responsibility which alone will solve the problem. It is fortunate, therefore that this seminar has for its objective the bringing together of newspapermen from all parts of the country."

Arthur Robb, editor of Editor and Publisher, in a talk denouncing the "special privilege" class of motorists and striking at corrupt traffic administration, credited the country's newspapers with bringing "the so-called traffic fix to where it is no longer accepted as a part of the judicial process."

In this connection, The Washington Post was cited as an example of what a paper can do to eliminate "fixing" and "favoritism" by relentless publicity and expose. The Seminar's attention was called to The Post's efforts last year to reduce traffic charge "quashing" among so-called influential officials.

"And the newspapers will continue efforts to make motorists worthy of the fine machines and beautiful roads that are now available," Robb declared. "We shall eventually reach a point where we can advocate with vigor that worn-out automobiles be barred from the road. We shall also reach the point where we will demand in the public interest that licenses be denied to many who now get them after a casual examination that does not reveal physical and mental qualities incompatible with safe motoring."

A suggestion concerning Washington came from Sidney J. Williams, director of the public safety division of the National Safety Council, during his discussion of community organization as a weapon against the traffic problem.

Williams was asked for his views on methods of arousing District residents to a co-ordinated fight for safety on congested streets. He suggested the Commissioners organize a traffic safety council patterned after the current plan in Milwaukee, Wis.—the Nation's "safest city"—and seek from Congress an appropriation of $10,000 separate from other budgets with which to launch the program.

Williams described Washington's traffic problem as "essentially different from any other urban center in the country."

Dr. Miller McClintock, director of the Harvard University Bureau for Street Traffic Research, described motor transportation as the "greatest problem in history." He said it would be difficult to think of any other social or economic problem that would "justify or could generate a common conference of representatives of the country's leading newspapers and a group of outstanding specialists."

Wed 60 Years, Capital Couple Takes Long Happiness Calmly

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson as they celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary yesterday at their home, 16 T street northwest. The couple looks forward to a seventy-fifth anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fenton Thompson Celebrate Anniversary. Recall Bitter Times of Civil War; 75 Years Is Their Goal.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fenton Thompson yesterday celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary at their home, 16 T street northeast.

Thompson, who is more than 85, and the young girl he married in Ellicott City back in 1877 regard their long domestic happiness as not at all unusual.

"The years make little difference when life stretches ahead," said Thompson, who has been a farmer all his life.

"And I," replied his wife, "do not feel a day over 20."

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Marylanders, were married near Ellicott City. Both he and Mrs. Thompson, who is 78, recall the bitter days in Maryland during the War Between the States.

"I saw the soldiers in blue when I was a small boy," recalled Thompson last night.

"I guess I wished I was old enough to join them."

The Thompsons, who have five children and two great-grandchildren, are not particularly nostalgic about their anniversary.

Most of his life Thompson has worked on his farm, and he preserves his hardy constitution. "Everything in moderation makes for a long life," he beamed yesterday.

And at the home of their son, John Thompson, the aged couple clasped hands last night, and looked toward tomorrow.

Their goal, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson said, is 75 years.

26 Plead Guilty As Fur Racketeers

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—Twenty-four men and 28 corporations of more than 90 defendants pleaded guilty in Federal Court today to charges of monopolizing the $75,000,000 fur dressing industry by violence in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Simultaneously, United States Attorney General Homer Cummings in Washington announced a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of two fugitive defendants—Louis (Lepke) Buchalter and Jacob (Gurrah) Shapiro.

Last of Family At Mt. Vernon Dies in a Hotel

Mrs. Howard Said Estate Went Because Visitors Ate Too Much.

Continued from Page 1.

hospitality—and then went off without so much as a "thank you." The estate was never self-supporting . . . and with our family large as it was, the expenses just couldn't be met."

Gave Cash to South.

Mrs. Howard was born in 1858, one of seven children and youngest daughter among five. She was orphaned when her father was killed on a reconnaissance in the West Virginia hills; her mother had died the year before.

Though Mount Vernon was sold by her father for $200,000, he actually realized nothing from it, Mrs. Howard once said. She explained he turned his fortune as well as his life over to the Confederacy at the outbreak of the Civil War.

Mrs. Howard was the widow of Julian Smith Howard, of Warsaw, Va., and is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Howard Caldwell, of Seattle, Wash., four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Visited Estate Annually.

The Mount Vernon estate descended to Mrs. Howard's father through his mother, Mrs. Jane C. Washington, who deeded the historic spot to her son during her lifetime in accordance with the will of her husband, John A. Washington.

Mount Vernon had come to John A. Washington from his uncle, Judge Bushrod Washington, nephew of George Washington. The mansion carried with it 1,225 acres of land.

Every year Mrs. Howard accompanied the Children of the American Revolution on a pilgrimage to her birthplace.

Harrison Services At Petersburg, Va.

Services will be held in Petersburg, Va., this afternoon for Martin L. Harrison, who died Sunday night at his home, 2949 Upton street northwest. Burial will be in Blandford Cemetery, Petersburg.

A native of Petersburg, Mr. Harrison came to Washington in 1905 and had lived here since then. He retired from a position in the Department of Agriculture in 1932, after 23 years of service. He was 79 years old.

Surviving are his widow, Evelyn B. Harrison, and three sons—Bernard A. Harrison, employed in the District auditor's office; Dr. Forrest M. Harrison, of the United States Navy; and Floyd R. Harrison, comptroller of The Washington Post.

Fire Sweeps Warehouse.

Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 8 (AP)—Fire, starting in dry grass, destroyed a storage house at the United Cigarette Co.'s plant here yesterday. Firemen put down 850 feet of hose to prevent flames from spreading to the main plant.

Postlude

By Ray C. B. Brown.

Esther E. Jones, organist of Mount Vernon Seminary Chapel, plays a recital Monday night for the D. C. Chapter American Guild of Organists. Program: Toccata, Adagio and Fugue in C major; Chorale-Prelude, "Ich ruf zu Dir," Vivaldi from Trio-Sonata No. 6 (Bach); "Clair de Lune" and "Naiades" (Vierne); "Le Banquet Celeste" (Messiaen); Chorale-Variations on "Vent Creator" (Durufle).

A musician's program was played by Esther E. Jones last evening in the chapel of Mount Vernon Seminary for the resident members of the American Guild of Organists and invited guests. Each composition was chosen not for its superficial qualities but for its intrinsic interest in matters of registration, technique, expression and style, while the program as a whole exemplified the classicism of Bach, the romanticism of Vierne, and the modernism of two contemporary young Parisian organists.

Three aspects of Bach were represented. The organ virtuoso spoke in the brilliant toccata, the meditative adagio, and the C major fugue that does such remarkable things with the unpromising subject; the profoundly religious side of his nature animated the prelude to "Ich ruf zu Dir," the church cantata for the fourth Sunday after Trinity; and his dextrous invention was displayed in the lively movement for the sixth trio-sonata. To illustrate the adaptability of Bach's writing to varied timbres and color combinations, the movement was repeated in a string version by Jeno Sevely, Alvin Holston and William Brennand of the National Symphony Orchestra.

Louis Vierne figures frequently in organ recitals, but it is not often that one hears his lovely "Clair de Lune," which is every whit as enchanting as the more famous piano piece by Debussy and superior to it in nuances of nocturnal tints. Neither does one encounter every month his imaginative and ingenious "Naiades," a miniature tone-poem.

Olivier Messiaen and Maurice Durufle are virtually unknown in this country. Both hold responsible church positions in Paris and pertain to the "Young France" group of composers. Durufle's variations on the "Vent Creator" are extraordinary in their refinement of modern harmony and in their use of registration. In "Le Banquet Celeste" of Messiaen is revealed the mysticism of a composer who is a spiritual descendant of Franck; it is music remarkable for ethereal delicacy and for a mood of rapt contemplation.

First Lions Head Dies.

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 8 (AP)—L. H. Lewis, 57, first international president of the Lions Club, died here today.

Take the time to come into our China Section—we are having a special showing of the largest and finest collection of service plates that we have ever offered . . . especially intriguing when you remember that the Christmas gift problem is close at hand. You who appreciate the epitome of craftsmanship will thrill to the display of Minton, Lenox and Royal Worcester. Service plates by the dozen, $45 to $210.

And those of you who must find some beautiful gift in a lower price range will be pleased at the low price of numerous patterns in domestic and imported china and earthenware that are outstandingly beautiful. Service plates, dozen, $12 to $60.

CHINA, FIFTH FLOOR

WOODWARD & LOTHROP
10TH 11TH F AND G STREETS PHONE DISTRICT 5300

WOODWARD & LOTHROP
10TH 11TH F AND G STREETS PHONE DISTRICT 5300

$35 for your old radio on this new

1938
RCA Victor
Radio

10-tube Model 810K

Regularly $119.95

Less Trade-In Allowance 35.00

YOU PAY $84.95

- Go all the way, with RCA VICTOR, the radio thrill of the coming year.
- Buy your new radio—here—now.
- Deferred payments may be arranged for a slight additional carrying charge.
- Special trade-in allowances, $27 to $40, on the model illustrated and the three listed below.

	List Price	Trade-In	You Pay
87K	$89.95	$27	$62.95
88K	$99.95	$27	$72.95
810KL	$129.95	$40	$89.95

RADIO GALLERIES, FOURTH FLOOR

WOODWARD
&
LOTHROP

Luxury in your Coat is this season's key to style

You may buy fewer clothes, but each costume will be more striking if you top it with one of our luxurious fur-trimmed coats. Each one was selected for distinctive styling, handsome fabric, exquisite fur—the three points you demand in fine merchandise. Come in today—Winter is almost here.

Left above—

Costume coat is fitted expertly in antique golden woolen made by Forstmann especially for Carmel, and collared in natural silver cross fox. $200

Right above—

Opulence in the casual manner is achieved by Carmel's putting the finest Canadian lynx on Forstmann's black wool Persiana. $250

COATS, THIRD FLOOR

Fascist Accord Breaks Faith, Reds Tell Italy

Relations Breach Viewed as Near; Il Duce Flies Back to Rome.

Continued from Page 1.

ture as being unfriendly toward the Soviets. Count Ciano took note of this communication.

It was generally believed that if Italy fails to give "satisfactory assurances" to Russia regarding the anti-Communist accord signed in Rome Saturday a severance of diplomatic relations will follow.

Polish Conference.

[The Associated Press quoted Italian officials as declaring Italy rejects any complaint by Russia against Italian adherence to the pact. They intimated Stein had been so informed by the Italian foreign office.

"Russia," one official said, "has no grounds for reprisal. The pact specifically states it is directed against no third party, but solely against international Communism."

Suspicion persisted, despite denials from Rome, Berlin and Tokyo, that there might be secret military clauses attached to the agreement. Diplomatic relations between Moscow and Rome have been perilously near the breaking point for three months—since Russia denounced the fiction of nonintervention in Spain and accused Italy, in two notes, of being the "anonymous power," responsible for "pirate" submarine attacks on merchant shipping in the Mediterranean.

After Ambassador Stein left Chigi Palace the Polish Ambassador, Dr. Alfred Wyszynski, conferred with Ciano, supposedly to ask clarification of the pact.

Poland Denies Interest in Pact.

It was speculated that Poland—barrier between Germany and Russia—might be contemplating adhering to the pact. It was asserted after Italy's signing Saturday that immediate efforts probably would be made to obtain the signatures of Poland and Austria and draw an anti-Communist cordon around Russia.

(A foreign office spokesman in Warsaw, denying Poland's contemplated subscription to the pact, said, "anyone who knows the A. B. C. of Poland's foreign policy would never believe that Poland would join an ideological bloc, Poland, in principle, is opposed to such blocs and will remain neutral toward them.")

May Ask China to Sign.

Berlin, Nov. 8 (P).—Germany, a usually reliable source said today, will try to get China to join the anti-Communist front and to make China's renunciation of friendship for Soviet Russia a condition of German mediation of the Sino-Japanese conflict.

Fear Territorial Greed.

London, Nov. 8 (P).—Growing fear was aroused in many parts of the world tonight that the Italian-German-Japanese pact against international communism was aimed chiefly at territorial expansion.

Open skepticism in several countries at the signatories' assurances the agreement signed at Rome Saturday was directed exclusively against bolshevism and constituted a safeguard against war.

Recent Italian support of German colonial demands heightened suspicion of Italy's purpose in adhering to the pact at a time when the Japanese army is occupying large sections of China.

Some British quarters expected Japan to grant Italy and Germany special economic advantages in occupied portions of China, excluding the United States and Great Britain.

Italian and German insistence their intervention in the Spanish civil war is a fight against communism was cited in some quarters as an example of how the new alliance might operate in other parts of the world, including South America.

The possibility the Fascist powers might seek to bring Brazil into the pact was held in some quarters to be a potential threat to the United States. Fascist intervention in South American politics after the pattern in Spain might involve the United States, which stands as guardian over that part of the globe under the Monroe Doctrine.

In Tokyo, where sentiment against Britain is already high as a result of the Chinese conflict, a section of the press viewed the agreement as aimed particularly at Great Britain.

Fears were also expressed in Paris that Germany might make some move against Czechoslovakia. French diplomatic circles reported Germany shortly would invite her southeastern neighbor to adhere to the anti-Communist accord so that if she refused Czechoslovakia would be branded a Communist ally, thus giving any German interference the cloak of self-defense.

Russo-Japanese Tension.

Tokyo (Tuesday), Nov. 9 (P).—Both foreign and Japanese observers were almost unanimous today in belief Russo-Japanese relations were nearing the breaking point as reaction to recent strengthening of the anti-Communist pact and friction over fishing treaty negotiations.

The Tokyo newspaper Hochi reported the Russians were making herculean efforts to bolster their Far Eastern army and that Marshal Klementi Voroshiloff, Russia's defense commissar, was hurrying to Khabarovsk, Siberia, to engineer a sweeping reformation on the Trans-Baikal forces.

HELP 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES To Flush out Acids and Other Poisonous Waste

As Chest Groups Gathered to Start Drive

Black Lines Up With Liberals In Split Rulings

New Justice Survives 3d Attack on Eligibility, Reads First Opinion.

Continued from Page 1.

cessfully contended it was "compensation."

Hughes and Roberts earlier had swung over with these four on an Iowa tax case, rendering a 6-3 opinion upholding the right of the State to tax interest on its own bonds, carrying a tax-exemption clause. This time Justices Sutherland, McReynolds and Butler, so-called conservatives, cast the dissenting opinion.

Shortly after the court convened at noon, Justice Black read his first opinion—one of 13 handed down by the court. It was a unanimous decision sustaining a Federal Trade Commission contention that two firms had engaged in unfair methods of competition in the sale of books.

Reads in Steady Voice.

Black spoke in a clear and steady voice, glancing up from time to time, and was carried in full in a textual print. The case involved the Standard Education Society of Minnesota and the Standard Encyclopedia Corporation, alleged to have told prospective customers they would receive a free book by paying for loose-leaf supplements.

The practice of promising free books where no free books were intended to be given, said Black, "and the practice of deceiving unwary purchasers into the false belief that loose-leaf supplements alone sell for $69.50, when in reality both books and supplement regularly sell for $69.50 are practices contrary to decent business standards."

The latest challenge in the series of efforts to dislodge the Alabamian from his Supreme Court seat was made in a motion by Robert Gray Taylor, of Media, Pa., who said he was chairman of the Philadelphia court plan committee, and Elizabeth L. Seymour, of Salamanca, N. Y.

Citizens Ask Action on Oath.

The two petitioners asked permission to file a brief containing "allegations affecting the legitimacy of the oath taken by Hugo L. Black, a sitting associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States."

They said the brief "requests the court to find a method to permit the proposed action on constitutional grounds. Plaintiffs are not members of the bar and seek a solution satisfactory to the court and to the American people as well as in the light of the deepest spiritual and judicial convictions of the court."

In two former challenges, by Albert Levitt, former special assistant to the Attorney General, and Patrick Henry Kelly, Boston attorney, the court declined to hear arguments on their merits because the petitioners lacked "substantial interest." Black had not participate in these decisions.

Yesterday, a third protest was rejected, with Black apparently participating. The court denied the petition for reconsideration of a Securities and Exchange Commission test suit filed by the Ryan Florida Corporation of Tampa, Income Royalties Co. of St. Petersburg and Florida Tex Oil Co. of St. Petersburg.

Three weeks ago the court rejected a petition by the three Florida companies, attempting to test validity of the SEC and contesting the right of the SEC to subpoena telegrams sent and received by the companies.

No Nonvoters Noted.

Black took part in this rejection, and the companies last week moved for reconsideration of their case, contending Black was "attitudinized" in favor of such subpoenas, because of the Senate Lobby Committee's attempt to use subpoenaed telegrams. They raised the usual constitutional objections to his seating. First, that he was a member of the Congress which passed the Supreme Court retirement bill, thus increasing "emoluments" of court office, and, second, that Justice Vandevan-ter's retirement left no vacancy to which Black could be appointed. The court yesterday gave no explanation of its rejection of the appeal, other than the formal "denial" notice. Customarily, the court notes the names of justices who fail to sit on a case, but no such omission was announced yesterday.

Levitt, who failed in the first Black challenge, last week wrote a letter to the President asking him to instruct the Attorney General to proceed with quo warranto proceedings to remove the Alabamian from the bench. The White House said yesterday the letter was sent to the Justice Department for study.

The court yesterday took under review a ruling by the Third Circuit Court of Appeals that the National Labor Relations Board had no right to compel the Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines Inc. to withdraw all recognition from a labor organization it was alleged to have formed.

Labor Appeal Rejected.

But the court rejected another appeal by the Labor Board from a lower court ruling. The Third Circuit Court of Appeals had ruled in a motion by Robert Gray Taylor, of Media, Pa., who said he was chairman of the Philadelphia court plan committee, and Elizabeth L. Seymour, of Salamanca, N. Y.

Poland For Purify If you want a pure, delicious, and refreshing drinking water—try Poland—a natural water, accepted by the American Medical Association. Play safe with Poland Water—it's pure.

Upper left—Associate Justice Harlan F. Stone and Mrs. Stone listening to address of Dr. Douglas Southall Freeman (upper right). Reno Boccabello representing Camp Goodwill in lower photo.

ter's retirement left no vacancy to which Black could be appointed. The court yesterday gave no explanation of its rejection of the appeal, other than the formal "denial" notice. Customarily, the court notes the names of justices who fail to sit on a case, but no such omission was announced yesterday.

Levitt, who failed in the first Black challenge, last week wrote a letter to the President asking him to instruct the Attorney General to proceed with quo warranto proceedings to remove the Alabamian from the bench. The White House said yesterday the letter was sent to the Justice Department for study.

The court yesterday took under review a ruling by the Third Circuit Court of Appeals that the National Labor Relations Board had no right to compel the Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines Inc. to withdraw all recognition from a labor organization it was alleged to have formed.

Labor Appeal Rejected.

But the court rejected another appeal by the Labor Board from a lower court ruling. The Third Circuit Court of Appeals had ruled in a motion by Robert Gray Taylor, of Media, Pa., who said he was chairman of the Philadelphia court plan committee, and Elizabeth L. Seymour, of Salamanca, N. Y.

Poland For Purify If you want a pure, delicious, and refreshing drinking water—try Poland—a natural water, accepted by the American Medical Association. Play safe with Poland Water—it's pure.

Poland For Purify If you want a pure, delicious, and refreshing drinking water—try Poland—a natural water, accepted by the American Medical Association. Play safe with Poland Water—it's pure.

Poland For Purify If you want a pure, delicious, and refreshing drinking water—try Poland—a natural water, accepted by the American Medical Association. Play safe with Poland Water—it's pure.

Poland For Purify If you want a pure, delicious, and refreshing drinking water—try Poland—a natural water, accepted by the American Medical Association. Play safe with Poland Water—it's pure.

Poland For Purify If you want a pure, delicious, and refreshing drinking water—try Poland—a natural water, accepted by the American Medical Association. Play safe with Poland Water—it's pure.

Poland For Purify If you want a pure, delicious, and refreshing drinking water—try Poland—a natural water, accepted by the American Medical Association. Play safe with Poland Water—it's pure.

Poland For Purify If you want a pure, delicious, and refreshing drinking water—try Poland—a natural water, accepted by the American Medical Association. Play safe with Poland Water—it's pure.

Poland For Purify If you want a pure, delicious, and refreshing drinking water—try Poland—a natural water, accepted by the American Medical Association. Play safe with Poland Water—it's pure.

Poland For Purify If you want a pure, delicious, and refreshing drinking water—try Poland—a natural water, accepted by the American Medical Association. Play safe with Poland Water—it's pure.

Poland For Purify If you want a pure, delicious, and refreshing drinking water—try Poland—a natural water, accepted by the American Medical Association. Play safe with Poland Water—it's pure.

Poland For Purify If you want a pure, delicious, and refreshing drinking water—try Poland—a natural water, accepted by the American Medical Association. Play safe with Poland Water—it's pure.

Chest Keynotes Calls for Defeat Of Human Woe

Thousands Hear Douglas Freeman, See Pageant of Social Agencies.

Continued from Page 1.

settlement houses and in particular there was Leonard Gordon, colored, of Southeast House, who drew a thunder of applause and admiration by singing "Ole Man River" in a vibrant barytone, while several companions told burdens behind him. This was to illustrate the settlement's music activities.

There were also the Y. M. C. A.'s and Y. W. C. A.'s, the Boy Scouts and the Christ Child Society. Among them somewhere was a placard advising, "Have more Y boys—need less G-men."

Next were the thirteen institutions. An aged colored woman shuffled across the stage holding a little card announcing that "We are all happy," and another behind her came with the complementary "in St. Ann's Home." It was, however, the orchestra of Jews' harps, tin whistles and zanzookas from St. Joseph's Home and School that stamped the house as the musicians paused in their version of "Merry Go Round Broke Down" to build a complicated pyramid.

Even Files Represented.

Even the Social Security Exchange was equal to the occasion. That agency was represented by its file cabinets, draped somehow around the forms of several pretty young women, while another young woman sang something into the microphone about how it was done.

St. Rose's Technical School sent a score of girls in white gowns and mortar boards, who sang a Kyrie. The Social Hygiene Society represented itself by a certified bride and bridegroom marching to the strains of Lohengrin. The Central Admitting Bureau brought a patient on a stretcher.

Long as the pageant was, it moved briskly under the direction of its marshals, Miss Mary Olive O'Connell, Harry Quirk and Jack Sherry.

"A Community Church."

"You are the real pageant," Rabbi Abram Simon told the assembled workers. You are the parade that is going to sweep through the city. This is a religious exercise. The Community Chest is creating its own Community Church—a church without bricks or mortar where thousands are bending low, exalted in humility.

The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, in the thought, "On the platform with me tonight," he said, "I have two brothers, a Jewish Rabbi and a Catholic monsignor (Mgr. Edward L. Buckley, who gave the invocation). In this work the things that divide us have disappeared as I pray they may one day disappear in everything."

"Your Brother's Keeper." Bert Sarazan told how the campaign slogan—"You Are Your Brother's Keeper" had been selected. "For our emotional appeal we reached into the Bible and picked out a brief passage from Genesis. To dramatize this appeal we went down into the bread lines looking for a human guinea pig and we found him. He was stone deaf and we could make known what we wanted only in writing, but when he understood what we wanted him for, he was only too pleased to help and to lend his fine features to the illustration of our slogan."

"I challenge any of you here tonight to deny that you are your brother's keeper."

Robert V. Fleming, who served as presiding chairman, emphasized the importance of the slogan "to our existence in this busy and troubled world. Every day," said Fleming, "it is brought home more strongly to me that we cannot ignore—any more than nations can ignore—the importance of our relations one to another."

"I am satisfied no democracy today can long endure which diverges the interdependence of human society. . . . While the machinery of Government has rendered magnificent service in endeavoring to better social conditions, it can not indefinitely care for all the needy. Nor should it relieve us of our obligation to our neighbor."

Campaign Song Rises.

Fleming was introduced by Clarence Phelps Dodge, president of the Chest. Herbert L. Willett, Jr., made a brief announcement about participants in the pageants.

Twice Capt. Brannan was called upon to lead in community singing. The first time it was the new campaign song to the air of "Mine Eyes Have Seen The Glory Of The Coming Of The Lord." The chorus swelled from a thousand throats:

"Yes, I am my brother's keeper. Every day my brother's keeper, I will be my brother's keeper, I will not fail him now."

Pomerene Still in Coma.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 8 (P).—The condition of former United States Senator Atlee Pomerene, 73, remained unchanged, attending physicians reported tonight. Critically ill of bronchial pneumonia and complications during the past two weeks, he continued in a semicomatose which has lasted five days.

United States, aged in the United States, and bottled in bond at full 100 proof under U. S. Government supervision—the strictest standard in all the world.

And because National Distillers had the foresight to lay aside generous stocks for aging back in 1933, you can now buy this sturdy, full-bodied Pennsylvania straight rye whiskey—famous for 127 years—at a price surprisingly low.

when you ask for "rye" ask for OVERHOLT

McAfee Doomed To Die on Feb. 7, Says 'Thank You'

"Thank you" was all that William "Major" McAfee, colored, 61, had to say yesterday when Justice Jesse C. Adkins sentenced him to die in the electric chair in the District Jail next February 7.

McAfee was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Henrietta Anderson, 34, widowed mother of three children. She was found beaten to death last summer in an L street apartment house where McAfee worked as janitor.

McAfee grined as Justice Adkins pronounced the sentence. The justice had overruled a motion for a new trial entered by McAfee's attorneys.

The date of execution was placed three months ahead in order to allow time for the appeal which is planned by the convicted man's counsel.

McAfee was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Henrietta Anderson, 34, widowed mother of three children. She was found beaten to death last summer in an L street apartment house where McAfee worked as janitor.

McAfee grined as Justice Adkins pronounced the sentence. The justice had overruled a motion for a new trial entered by McAfee's attorneys.

The date of execution was placed three months ahead in order to allow time for the appeal which is planned by the convicted man's counsel.

McAfee was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Henrietta Anderson, 34, widowed mother of three children. She was found beaten to death last summer in an L street apartment house where McAfee worked as janitor.

McAfee grined as Justice Adkins pronounced the sentence. The justice had overruled a motion for a new trial entered by McAfee's attorneys.

The date of execution was placed three months ahead in order to allow time for the appeal which is planned by the convicted man's counsel.

McAfee was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Henrietta Anderson, 34, widowed mother of three children. She was found beaten to death last summer in an L street apartment house where McAfee worked as janitor.

McAfee grined as Justice Adkins pronounced the sentence. The justice had overruled a motion for a new trial entered by McAfee's attorneys.

The date of execution was placed three months ahead in order to allow time for the appeal which is planned by the convicted man's counsel.

McAfee was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Henrietta Anderson, 34, widowed mother of three children. She was found beaten to death last summer in an L street apartment house where McAfee worked as janitor.

McAfee grined as Justice Adkins pronounced the sentence. The justice had overruled a motion for a new trial entered by McAfee's attorneys.

The date of execution was placed three months ahead in order to allow time for the appeal which is planned by the convicted man's counsel.

McAfee was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Henrietta Anderson, 34, widowed mother of three children. She was found beaten to death last summer in an L street apartment house where McAfee worked as janitor.

McAfee grined as Justice Adkins pronounced the sentence. The justice had overruled a motion for a new trial entered by McAfee's attorneys.

The date of execution was placed three months ahead in order to allow time for the appeal which is planned by the convicted man's counsel.

McAfee was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Henrietta Anderson, 34, widowed mother of three children. She was found beaten to death last summer in an L street apartment house where McAfee worked as janitor.

McAfee grined as Justice Adkins pronounced the sentence. The justice had overruled a motion for a new trial entered by McAfee's attorneys.

The date of execution was placed three months ahead in order to allow time for the appeal which is planned by the convicted man's counsel.

McAfee was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Henrietta Anderson, 34, widowed mother of three children. She was found beaten to death last summer in an L street apartment house where McAfee worked as janitor.

McAfee grined as Justice Adkins pronounced the sentence. The justice had overruled a motion for a new trial entered by McAfee's attorneys.

Largest Crop Of Cotton Stalls Farm Program

Voluntary Control Still Studied; Fulmer Opposes Quota Provision.

By the Associated Press.

The Roosevelt Administration encountered a new obstacle yesterday in its search for a solution to the crop surplus problem when the Federal Crop Reporting Board predicted this year's cotton crop would be the largest in American history.

The board said conditions on November 1 indicated 11,943,000 bales of 49 pounds each, adding that this figure might go higher or lower, depending upon weather conditions during the rest of the season.

Secretary Wallace was out of the city, and officials at the Department of Agriculture declined to comment on the estimate. Congressional leaders continued to discuss a voluntary cotton program next year with some sort of processing taxes to pay the cost.

Cotton Reaches Low.

The huge forecast sent market prices of cotton to new season lows at New Orleans, but buying support soon erased most of the decline.

The November estimate was 670,000 bales larger than the forecast a month ago when the 1937 crop was ranked the second largest in history, about 400,000 bales under the 1926 previous record crop of 17,978,000 bales.

This year's crop has grown with each monthly estimate. The board forecast 15,593,000 bales in August, increased this 505,000 bales in September, added another 1,475,000 bales in October, and the revised estimates upward 670,000 bales again this month.

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many cough remedies, such as Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tvy and fluid extract of Licorice Root, but it also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect, and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote, perfectly blended with all of these so that it will reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of people, who really know their drugs, use Creomulsion for their families, realizing that this excellent preparation aids nature to soothe the inflamed mucous membranes, to heal the irritated tissues, and to loosen and expel the farm-laden phlegm. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion "top" for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible, and active in going to the very seat of the trouble. Creomulsion is generally found satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritation, especially those stubborn ones that start as just a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained from the very first bottle of Creomulsion. Don't worry through another sleepless night—use Creomulsion. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product, and the relief that you want. (Adv.)

United States, aged in the United States, and bottled in bond at full 100 proof under U. S. Government supervision—the strictest standard in all the world.

And because National Distillers had the foresight to lay aside generous stocks for aging back in 1933, you can now buy this sturdy, full-bodied Pennsylvania straight rye whiskey—famous for 127 years—at a price surprisingly low.

when you ask for "rye" ask for OVERHOLT

United States, aged in the United States, and bottled in bond at full 100 proof under U. S. Government supervision—the strictest standard in all the world.

And because National Distillers had the foresight to lay aside generous stocks for aging back in 1933, you can now buy this sturdy, full-bodied Pennsylvania straight rye whiskey—famous for 127 years—at a price surprisingly low.

when you ask for "rye" ask for OVERHOLT

United States, aged in the United States, and bottled in bond at full 100 proof under U. S. Government supervision—the strictest standard in all the world.

And because National Distillers had the foresight to lay aside generous stocks for aging back in 1933, you can now buy this sturdy, full-bodied Pennsylvania straight rye whiskey—famous for 127 years—at a price surprisingly low.

when you ask for "rye" ask for OVERHOLT

United States, aged in the United States, and bottled in bond at full 100 proof under U. S. Government supervision—the strictest standard in all the world.

And because National Distillers had the foresight to lay aside generous stocks for aging back in 1933, you can now buy this sturdy, full-bodied Pennsylvania straight rye whiskey—famous for 127 years—at a price surprisingly low.

when you ask for "rye" ask for OVERHOLT

United States, aged in the United States, and bottled in bond at full 100 proof under U. S. Government supervision—the strictest standard in all the world.

"Rheumatism Has Settled All Over Me" says the letter—"every muscle seems saturated with pain-causing acids." Doctors prescribe a natural, alkaline water. Let us send a case to you. Phone ME. 1063.

MOUNTAIN VALLEY From HOT SPRINGS, ARK. MINERAL WATER 1405 K ST. N.W. MEA. 1063

SEE THE DISPLAY OF MODEL KITCHENS IN OUR NEW SHOWROOM KITCHEN EQUIPMENT CO. 1613 E. N. W. ME. 1063

MAY'S CLEANERS 2220-2628 14TH ST. W. S. NEVER CLOSE 8 HOUR SERVICE

Kimball Pianos W. W. KIMBALL CO. 721 11th St. N. W.

Kimball Pianos W. W. KIMBALL CO. 721 11th St. N. W.

Kimball Pianos W. W. KIMBALL CO. 721 11th St. N. W.

Kimball Pianos W. W. KIMBALL CO. 721 11th St. N. W.

Kimball Pianos W. W. KIMBALL CO. 721 11th St. N. W.

Kimball Pianos W. W. KIMBALL CO. 721 11th St. N. W.

Kimball Pianos W. W. KIMBALL CO. 721 11th St. N. W.

Kimball Pianos W. W. KIMBALL CO. 721 11th St. N. W.

Kimball Pianos W. W. KIMBALL CO. 721 11th St. N. W.

Kimball Pianos W. W. KIMBALL CO. 721 11th St. N. W.

Kimball Pianos W. W. KIMBALL CO. 721 11th St. N. W.

The Federal Diary

Reg. U. S. Patent Office.

By Scott Hart.

And So!

On wings like the butterfly, there flitted through Internal Revenue an official mimeograph saying that the bureau didn't want any collecting of union dues or the transacting of any union business during work hours. Dues might be collected during the lunch hour, it was said, and the bureau made clear that it had no feeling against anyone joining a lodge. It simply didn't want the union's business mixed up with the Government's business.

This, on the surface, is just another manifesto, with the sweetest kind of routine face. But, says our informant, "can't you see the catch in it? The A. F. G. E. and the N. F. E. and the U. C. S. E. already are established here. Now the U. F. W. A., affiliated with the C. I. O., is not so well established here. It would have to do considerable work to establish itself here."

"When can it do this work? Only when the employees are around. The others are so well established that their business can be transacted any time. Would this order bother or disturb the U. F. W. A. organizing here in this bureau? Or how do you read it? Maybe six and six don't make 12." Our informant was a nonunion person.

That famous editor of the I. D. R. A. News came to our desk, and read that slight, italic line atop the FCA. Employees Bulletin, which says: "All notices appearing in this column have official approval." And the great man scoffed and said something about "issies" and the "freedom of the press" and then he cried: "I don't have to do it; I take my own stand; look at how I burnt the Big Apple up and campaigned against women smoking!" And he did seem brave standing there. The wild free pulse of printers' ink seemed pounding in him, and somewhat under the world's golden dome in Valhalla old Joseph Pulitzer himself must have cried: "Atta Boy, Sam!"

The first of a series of forum meetings under sponsorship of the Farm Credit Club will be held at 7:45 o'clock Friday evening in room 358, with the theme "The Functions and Problems of the Securities and Exchange Commission." Carman G. Blough, chief accountant, SEC, will talk for 30 minutes on the conditions of the securities markets which led to the legislation creating the commission. A panel discussion, to follow the talk, will be led by J. C. Buckley, of the commission; J. E. Lee, FCA Legal Division, and W. L. Webb, FCA Division of Finance and Research. The forum hopes to cover the Government agencies, particularly the newer ones.

You have heard that Dr. Lucile Reynolds has been appointed by FCA as chief of the Family Credit Section, Division of Information and Extension, succeeding Miss Julia O. Newton. Briefly, Dr. Reynolds comes to the FCA from the Farm Security Administration where she was chief of the Home Management Unit of the Rural Rehabilitation Division. Dr. Reynolds formerly was in charge of home economics extension work in Montana and Massachusetts. She subsequently was a member of the field staff of "The Farmer's Wife," a magazine. Miss Newton returns to the University of Minnesota on December 1.

Francis A. Wagner, president, Young Democratic Clubs of America, D. C. Division, Inc., announced the formation of a public speaking forum for young Democrats. Plans call for weekly meetings to be held at the Shoreham Hotel on Tuesday evenings—November through March. Division of Disbursement, Treasury Lodge, No. 362; Superintendent of Documents, G. P. O. Lodge, No. 148; and Federal Communication Commission Lodge, No. 367, will hold a joint party and dance at the Playhouse, 1814 N. Street, on Friday evening, November 18; the hours are 9:30 to 12:30. All of these are A. F. G. E. lodges. Mary M. Becker, of 362, writes us that the following officers were elected at a recent meeting: Mary M. Becker, re-elected president; Frank O. Cole, first vice president; Malcolm Johnson, second vice president; Jessie Crandall, secretary; Virgil Stinchcomb, treasurer, and A. L. Patterson, sergeant at arms. Meetings announced by the National Federation of Federal Employees for this week are as follows: Today—7 p. m., finance committee, Local 2, 710 Fourteenth street; 8 p. m., Bureau of Engraving Women's Local, No. 105, Willard Hotel; Wednesday—5 p. m., executive council, D. C. Federation of Federal Employees Unions, 710 Fourteenth street; Friday—8 p. m., board of representatives, Local No. 2, 710 Fourteenth street. The GAO branch of Local 2, N. F. E., flashes out with a news sheet, which is very attractive.

Grin and Bear It

By Lichty

"—and remember! Your boy friend must stop taking away the morning paper when he says good night!"

"Want to reduce or gain weight? Turn to Ida Jean Kain's helpful hints on diet—Daily on The Post Woman's Page."

Contract Bridge

By Mrs. Ely Culbertson.

Blocked:
Yesterday I showed how my partner in a Rubber Bridge game lost a glorious opportunity for a doubled game contract, just by failing to think. As it happened, the very next hand found us in another three notrump contract—this time not doubled. And, contrary to tradition, Opportunity knocked again. Unfortunately, my partner was just as dead to the knocking as he had been the first time.

South dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

♠ 7643	♥ Q2	♦ 65	♣ AK854
♠ Q95	♥ J1094	♦ KJ	♣ J762
♠ J1082	♥ K878	♦ Q984	♣ 10
♠ AK	♥ A65	♦ A10782	♣ Q93

The bidding:
South West North East
1♠ Pass 2♠ Pass
3NT Pass Pass Pass

West opened the heart Jack, and partner properly tried to win the trick with my Queen. Unfortunately, East had the King, and covered. Declarer stayed off two rounds and won the third. Obviously, four top tricks could be counted, exclusive of club tricks, and it therefore became necessary to bring home my club suit without loss.

Declarer, after a moment's study, led the three of clubs and played the Ace, dropping East's ten. He then led a low club, and groaned audibly when East showed out. I groaned, also—here was a pretty kettle of fish, indeed! My partner had found an established finessing position against West's Jack, but due to the fact that his own nine was a blocking card, could never bring home the two long cards in my suit! Obviously, West would not be so chivalrous as to cover the ten if, and when led! Thus, partner could make only the three top clubs, and a total of seven tricks.

As in the first hand, described yesterday, the only ingredient necessary to success had been care. When dummy's heart Queen was removed on the first lead, there was no possible entry outside the club suit itself. If clubs broke 3-2, well and good. If East had four to an honor, there was nothing to be done about it—he could be finessed but the club suit never could be run. The one irregular break that could be guarded against was a singleton honor in East's hand and four to the other honor in West's. In short, the position that actually held true. And the play that would have taken advantage of this was nothing more profound than to have selected the club nine as the card to lead first, to dummy's Ace. With the ten dropping from East, and East's failure to follow on the next club lead to the Queen, the finesse against West's Jack would not only have become established but the club three then could have been led toward the King-eight. West's Jack finessed, and the entire club suit run off.

Engineers Meet.

Prof. C. P. Yaglou, of the Harvard School of Public Health, will address the Washington Chapter of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers at a meeting tomorrow evening at Schneider's Cafe, 427 Eleventh street northwest.

MONTICELLO
RYE... BLENDED STRAIGHT WHISKIES... 80 PROOF

Also Monticello Straight Rye Whiskey
Bottled in Bond Under U. S. Gov't Supervision—100 Proof—Copp. 1937, J. S. Finch & Co., Inc., Schenley, Pa.

A NEW SMARTNESS IN AFTERNOON TRAVEL

ON THE "Royal Blue"

TO PHILADELPHIA and NEW YORK

Photograph shows one of many unusual travel appointments on this popular streamlined train. Other features include new-type Diner with Divan section; Drawing-Room Parlor Car; Individual Reclining Seat Coaches; Tavern-Counter and Women's Lounges. Coach seats reserved free.

Lv. Washington... 3:45 P.M.
Ar. Philadelphia... 6:02 P.M.
Ar. New York
(Liberty St. Sta.)... 7:57 P.M.
(42nd St. Sta.)... 8:15 P.M.

Streamlined "COLUMBIAN"— companion to the ROYAL BLUE—leaves Washington 10:30 A.M.
—arrives Philadelphia 12:50 P.M.—
New York, Liberty St. Sta., 2:42 P.M.
—42nd St. Sta., 3:10 P.M.

8 & O's Motor Coaches take you (and your bags) from stations to any of 17 phone to New York and Brooklyn, or to store out.

Phone District 3300—National 7370

Mass Meeting Set On Anti-Class Bills

In an attempt to press legislation to curb class hatred, the Army and Navy Union will hold a mass meeting at the Rialto Theater at 8 p. m., November 15, the opening day of Congress. Passage of these bills will be sought:

"A bill to make it a felony for native-born citizens to advise, advocate or teach, or who are members of or are affiliated with any organization, association, society or group that advises, advocates, or teaches principles of government based in whole or in part upon discrimination based in whole or in part upon opposition to or discrimination against individuals because of their race or creed."

"A bill to expel aliens and to cancel citizenship and deport naturalized citizens who advise, advocate or teach or who are members of or are affiliated with any organization, society or group that advises, advocates, or teaches principles of government based in whole or in part upon discrimination to or discrimination against individuals because of their race or creed."

G-Man to Speak.

W. R. Glavin, administrative assistant to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, will describe that organization's activities at a meeting at 8 p. m. tomorrow of the Parent-Teacher Association of the John Quincy Adams School in the school auditorium.

Alexander Scott-Gatty, Noted British Actor, Dies

London, Nov. 8 (AP)—Alexander Scott-Gatty, one of England's best known actors, died Saturday just a few hours after the death of his famous associate, Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson. Scott-Gatty was 61 years old.

He toured the United States several times, once with Sir Johnston on his farewell tour. He also appeared with Sir Johnston in his last London season.

LOUIS ABRAHAMSON OANS ON JEWELRY

2709 E. L. Ave. N.E.
717 O. St. N.W.
CASH FOR YOUR OLD GOLD

Direct factory outlet for McDougall-Butler paints and varnishes.
McDOUGALL-BUTLER CO., INC.
Moisan Division
421 10th St. N.W. NA. 7835

REAL BARGAINS

Phone POTOMAC 6678

PEOPLES DRUG STORES

"ALL OVER TOWN"—the better to serve you!

POPULAR CIGARETTES

Pack of 20 13c 2 for 25c
Carton of 200, $1.20

Choice of Old Gold, Camel, Chesterfield, Raleigh or Lucky Strike.

NOW OPEN
The New, Modern PEOPLES DRUG STORE
at the corner of Wisconsin Avenue and Albemarle Street N.W.
(4515 Wisconsin Avenue)

Prices may vary slightly in Maryland and Virginia stores on a few items which are under State contract laws.

Pack of 10
EVER-READY RAZOR BLADES
48c

25c
ESPO TABS LAXATIVE TABLETS
21c

35c
LIFEBUOY SHAVING CREAM
25c

5c
M. P. C. TOILET TISSUE
4 for 19c

$1.00
DR. MILES NERVINE TABLETS
89c

60c
ANGELUS ROUGE INCARNAT
49c

15c
AMAMI HENNA SHAMPOO
11c

50c
KOLYNOS TOOTH PASTE
35c

50c
HIND'S LOTION
With Dispenser 39c

To
LUX TOILET SOAP
3 for 20c

$1.00
LYSOL Disinfectant
Pint 83c

REMEDIES

75c Bayer Aspirin Bottle of 100... 59c
$1.25 Eskay Neuro-Phosphates... 95c
$1.25 Graham Emulsion with Cod Liver Oil... 98c
50c Groves Emulsified Nose Drops... 39c
35c Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets... 24c
60c Pertussin For Coughs... 51c
75c Squibb Liquid Petrolatum, pint... 59c
50c Vicks Vapo-rinol Nose Drops... 34c
60c Alphen Laxative Pills, Bottle of 100... 49c
50c Peppermint Antiseptic... 39c
75c Caroid and Bile Salts Tablets... 59c
75c McElroy's Eye Lotion, 8 ounces... 49c

TOILETRIES

85c Lady Esther 4-Purpose Face Cream... 69c
50c Williams Aqua-Velva Lotion... 38c
30c Spire Deodorant Powder... 23c
$1.10 Princess Pat Face Powder... 98c
50c Dr. Lyons Tooth Powder... 42c
50c Marchand Golden Hair Wash... 34c
60c Campanas Italian Balm... 49c
50c Mulsified Coconut Oil Shampoo... 35c
25c Thompsons Castile Soap, Imported... 18c
70c Vaseline Hair Tonic... 63c
35c Williams Gilder Brushless Shave... 23c
25c Squibb Baby Talcum... 21c

Dr. Dobell's ATOMIZERS
For Nose and Throat... 98c

Daily spraying of the nose and throat will help prevent colds and sore throat. And spraying reaches parts not penetrated by other methods.

Kwikway Electric Vibrators
With Three Attachments $1.19

Attachments are for scalp, facial, and body massage. Quiet, peppy motor—easy-grip handle, and rubber cord.

Kwikway Electric Heaters
13-Inch Bowl... $2.98

Polished chrome reflector bowl for maximum heat radiation. Non-tip base... heavy wire safety guard... and cord.

Pacquin's Hand Cream
Don't let water ruin your lovely hands. Pacquin's Hand Cream will counteract roughness, redness, chapping. Softens and whitens hands. Keeps cuticle soft and pliable. Non-sticky.

Medium Jar $1.00 Jar 89c
50c 89c

SPECIAL SALE!

Mammy Lou Peanut Brittle
1/2 Pound Box
9c

Crispy, golden brittle—made the old-fashioned way—with plenty of butter and crunchy peanuts.

THOMPSON'S EPHEDRINE INHALANT
$1.00 Dropper 89c

A few drops up the nose will relieve that stuffy feeling... make breathing easier! Use it right at the beginning of a cold.

Dr. Hill's NOSE DROPS
24c

Dr. Hill's CASCARA QUININE
19c

Desk Lamps

WITH ADJUSTABLE GOOSE-NECK STAND AND ASH TRAY
98c

A handsome lamp for library, student's room, or den. Throws light where needed most. Has removable glass section in the ash tray.

Protect Lovely Hands From Water...

Pacquin's Hand Cream
Don't let water ruin your lovely hands. Pacquin's Hand Cream will counteract roughness, redness, chapping. Softens and whitens hands. Keeps cuticle soft and pliable. Non-sticky.

Medium Jar $1.00 Jar 89c
50c 89c

La Lasine Antiseptic
60c Bottle... 49c $1.00 Bottle... 79c

Effective in all cases where an antiseptic is needed. It leaves the mouth feeling clean and refreshed. A product that should always be in your medicine cabinet. Antiseptic even when diluted with two parts of water.

STOP FOOT PAINS!
Soothing Relief from Tired Aching Feet and Legs

JUNG'S ARCH BRACES
Size For All Feet
Plain Elastic Braces 98c and $1.47
With Metatarsal Cushion $1.96 and $2.45

ASK FOR FREE BOOKLET
"The Causes of Foot Pains and How to Correct Them."

PEPSODENT Tooth Powder
25c Tin... 19c 50c Tin... 39c

WILDROOT Hair Tonic
New, Triple-Action
WITH OIL
Removes dandruff, restores hair, helps check premature baldness. Won't dry hair.

8 Ounces 49c 16 Ounces 79c

PEBECO TOOTH PASTE
39c

A new offensive starting, and the proof of it is that the civilian population is marked for destruction! If the correspondent who wrote that line had purposed so to do, he could not have phrased a more ironic commentary on the nature of modern war.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

Bolos, Fascists And Nazis.

CELEBRATING the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the Soviet Republic, Alex Troianovsky, the Bolso ambassador to our midst, horned a note of wholesome indignation when he declared that aggressive countries have been employing various degraded elements of the Russian population to conspire against the national form of government. This complaint comes with equal wrath and frequency from both Bolshhevik and Nazi and in just about the same words, and the remedy is the same in both countries. It is a sad state of affairs, to be sure, and Americans can easily understand the annoyance of both, but American sympathy will be meager in view of the fact that Bolshhevik and Nazi not only conspire against each other but also have energy to spare for conspiracies against this country's form of government. The Bolos foment riot in labor troubles ashore and hell ashore in the merchant marine in a directed effort to cripple and discredit the United States at sea. And the Nazis conspire through their mock-American bands to protect us from Communism, though the disease and the cure are one and the same in the practical effect on the victim.

IT IS INTERESTING, though not at all strange, to hear a Bolso sound off against conspirators, against anyone's form of government, considering the conduct of the Communists among us who get their inspiration from Moscow. It is interesting for the supreme gall of the Bolshhevik mentality, which was the model adopted first by the Italians and then by the Germans as a defense against communism. Now that they are alike, the Bolos on one side and the Nazis and Fascists on the other, the Russians are embarrassed to find that their idea didn't work and the other two are equally humiliated to discover that in their fury to put down the Russian type of terror they forgot themselves and rolled in the same gutter with the enemy, where all are now at home.

The Soviets, in the words of the angriest Communist of them all, Leon Trotsky, whose judgment should count for much, have failed to preserve their communism and have become merely a nationalistic regime of terror. Not that he, of all people, should object to a few thousand executions more or less for Former-Comrade Trotsky was no green hand at throwing dissenters into cellars and dropping rocks on them when he was boss. However, he does seriously complain of the formal abandonment of the export trade in communism which has left the world revolution in the United States in the hands of independent operators, who deal in a spurious article the same as Nazism.

But while communism in Russia has turned toward fascism as Trotsky says and as Andre Gide and other disillusioned Communists sadly admit, the two big Fascist countries have irresistibly been forced to make concessions also. Each system has borrowed from the other to make both practically alike, and the present basis for their hatred is not a difference of government but chagrin.

"THE SMALLEST PROTEST, the least criticism," says Andre Gide, his moral pistol pointed at the U. S. S. R., is liable to bring the severest penalties and, in fact, is immediately stifled. And I doubt whether any other country in the world, even Hitler's Germany, is thought to be less free, is "more bowed down, more fearful, terrorized more vassalized." And he says too, that the spirit which today is held to be counter-revolutionary is that same revolutionary spirit which 20 years ago, on the day that Comrade Trotsky celebrated in New York, broke down the rule of the Czars. So Russia would appear to have joined Nazi Germany in putting down true Marxism, and that being so, it is downright pathetic that they can't have a meeting of the minds to see that they are not enemies but brothers in the same lodge, though using slightly different high-signs, and for the love of Mike quit their incessant bellowing and give the rest of the world an hour's peace.

Copyright, 1937, for The Washington Post.

The Once Over

H. I. Phillips

Lo, the Poor Autoist!

("National Safety Council Blames Pedestrians for Most Auto Accidents"—Headline.)

It's tough to own a motor car
And trying on the nerves—
Because so many folks afoot
Come tearing 'round the curves!

The strain upon the autoist
Is growing all the time—
The way pedestrians behave
Is nothing but a crime!

A driver takes his big sedan
And tries to get some rest—
And relaxation, but he can't—
The walker's such a pest!

He steps into his speedy six
And shows the greatest care—
But, ah, alai pedestrians
Assail him everywhere!

He thinks, "I'll take a peaceful ride"—
But can't get very far,
Because so many hikers crash
Right up against his car!

He says, "Come, ma, we'll take a spin!"
But mother, in a huff,
Chirps, "Not for mine! Pedestrians
Are getting too darned tough!"

He tries to pack the kiddies in
But they just scream and fuss—
They know that people when afoot
Are very dangerous!

He polishes his streamlined car
To keep its glow intense—
But walkers smash it fore and aft
And fill it full of dents.

He makes repairs at great expense,
But mutters, "What's the use?"
He knows again pedestrians
Will knock the fenders loose!

He hardly dares to drive at all,
As you will understand,
For fear some man will cross a street
And not hold out his hand!

His headlights are a battered mess,
Both bumpers are a jar—
It's awful how pedestrians
Will wreck a motor car!

The paint is off in many spots—
All fenders are askew—
Folks walking are so careless, what Can auto owners do?

No Clashing.

Barton for President Clubs are being organized already. There was at first some question whether being President would interfere with advertising, but modern events have shown pretty clearly that they are essentially handmaidens.

Jim Curley, defeated a year ago for the Senate by Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., and once defeated for Mayor of Boston by Maurice J. Tobin, a 36-year-old school committeeman, admits he is pretty depressed. "I will decide what I am going to do when I have had a rest and my vision clears," he says. Your vision may be okay, Jim, but you've been facing in the wrong direction.

Copyright, 1937, for The Washington Post.

Manila Letter

Correspondent Sees Signs That President Quezon Is Adapting Labor Technique Of Mussolini In Promoting Independence.

By Vicente Albano Pacis.
Special Correspondence of The Post.

Manila.

THREE RECENT statements, two by President Quezon and the third by one of his closest advisers, may eventually constitute the Philippines' Book of Revelations. Even now they may give one a fair idea whether the islands are bound.

Racel Alunan, Philippine sugar administrator and a Quezon wheelhorse, declared in a Rotary Club speech recently in an attempt to explain President Quezon's attacks against the sugar industry for the low wages it pays its labor: "My own personal observations bolstered up by opinions I have heard during my recent trip to Italy and Germany have convinced me that if Mussolini and Hitler had not wrested the direction of the radical labor movement from the hands of labor leaders and made it a cardinal policy of the State, both countries would now be in the same predicament as Russia and Spain."

Quezon's message to the National Assembly delivered personally last month, concluded: "We may not go down in history as statesmen. But let us strive to deserve the title of friends of the poor—the highest title to which any man can aspire."

Quezon Told Students Of Current Revolution.

THE PRESIDENT, in receiving a resolution of protest against a recent criticism against the judiciary, based on a labor case still pending in the Supreme Court, adopted at a students' mass meeting in one of Manila's parks, told the students' committee: "There is a revolution in the Philippines and I am leading it myself."

Quezon, to be sure, has always been a radical. But he has been a conservative radical. While he used to state that a government like hell by Filipinos would be better than a government like heaven by Americans, he has been level-headed and astute enough to have successfully led the independence movement for 30 years. But now that he is President, he believes that Philippine independence should come much faster than the independence law provides so that he may have more elbow room to carry out his program which he himself has called "social justice."

It is probably significant that his October message led off with the proposition, together with a series of arguments, that the Philippines should obtain complete independence not later than July 4, 1939. This subject took half of the message which also announced that after a joint preparatory committee on Philippine Affairs, headed by Ambassador MacMurray, has reported, Quezon himself will reiterate his petition to President Roosevelt for earlier independence, "unless the National Assembly, during its present session, should express a contrary opinion." But the Assembly will never express a contrary opinion, for as a result of the fusion of the Quezon and Osmena parties into the Nationalist Party, and the love of Mike quit their incessant bellowing and give the rest of the world an hour's peace.

The National Assembly as it is constituted today is the Philippines' first totalitarian institution.

President Seen Wooing Labor And Tenant Groups.

WHILE President Quezon has been clamoring for earlier independence, he has been wooing the tenant and laboring classes, utilizing all available means, including executive orders, public pronouncements, police forces and propaganda. He has formulated this premise from which he is waging his campaign of social justice: "The rich and the middle-class Filipinos have hogged all the material benefits that have accrued to the Philippines under America while 'the men and women who till the soil or work in the factories are hardly better off now than they were during the Spanish regime.'"

He has recommended to the Assembly a series of measures primarily intended for the common people's relief: the money to come from the 100,000,000 pesos refund from the United States Treasury. Among these are rural schools and roads, artisan wells, purchase of big landed estates for re-sale at cost to the tenants, free dispensary and medical service, and others. At the same time, he is making full use of executive orders, his propaganda office, and his press conferences to boost wages and to hasten the payment of back wages and compensations to labor. In fact, a typical newspaper headline for his message to the Assembly read, "Quezon Moves to End Labor Discontent."

Howard to Hear Jones.

"Some Great Adventures of Life" will be the topic of Dr. Rufus M. Jones, of Haverford College, before the twenty-first annual convocation of Howard University School of Religion today, at 8:30 a. m., in Sojourner Truth Hall.

Off the Record

By Ed Reed

"They want both jobs done for the price of one."

Turn to the sports page today for "Time Out," the humorous side of sports, an exclusive feature of the Daily Post.

Counter-Attack

By Barnet Nover

The Fascist States Close Ranks.

THE GERMAN-JAPANESE Treaty, pledging those two nations to joint action against communism, was signed November 25, 1936.

It became a party to this agreement November 6, 1937.

Two questions arise: In the first place, why did Italy, already Germany's partner a year ago and certainly no less hostile to communism than it is now, hesitate as long as she did before joining the German-Japanese combination? And, secondly, what was behind Italy's change of front?

Full answers to these questions await the publication of data now locked up in the archives or known only to the tight-lipped dictators. Nonetheless it is possible by examining the sequence of recent events to lift at least a corner of the veil of mystery surrounding last week's three-power agreement.

SOME WEEKS AGO Mussolini made his spectacular visit to Germany. Ostensibly the exchange of courtesies that then took place was one between equals working together in the closest harmony. Actually the Duce at that particular moment was in the role of suppliant.

The pressure from Paris and London upon Mussolini to withdraw troops from Spain had become insistent. In view of what happened at Nyon it was no longer possible for the Italian dictator to take for granted that the democratic powers would retreat on the withdrawal of their troops.

He frequently retreated in the past. Mussolini thus found it necessary to assure himself of continued German support.

Presumably what quid pro quo Mussolini gave Hitler is not quite clear—possibly a free hand in Czechoslovakia, a large measure of influence in Austria, support for the German colonial demands, etc. But in addition to any or all of these concessions, however, he also became committed more than ever to Germany's anti-Communist program.

ASSURED OF GERMAN support, Mussolini was in a position to reject the Anglo-French suggestion for a three-power parity on the question of withdrawing foreign volunteers from Spain. And at the London non-intervention committee, to which Great Britain and France weakly agreed to turn that problem over, Germany and Italy worked hand in hand to practically exclude the committee.

There was but one break in this harmony. Quite suddenly, one day, Joachim von Ribbentrop, by insisting that the committee could only act if it were unanimous, prevented the diplomatic isolation of Russia at London.

There has been considerable speculation as to the purpose and intent of Ribbentrop's strange move. But, possibly, it was intended to prove to Mussolini that there was more than one string to Hitler's bow, that a Berlin-Moscow axis is not an impossible alternative to the Berlin-Rome one.

In the meantime important developments were taking place elsewhere. It would seem that President Roosevelt at Chicago issued a clarion call for peace in which certain activities of the Fascist nations and Japan were roundly denounced. The speech, which aroused resentment in Berlin, Rome and Tokyo, was hailed with enthusiasm by the free people of the world. It suggested to them the possibility that all the great democracies, including the most powerful one of all—the United States—might now agree to co-operate for peace.

THAT BELIEF may prove to be premature. Nonetheless the possibility was one which the totalitarian states could hardly afford to ignore. In the United States morbid fears have made a great number of our people the obvious prey of the demagogues.

Certainly co-operative action by the United States, Great Britain, France and all the other nations that normally follow their lead, would effectively prevent the spread of the fascist movement.

Now IT IS a truism in diplomacy that alliances are always directed against someone. Czechoslovakia, Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia are allies because they both regard Hungary as a potential menace to their security. And so on.

It is evident, however, that the German-Japanese-Italian alliance directed? The text of their treaty stipulates that it is the Communist Internationale. But you don't have to ally yourself against a corpse. That is why nobody takes the text of the agreement seriously.

It is Russia then the object of the German-Italian-Japanese maneuver? So far as Germany and Japan are concerned, their common antagonism to the Soviet Union is evident, so evident in fact that it need not be sanctified by any treaty. But Italy's interest in any possible partition of the U. S. S. R. is negative, to say the least.

The antagonist of the anti-Communist accord is the status quo which the democracies would like to see maintained. But since a direct alliance against the democracies would certainly increase the measure of co-operation between them, Germany, Italy and Japan have chosen the more roundabout method of attacking the peace-loving states indirectly. In every democratic nation there are elements so hostile to communism, so fearful of the threat of communism, that they will go to any lengths to support the anti-Communist treaty for what it seems to stand for while ignoring its real purpose. And there are governments in Europe and possibly in Latin America which may feel the same way.

The Rome agreement was about that, therefore, is intended to serve as a new apple of discord among peace-loving nations. But the agreement has an even more sinister side. For the three aggressor states are now placed by the supplementary protocol of the original agreement to "take most strict measures against those who, at home or abroad, directly or indirectly, are active in the service of the Communist International, or who are helping it in its disruptive work." What happened in Spain may thus be repeated elsewhere.

Now here is a quarto coming from Chicago that I recommend to all and sundry, whatever may be the meaning of that phrase.

It is called "Bertram and His Fabulous Animals." The author is Paul T. Gilbert, a leading Chicago journalist. The pictures are by Minnie H. Roussett and Barbara Maynard, and the publishers are Rand, McNally & Co. of Chicago.

I am well acquainted with Mr. Gilbert's previous writings. He is a born humorist and his art has mellowed and ripened with years. Furthermore, he loves words and animals, and so far as a man can, he understands both.

The pictures in this book are where they ought to be, in the body of the text; so that the reader has the words and music (so to speak) together. Anyhow, the authors score every time. I should call the attention of my readers to it. It will help them to select something for Christmas and will add pleasure to the life of the young; and I believe will be read eagerly by the aged.

Children's books are not in my line; but when a really good one comes along, with joyful, heart-rending, laughable narrative and plentiful illustrations, I am inclined to applaud the author.

Now here is a quarto coming from Chicago that I recommend to all and sundry, whatever may be the meaning of that phrase.

It is called "Bertram and His Fabulous Animals." The author is Paul T. Gilbert, a leading Chicago journalist. The pictures are by Minnie H. Roussett and Barbara Maynard, and the publishers are Rand, McNally & Co. of Chicago.

I am well acquainted with Mr. Gilbert's previous writings. He is a born humorist and his art has mellowed and ripened with years. Furthermore, he loves words and animals, and so far as a man can, he understands both.

Copyright, 1937, for The Washington Post.

Tom McCarthy

Emergency Room At 3 A. M.

HE DIDN'T SAY anything, at first. He just lay there with one knee drawn up toward his body. His eyes were closed and he gave no sign of the pain in him. There was only a weariness and a pallor . . . and the crimson gash across his wrist.

"Why did you do it, pal?" the policeman asked. He didn't answer. He just lay there under the sheet, with his slashed wrist on the white stand beside the operating table.

Lights reflected from the walls gave an even greater pallor to his bloodless face. And his close-shaven beard was dark against his jaw.

He was a young man with a strong build and the lips of a sulky child. Nobody said anything for a while and there was only the hum of the ventilating fan in the next room. The doctor put the last clamp on a severed artery. Out in the waiting room the man who had brought him in was telling the story.

"I'm sleeping, you understand," said the man who had brought him in. "I'm just a boarder there. Well, a few minutes ago his wife knocked at the door and told me to get up."

"He's cut himself," she said. And so I got my car, while she wrapped his arm in a towel. I brought him down here. Now, he won't tell the doctors how it happened. But on the way down he said, 'I'm sorry she got to me before I was through.'"

I looked at the card on the desk and it identified the man in the accident room as a waiter in one of the city's hotels. He had a Latin cast to his countenance but the name on the card was definitely Anglo-Saxon. And the man who brought him in said that he was a native of North Carolina.

When I went back into the accident room the sheet had fallen away from the young man on the table. He was wearing an orange dressing gown and black pajamas.

"ALL RIGHT, PAL, tell us how it happened," the policeman said. "You tell and cut yourself," the policeman said. "That's right," said the young man. "I stumbled over a kiddie-car in the dark. I had been working on a kiddie-car. It belongs to my kid." The young man's voice was low, but it was keyed to no emotion.

He was working on a kiddie-car . . . with a razor," the policeman said unbelievably. But the dark-haired young man didn't catch the sarcasm in the tone.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

Two fire companies, civilian volunteers and 100 youths from a CCC company at Fort Belvoir last night subdued a forest fire in southern Fairfax County after it ravaged 200 acres of timber. They won a brief, desperate battle to save several houses in the burned area.

"That's right," said the young man. "I was working on it with a razor and I fell."

"What're you givin' me?" the policeman asked. "You told the nurse out there you cut your wrist on the broken top of a coffee percolator. Which was it, now? Make up your mind. Coffee pot or razor?"

The young man on the table didn't say anything. His sulky lips formed in a pout and he closed his eyes. "This'll hurt a little," the interne said. He slid a needle into the edge of the crimson gash. The face of the man on the table grew tight with pain. His lips creased in a thin line against his strong white teeth. His slippers foot kicked the sheet at the end of the table. All the time his throat kept working convulsively. It rattled with the pain.

When that part of it was over, he turned toward the doctor. His eyes had reddened and they brimmed with tears.

"Doc, how about giving me a smoke?" "It's against the rules," the doctor told him. The young man turned away again. His lips pursed like the lips of a sulky child. And he stared at the ceiling. A half-hour before he had wanted to commit suicide. Now he was angry because he couldn't smoke.

When the two internes started to rejoin the severed tendons, the young man on the table turned on his side and watched.

His eyes fastened on the crimson gash across his wrist. And he watched in unblinking fascination while the doctors closed the wound which he had opened to let life out.

The doctor looked very young, but there was an ancient sternness about him as he bent over the wrist. He dabbed it with antiseptics.

"Was the razor clean," he said, without looking up. "Yes," the man on the table said. And then he asked anxiously, "Doc, will I be able to use my hand again?"

WHEN I WENT back to the waiting room, I found the wife of the man on the table. She hadn't seen him yet. She didn't look worried. She was talking to the boarder.

"What happened?" I asked her. "Oh, we had an argument," she said. She didn't sound very concerned. She was a good-looking young woman with a trim hardness about her.

"Did he ever threaten to do this, before?" "Oh, sure," she said, "but I didn't think he ever would. He's awfully high-tempered. Too high-strung," she laughed.

"Well, if he's that high tempered, I should think you'd be afraid to live with him," I said. "Oh, no," she said. "He's always saying things he doesn't mean."

"And doing things he doesn't mean?" She shrugged her shoulders and a strange look flashed across her face, and her voice had a tight, brittle sound as she said: "He'll live."

Farley Attacks G.O.P. 'Fuming At Fly Specks' 'Intelligent Criticism' Held Necessary if Minority Is to Succeed.

Postmaster General James A. Farley last night criticized Republican party leaders for "fuming at fly specks on the fabric of the Administration of Public Affairs," and challenged them to create a strong minority party with a definite program.

Speaking over a National Broadcasting Co. hook-up, Farley said that intelligent criticism must be the province of a minority party if it is to amount to anything.

"Mere calling of names or explosive generalities, conveying merely the thought that it could do better with the job of Government than the other fellow who has the responsibility, can help neither the Republican Party nor the United States at large," he said.

Farley rebuked "quite a number of important citizens, who, for the moment, seem to feel that something terrible is happening to them."

"I wonder in which country these gentlemen would be more contented," he asked, pointing out industry's experience under dictatorships abroad. "I wonder, furthermore, how these people figure that in a world almost wholly disturbed they should somehow be permitted here to proceed in the manner of the old regime, where they enjoyed a dual immunity from the economic problems of the people generally."

Farley said he referred to men who "think they are good citizens, who regard themselves as the bulwark of national prosperity." He added that it is difficult to "get them to realize that they are in the happiest country in the world" and that "the threat of socialism, communism or dictatorship hangs over them."

The Postmaster General welcomed into politics "those gentlemen who have a mistaken idea that the sole purpose of government should be to see to it that they make all the money regardless of the prosperity of customers, consumers or employees."

Camalier & Buckley

Manicuring and Make-Up Case

Made of Lizard Grain Cowhide and completely fitted with the finest manicuring accessories made in America. Has mirror and large compartment for cosmetic jars or overnight necessities.

$35

Sole Agents OSHKOSH Luggage

Camalier & Buckley

2 Doors Above the Mayflower 1141 Connecticut Avenue

Expert Repairing

"I have never played on a piano of lovelier tone and such perfect responsiveness!"

We have heard this time and again from patrons who have recently purchased—and also from professional musicians. Of course, the piano is a

STEINWAY $885

This new creation is only 5 ft. 1 in. long—and of Steinway Quality Throughout. It marks an epoch in perfect mass grand piano construction. Come in this week—see, hear, and play it.

Preparable on Liberal Terms.

DRUOP'S 1300 G STREET

Student Pilot Is Killed in Crash; Latvian Legation to Move

The Post is the only daily morning paper in Washington with A. P. WIREPHOTO Service.

Underwood & Underwood.

Workmen Spruce Up Building To Be Occupied By Latvian Legation

Present offices at 2448 Massachusetts avenue will be moved to the structure at 1715 Twenty-second street as soon as contractors have finished painting. The building is much larger than the one occupied at present.

Associated Press Wirephoto.

Wreckage of Biplane That Went Into Spin at 2,000 Feet

Police surveying the plane which crashed at Los Angeles, killing Lester George Harnack, 39, a student pilot, and injuring Charles W. Birney, 21, his companion and co-owner of the craft. The plane went into a tailspin and started falling at 2,000 feet, but was partially righted when about 200 feet from the ground. A large throng witnessed the accident.

Associated Press Wirephoto.

Ernest Simpson At Horse Show

The former husband of the Duchess of Windsor was among spectators who viewed events at Madison Square Garden. He is seen with Mrs. James C. Ayers.

U. S. Navy Photo.

The Navy's Fastest

This new scout-bomber undergoing tests marks the latest development of the monoplane for use aboard the aircraft carriers of the United States Fleet.

Dental Hygiene Examinations Start in the Public Schools

Post Staff Photos.

School Children Join the Good Teeth Club

Miss Vivian Frederick, dental hygienist for the District Health Department, tells Ezra Henkin, pupil at Park View School, to "open wide." At right, Norma McDuffie proudly displays button which proclaims her a candidate for the club. At left, Selma Albert gets her milk and crackers at the end of the examination.

She DI know my grad imme intenc alert matur althou alread
TH brill since thing and quite
My
He had stincti contin to wor him?
been secret hurting that I
You and fri and rig another tent der it for it wish to
I shall I hope to upon answer.
T
DEAR true, as recipro
the day mentio tentio without self-cent attachme
In my mistake partners (to para that you work w knowing have him
the ques
I shot duly co showing eration to "part hurt (h tolerabl friends secret again." that one turn ag one's col ous as to going r measure his abili bitter, v lously st face of unfair observat possesse attains merited growth ness and Show m back again riching ex cause of
and I will knows in peraments at for, th of maturi sentially helped to hypersens cherished contribution this man's be to dis with the c expects to forward a situation face with he would to pay for is at all d worthy of him until point and he is willi means you your time the presen elaboration
Child
DEAR M year-old and most lately beco ing and re pletely bab him. My m during my volved an pital, and to handling in handling son is quite
I believe where he other child his play would wor you know kindergarte District sch as young think that thrust ou upon a kin never had training, b from the h getting wor believe the vide a new store his fo operative done we wo the situatio be deeply Love
DEAR B years of ag well in kin the District

46.

Sports Shop—Second Floor

Kann's

From Downtown to the East to the West

Soviet Embassy Fete Celebrates Revolution

Hundreds Attend Reception on Anniversary of Socialist Upheaval; D. A. R. Official Among Guests.

By Hope Ridings Miller,
The Post Staff Writer

Even the national president of the D. A. R., Mrs. William A. Becker, attended the reception yesterday at the Soviet Embassy "to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the great October Socialist Revolution."

In fact, anyone who wasn't there was scarcely missed in a crowd that assumed enormous proportions an hour after the first guest walked up the crimson-carpeted stairs to the marble and gold salons on the second floor. From official, diplomatic and residential circles came hundreds of men and women who went through the regular routine of greeting the host and hostess, sampling their caviar and cocktails, gathering into small groups here and there for a bit of talk, and then taking their leave.

The Soviet Ambassador and Mme. Trotsky, who received in the ballroom, spent a good part of their time answering questions as to why the October revolution was being celebrated in November, and whether such would be the case from now on. Patient and smiling the Ambassador explained that the Gregorian calendar was in use at the time of the Socialist uprising on October 25, and that there is a difference of 13 days between that and the calendar now in effect. "So, you see, the anniversary now falls in November."

Wearing a becoming frock fashioned with a black velvet skirt and a short brocade jacket, Mme. Trotsky was busy for well over two hours, not only greeting guests, but chatting with some of her friends who haven't had a chance to talk with her since she and the Ambassador returned from their recent trip to Moscow.

Sir Ronald Lindsay
Glipped in Crowd

Among the early arrivals was the British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, who didn't linger long enough to be queried about the postponed trip of the Windsors. Others who were there during the first half of the party were Mrs. Harry H. Woodring, wife of the Secretary of War, whose natty black hat, minus a veil, matched her semitailored black frock; the Minister of Austria and Mme. Trochik, Mrs. William S. Borah, who brought with her Mrs. James Mills, wife of the widely known California who has the largest fruit ranch in the world; Mrs. Homer S. Cummings, wife of the Attorney General; Lady Marler, wife of the Canadian Minister; the Chinese Ambassador, Dr. C. T. Wang, and his daughter, the Misses Yoh E. and An-Fu Wang.

Coming along a bit later were Mrs. Henry Wilder Keyes, editor of the D. A. R. Magazine, and the national D. A. R. president, Mrs. Becker, a stately figure in a stunning black ensemble set off with orchids on the shoulder. Mrs. Donald Richberg arrived with her mother, Mrs. Herbert Weed, and the two were glipped chatting with Mrs. James J. O'Hara and the latter's house guest, Mrs. Thomas H. Blodgett, of Great Barrington, Mass.

Mrs. Joutet Shouse was another who had with her a house guest, Mrs. Chase Going Woodhouse, of Boston. Mrs. Louis Caldwell, in an attractive black outfit set off with a silver fox necklace, was there, and Mrs. Crosby Miller, Baroness von Below, Gen. and Mrs. Dion Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Preston McGowan, the latter of whom will give a luncheon today at which Mme. Trotsky will be the ranking guest.

Emil Ludwig Is Popular Guest

An especially popular guest was Emil Ludwig, who is back in Washington to gather more material for his biography of President Roosevelt. Also present were the Stamese Minister and Mme. Rajamaitri, she in a stunning ensemble fashioned with a beige pleated jacket over a black skirt and a small black hat with a floating veil; Hans Kindler, director of the National Symphony Orchestra; the Latvian Minister and Mme. Bilmanis; Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, Director of the United States Mint; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Britten, the Ambassador of Ecuador, Colon Eloy Alfaro, talking with Senora J. J. Vallarino; Representative and Mrs. Sol Bloom and their daughter, Miss Vera Bloom, and Miss Mary Anderson, head of the Women's Bureau, United States Department of Labor.

Approximately half way through the reception someone got the word around that refreshments were also being served on the third floor, and there was a general exodus from the crowded dining room on the second. From the third floor to the fourth went a few of the guests to find out if there was also a buffet there. Until almost 7 o'clock—the final hour for the reception—guests were still arriving and traffic was still virtually tied up in front of the Embassy. Among those I saw during the latter half were the Danish Minister, Otto Wadstedt; the First Secretary of the Czechoslovakian Legation, Otakar Kabelec, and his bride; Judge and Mrs. Clarence Norton Goodwin; the Naval Attache of the Italian Embassy, Capt. Don Umberto Cugia; W. F. Bigelow, magazine editor; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hurja; the Greek Minister, Demetrios Sicilianos; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hogue; the Norwegian Minister, Wilhelm Munthe de Morgenstjerne; Mrs. Louis Schapiro and her son, Mark Schapiro, and Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Hewins.

H. S. Latham Here;
Guest of Women's Press Club Today

H. S. Latham, vice president of the Macmillan Publishing Co., will be guest of honor at the luncheon of the Women's National Press Club today at the Willard. Arriving in Washington yesterday, Mr. Latham is staying at the Raleigh, where he is conferring with local authors.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Anderson, of Astoria, Calif., are spending a few days at the Shoreham while in Washington to see Mrs. Anderson's daughter, Miss June Scott, a student at National Park Seminary.

Plans 'Housewarming' by December First

Mrs. William Potter Arnold and her little daughter, Julie, who will move into a brand-new house on Dexter street after the first of December. While waiting for the house to be completed, they are visiting with Mrs. Arnold's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Matheson at Wellington on the Mount Vernon highway. Mrs. Arnold is the former Julie Matheson.

Dorothy Candee Becomes Bride Of F. F. Mack

Couple Married in First Congregational Church at Norwalk, Conn.

An out-of-town wedding of interest to Washington was that yesterday of Miss Dorothy Candee, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Nehemiah Candee, to Frederick Fuller Mack, son of Mrs. Frank E. Mack, of Washington. The ceremony took place in the First Congregational Church in Norwalk, Conn., the Rev. John Walter Houck, brother-in-law of the bride, officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white brocade gown with a train and a tulle veil attached to a pearl trimmed cap. She carried white roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. John Walter Houck served as her sister's matron of honor and only attendant. She wore a peacock blue velvet gown and carried yellow roses.

Howard G. Nichols, of Washington, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were William F. Feyrer, John Kellam, Dr. Thomas G. Hawley and Adam Kirk.

The bride attended Ashley Hall in Charleston, S. C., and was graduated from Smith College in 1932. Mr. Mack is a graduate of Cornell University and George Washington University, and is engaged in the practice of patent law in Norwalk.

Mrs. McLaughlin,
Of Chicago, Goes To New York Today

Mrs. George McLaughlin, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Frank Letts, will leave today for New York and will attend the Yale-Princeton game Saturday before returning to her home in Chicago.

Mrs. McLaughlin is a sister of Senora de Epil S. de la Cruz, Argentine Ambassador, who entertained at a luncheon for her during her stay. Others who gave parties for her were Mrs. Letts and Mrs. Matthew Hanna.

Mrs. James H. Hughes, wife of Lieut. Comdr. James J. Hughes, of the Asiatic Fleet, recently returned to Washington and is now visiting her parents, Col. and Mrs. Wisley Brown, at their residence on Wyoming avenue.

The former Miss Katherine Brown, Mrs. Hughes made her debut here and has an extensive circle of friends in the Capital.

About the Town

With Dudley Harmon

THE COMMERCIAL SECRETARY of the British Embassy and Mrs. Henry Frank Heywood entertained at a cocktail party yesterday afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. William Lacy. While we are sure our readers never forget a word we say in this column, we nevertheless remind them that Mrs. Lacy is English and Mr. Lacy is American.

Mrs. Lacy recently returned here from his home town, Denver, to take a job with the New Deal. There were many new faces at yesterday's party, most of them British. The embassy staff is in quite a state of flux these days, with so many being transferred right and left and others coming to take their places. Among those recently arrived are the Air Attaches and Mrs. Pils, who were present yesterday, as were the new Assistant Naval Attache and Mrs. Colby. Then there was W. N. Hogg, the Third Secretary, who is to depart in a few months for his new post in Lisbon. Mr. Hogg was feeling rather self-conscious at being at a party, as he was recently written up in a society column as a recluse who devoted his spare time to spiritualism. He strenuously denies both counts.

Miss Irene Boyle was present from the embassy, very chic in a black of redingote effect, with a silver fox fur and a small black hat. Mrs. Bradley, wife of the Naval Attache of the embassy, Benjamin Plunket, and the Commercial Counselor and Mrs. H. O. Chalkley, and Michael Vyvyan were others from the British Embassy present. Ralph Webster, Secretary of the South African Legation, was busy introducing the newest member of his staff, who has just arrived in Washington from his previous post, Berlin, and is staying with friends on R street prior to taking an apartment.

Sir Willmott and Lady Lewis contributed to the British atmosphere—he is Washington correspondent for the London Times.

Frau Scholz, wife of the First Secretary of the German Embassy, looked lovely in a Paris hat and a brown wool frock topped off with a fox fur piece. Others we saw were Mrs. Matthew Hanna, in black with a floating veil; the Counselor of The Netherlands Legation and his charming wife, Countess van Rechteren; Miss Vera Bloom, Miss Lee Washington, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Mark Bristol, Mrs. Edward Finkenslaed, Roger Gaucheron, the First Secretary of the French Embassy, who is on to depart for his new post as Consul General in San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. William McCracken, the latter in a gray knitted suit and matching hat; Nancy Mann, whose black hat had a striking orange feather; Witold Wankowicz, Counselor of the Polish Embassy, and Anthony de Balsey of the Hungarian Legation who has just returned from a trip to the West Coast.

MRS. JAMES M. BECK will be joined here shortly by her son and daughter, James M. Beck and Miss Nina Beck, who docked in New York yesterday on the Normandie. The latter, who has spent most of her life abroad, will be with her mother for several months and her brother, who resides in New York, will join his family for week-ends. Mrs. Beck's other daughter is Mrs. Snowden Fehnestock. Also on the Normandie yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. C. Mathews Dick. Mrs. Dick is not expected to open her home here until November 25 or 26.

BLUEPRINTS for Mrs. Ralph Worthington's new home in Virginia, near Mount Vernon, have been completed under the aegis of Architect J. H. de Sibour, Viscount de Sibour, one of the town's best organizers of parties and week-end trips to football games, is doing neither at the moment. The series of winter dances which he got together last winter at the P Street Club have been definitely abandoned until spring, when they will be resumed. Nor is he rounding up his biannual excursion to the Yale-Princeton game on Saturday, as this year the event takes place in New Haven, instead of in the more convenient Princeton.

Snyders to Reside
In D. C. After Trip

Senator and Mrs. Bridges

Guests at Wedding.
Dr. and Mrs. Luther H. Snyder, who were married at 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon, will reside here on their return from a wedding trip. The bride is the former Miss Gladys Gustafson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Gustafson, of this city, and Dr. Snyder is the son of the Rev. Henry W. Snyder, of Washington.

His father officiated at the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Theodore Forsberg. The marriage took place at the Concordia Lutheran Church and was followed by a reception for members of the bridal party.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin, with a wide skirt and a long tulle veil attached to a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley, and was given in marriage by her brother, Harry L. Gustafson, of Worcester, Mass.

Mrs. John Withrow, of Washington, was matron of honor and bridesmaids were the Misses Hope and Virginia Rosell, of Concord, N. H.; William U. Snyder served as his brother's best man and the ushers were another brother, Henry W. Snyder, Jr., and A. Conrad Gustafson, of Washington. Among the guests at the wedding were Senator and Mrs. H. H. Styles Bridges; Miss Agnes I. Snyder, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lavelle, of Rutland, Vt.; and Mr. and Mrs. John Rudin, of Proctor, Vt.

Ball of Nations Set for Jan. 7

Proceeds From American U. Project to Bring Foreign Students Here.

The second annual Ball of the Nations will be held at the Mayflower Hotel on Friday evening, January 7, under the auspices of the Hall of Nations committee of American University.

Mrs. Henry L. Stimson, chairman of the advisory committee, members of the Diplomatic Corps and residential society are showing the same interest in the ball this year as they did last year, when Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, United States Minister to Norway, was chairman.

There were many honorary patronesses, comprised of the wives of Ambassadors and Ministers, will have few changes, according to Dr. Elvery C. Stowell, executive secretary of the advisory committee. A chairman for the ball is yet to be named, but organization plans are being made. Twelve students from foreign nations are now studying at the university on fellowships as a result of the ball a year ago. Eventually it is hoped to have fellows from every nation represented on the list of countries interested in the Hall of Nations, a graduate unit of American University.

Since last year Dr. Stowell and a group of interested friends have been working toward this end, and to date 21 boxes already have been taken for the forthcoming ball.

Flier to Marry Miss Dora Brett

Gen. and Mrs. G. H. Brett, of Ancon Field, Canal Zone, have announced engagement of their daughter, Miss Dora Deval Brett, to Lieut. Bernard A. Schriever, air reserve. The wedding will take place this winter.

The bride-elect is a granddaughter of Mrs. Carroll A. Deval and the late Gen. Deval, of California. She and her parents have been living in Washington. Mr. Schriever is a graduate of Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College and is now a pilot for the Northwestern Airlines. After their marriage the couple will live in Seattle, Wash.

Dr. and Mrs. George F. Bowerman were guests of honor at a tea given Sunday afternoon in the palm room of the Washington Hotel by members of the staff of the Public Library.

In the receiving line with Dr. and Mrs. Bowerman were Miss Clara W. Herbert, Miss Grace Finney, Miss Louise P. Latimer and Miss Emma Hance. Among guests were Theodore W. Noyes, Jr. and Mrs. Albert W. Atwood, Dr. and Mrs. Philip Sidney Smith, Mr. Lyman B. Swornsted and Miss Julia Wright Merrill, of Chicago.

Pan American Group Honors Road Explorers

Brazilian Envoy Is Guest at Lunch; Maps Shown at Union Today.

Leonidas Borges de Oliveira, Francisco Lopez de la Cruz and Mario Fava, members of the Brazilian Pan-American highway expedition, now in Washington, were guests of honor at a luncheon given yesterday at the Metropolitan Club by the Pan-American Confederation for Highway Education.

Others at the luncheon were the Ambassador of Brazil, Oswaldo Aranha, Dr. Leo S. Rowe, director general of the Pan American Union and chairman of the executive committee of the confederation; Boaz Long, United States Minister to Nicaragua; Dr. Alexander V. Dye, of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce; Dr. Pedro de Alba, assistant director of the Pan American Union; Dr. William R. Manning, of the State Department; E. W. James, S. W. White, Russell E. Singer, Charles R. Weaver, William Manger, counselor of the Pan American Union; Silvino de Silva, foreign trade adviser to the Union, and Stephen James, secretary of the confederation.

Last evening Senor Oliveira, commander of the expedition, presented a report on the results and turned over to the Pan American Union maps and plans formulated by the expedition on its nine-day trip over the route of the projected Pan-American highway from Rio de Janeiro to Washington. The maps and diagrams will be on exhibition at the Pan American Union this afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Belgium's Envoy And Wife Return Here Tomorrow

The Belgian Ambassador and Countess van der Straten-Ponthoz are in New York, where they went to attend the final events of the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden. They will return to Washington tomorrow. Earlier in the week they attended a dinner given in honor of the Belgian officers by Joseph Gevaert, Belgian commissioner general to the New York World's Fair, and Mrs. Gevaert. The affair was held in the oval room of the Ritz Carlton.

Norman Armour At the Carlton

Norman Armour, United States Minister to Canada, arrived in Washington yesterday and is stopping at the Carlton Hotel.

Mr. Armour is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Whitehouse, who motored to Washington from New York City last week.

Also at the Carlton are Comdr. Leighton Wood, of Bethlehem, Pa.; Comdr. Harvey S. Haislip, of Culver City, Calif.; and Rafael M. Angulo, president of the Press Association of Cuba, who arrived yesterday with Mrs. Angulo to spend several days.

Mrs. King to Pour At Tea for Blind

Other Social Leaders to Aid Affair at Library.

Mrs. William H. King, wife of Senator King, of Utah, will pour at a tea to be given by the board of directors of the National Library for the Blind this afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock. The tea will take place at the library, 1126 Twenty-third street northwest.

Other members of the board, in addition to Mrs. King, who is either pour or serve will be Mrs. E. K. Ballou, Mrs. Thomas P. Gore, wife of former Senator Gore; Mrs. Vincent Burke and Mrs. Ross T. McIntyre.

Mary Lou Colliflower Is Honoree at Shower

Miss Mary Lou Colliflower, whose marriage to Frank H. Grimes, Jr., will take place on Thanksgiving Eve, was the guest of honor at breakfast and a miscellaneous shower at the Shoreham Hotel on Sunday morning. The guests included: Mrs. Margaret A. Rice, Mrs. Lulu Richardson, Miss Dorothy Parkhill, Mrs. Frank Bastable, Miss Lucy Fullwiler, Mrs. W. D. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Louise Thomason, Miss Jean Krieger, Mrs. Joseph Boisseau, Miss Vera Romans, Mrs. William Smith, Miss Helen Lavelle, Miss Marion Foster, Mrs. Elva McKnew, Miss Sarah Brissenden, Miss Mary McDonnell, Miss Betty Peoples, Mrs. Margaret Hildgen, Miss Jean Lally, Mrs. Mary Watson and Miss Gertrude Colliflower.

ARNOLD GALLERIES

Antique Jewelry, Silver, Sheffield, Furniture, Mirrors, Brasses, Art Objects and Wedding Gifts.

Flowers AROUND THE CORNER OF AROUND THE WORLD...
GUDE BROS. CO. 1213 F ST.

Julius Garfinkel & Company are showing

EVENING GOWNS

and

EVENING WRAPS

FOR THE SOCIAL SEASON

their loveliness and distinction commend them to women and misses who desire individuality and great charm in dressing.

Third Floor

F at fourteenth

Martini's

Fine China, Rich Crystal, Silver, Art Objects and Lamps

1223 Connecticut Avenue
NATIONAL 5478

Portraits for Christmas

Regularly $15
Have yours made this week.
Telephone for appointment.

UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD
1230 Connecticut Avenue
District 4488

R. HARRIS & CO.

Exclusive Washington Representative for Stieff Sterling Silver ROSE

6 Salad Forks $10.50

Write or Call for a Detailed Price List

R. Harris and Co.
JEWELERS
11th & F Sts. EST. 1874 DI. 0916

Brooks

1109 G Street

a youthful new FORMAL

in billowy NET

A gown that is a born flatterer! Slim-waisted, full-skirted frock in lovely net, with a wide stiffened border of swishy rayon taffeta. The smart little peplum jacket in rayon taffeta adds another dash of chic. Black only. Sizes 12 to 16.

16.95
Better Dresses—Third Floor.

Auxiliary of Jewish Consumptives' Relief Society Raises $4,350 Through Its Sixth Donor Luncheon

Dr. A. D. H. Kaplan, of Board of Trustees, Is Guest Speaker.

More Than 1,000 Attend;
Mrs. Morgenthau Also Unit's Honoree.

By Jessie Ash Arndt,
The Post Staff Editor.

One thousand girls and a man—Dr. A. D. H. Kaplan, of the board of trustees of the Jewish Consumptives' Relief Society, of Denver—attended the sixth annual donor luncheon of the Washington Ladies' Auxiliary of the society yesterday at the Mayflower Hotel.

Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., wife of the Secretary of the Treasury, was guest of honor and Dr. Kaplan the guest speaker.

Mrs. Martin Mendelsohn presided at the luncheon. At her right sat Mrs. Morgenthau and, at her left, Mrs. Joseph Millenson, executive director of the auxiliary, who has been in charge of the luncheons since they were inaugurated six years ago under Mrs. Harry Sherby, first president of the organization. Mrs. Sherby was another guest at the head table. Among others were presidents of Jewish women's organizations: Mrs. Abram Simon, founder and honorary president of the Federation of Temple Sisterhoods; Mrs. Albert Jacobson, president of the home in Denver; Mrs. Fred Felzman, president of the Sisterhood of the Eighth Street Temple; Mrs. Sidney Wiseman, vice president of the Hadassah; Mrs. A. C. Selig, president of the ladies auxiliary of Tifereth Israel Congregation; Mrs. Sam Benjamin, president of B'nai Israel Sisterhood; Miss Irene Salomon, president of the juniors of the auxiliary; Mrs. Leon A. Tashoff, president of the Sixth Street Synagogue Sisterhood; Mrs. Joseph Barr, president of the auxiliary to the Jewish Veterans' Organization; and Mrs. Joseph Kronman, president of the Jewish Home for the Aged.

Also seated at the head table were officers of the auxiliary and those who have been active in directing preparations for the luncheon. Committees have been working since the middle of August. The rummage store, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Louis Dimowitz, assisted by Mrs. Harry Bland and Mrs. Betty Kressfeld, has been one of the means of assisting members in earning the $8.25 covering the cost of their luncheon tickets, enabling those who could not otherwise donate that amount to the fund to give it easily. Other means of which members took advantage were the sale of a cold cream which the auxiliary sponsors, in charge of Mrs. Frederick Nesson; the purchase of tickets for hand-made art objects, in charge of Mrs. Morris Gill, and bringing in five new members. Mrs. Louis Mintz is membership chairman.

Miss Saloman announced that 80 members of the auxiliary organization were among the luncheon guests and that the group is the largest society of Jewish juniors in the city, with 520 paid-up memberships. There were also 100 auxiliary members from Baltimore present. Mrs. Morgenthau was the first to sign a membership card among those who enrolled yesterday.

The opening prayer was offered by Mrs. Harry Walsky, and Mrs. Mendelsohn presided, introducing the guest of honor and the speaker. The report on the proceeds of the luncheon was made by Mrs. Millenson, who traced the history of the annual affairs since the first, at which there were 100 guests. The entertainment, "A Moonlight Fantasy," was artistically presented and included solos by Bernice Melman Ratner, Rose Sils, Ida Bronson, Edith Wallack, George Myers and Wilton B. Mendelsohn. "Moonlight Sonata," a ballet number, was among the picturesque numbers. In the ensemble were Ann Bord, Bert Becker, Frances Rubinstein, Lilian Gossin, Sylvia Ostrow, Alma Lustine, Mary Marcellenfeld, Reeve Kuehn, Ida Bronson, Dora Glassman, Edith Schwartz, Ruby Krucoff, Gladys Israel, Bess Bernard and Edith Wallack. Mrs. Hazel Shinde accompanied the program, assisted by Mar Levenson's Orchestra.

The head table was decorated with a large bouquet of yellow button chrysanthemums with a few red geraniums adding contrast. Others seated there were Mrs. Mark Lansburgh, Mrs. Harry Walsky, chairman of the luncheon; Mrs. A. S. Freed, of New York City; Mrs. Charles Goldsmith, Mrs. Fred Nessen, Mrs. Menz, Mrs. Morris Gill.

Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Jr. (left), wife of the Secretary of the Treasury, with Mrs. Martin Mendelsohn, president of the auxiliary of the Jewish Consumptives' Relief Society of Denver, at whose sixth annual donor luncheon at the Mayflower she was guest of honor yesterday.

Work of Individuals Determines Status of Women, Zontas Told

Field for Achievement Wider Here Than in Europe, Mrs.
Herrick, Newspaper Writer, Informs 80 at Annual Dinner.

The accomplishment of the individual woman in business and the professions determines the status of women as a whole, Mrs. Genevieve Forbess Herrick, newspaper and magazine writer, told members of the Zonta Club last night, in her address at their annual dinner in observance of Zonta Day. The affair, held at the Columbia Country Club, was attended by 80 members and guests and Miss Winifred Burwell, the president, presided.

The field for attainment is broader in this country than in Europe, said Mrs. Herrick, and therefore the achievement of the individual woman is likely to be less spectacular here than abroad. There are many here who merge their interests in such organizations as the Zonta Club, she pointed out, attaining group leadership, but even in the group, the individual is primarily the important factor.

Among the outstanding women whom she has known and interviewed, Mrs. Herrick mentioned Amelia Earhart, to whom she paid tribute; Mrs. Frederick H. Brooke, newly elected president of the Girl Scouts of America, and the Secretary of Labor, Frances Perkins. She enlivened her entire discussion with amusing personal anecdotes and observations on women of her acquaintance in professional and political life.

Seated with the president and guest speaker at the head table were Judge Annabel Mathews, president of the Women's Bar Association; Leo O. Drumright, president of the Civic Club, and Mrs. Drumright; Ned Harris, president of the Newspaper Women's Club; Arthur Defenderfer, president of the Cosmopolitan Club; Miss Mary Cason, of the Zonta Club of Frederick, Md.; and Dr. Maud M. Hayman, of the Georgetown Club.

The Zonta colors were carried out in the table decorations with small red and gold chrysanthemums.

The program, in addition to Mrs. Herrick's talk, included solos by George Myers, tenor, accompanied by Emily Dickinson, of the club.

Members of the Frederick club who were present besides Miss Cason included Miss Halott, Miss Miriam Apple, Mrs. Hilda Croghan, Miss Miriam Rhoads, Mrs. Estelle Fellows, Mrs. Nan Pae, Miss Florence Garner and Miss Nora Wise. Others from Hagerstown were Mrs. Ruby Jackson, Miss Esther Coplan and Miss Emma Patterson.

Miss Elizabeth Peet, dean of women at Gallatin College, a former member of the Washington club, also was among the guests.

Mrs. and Mr. V. G. Landon have arrived in Washington from their home in Skaneateles, N. Y., and have taken an apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Today's Calendar

Bethesda Woman's Club—Meets at 3 p. m.; Dr. D'Arcy McGee, speaker; Mrs. Peter L. Dacker, conversation chairman.

Park View Woman's Club—Meets with Mrs. Roosevelt, 917 Aspen street, 8:15; Mrs. Esther Bais, Mrs. A. J. Brumfield, Mrs. Harry Adams and Mrs. A. H. O. Rolfe, assisting hostesses.

T. W. C. A.—Tennis class meets 6 p. m.; advanced swimming class meets 7 p. m.; Business Women's Music Club rehearsal and business meeting, 7:15 p. m.

Women's Club of Chevy Chase—Membership committee meets with Mrs. John H. Bar, 5223 Reno road, 1 p. m.; art section luncheon at Brook Farm Tea House; Mr. Alexander B. Claxton speaks on "Creating Harmony in the House and Garden."

Kessler star—Bethlehem Chapter memorial services for deceased members and payment by Women of the Degree of Pochonites.

Rebekah Lodge—Scholar Colfax No. 10, bingo party and regular meeting, 822 Twentieth street northwest.

Leesburg Garden Club—Mrs. John J. Babson, hostess; Mrs. Monique Lantz, leader of round-table discussion on "What Proved Most Successful in My Garden."

Mothers' Health Association—Tea at headquarters, 715 S street southwest; Mrs. Frensis Wilson, chairman.

P. T. A.—Parent-Teacher Institute, 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. and 1:30 to 3:30 p. m.; Covington Hall, George Washington University, 725 Twenty-first street northwest; Mrs. J. J. Pettigrew, speaker. Board of managers of the D. C. Congress meets immediately after morning session of the institute.

Keene Association—Meets at 8 p. m.; LuVerne Walker, speaker. Elliot Junior High, open house and dedication of library room, 2 p. m.; Brookland-North study groups meetings at North School, 1:30 p. m.

Mrs. Ruth Butler, speaker. Open house at Brookland School, Langley Junior High, regular meeting, 8 p. m.; White bundle day in charge of Mrs. M. Benizowski, 2 p. m.; regular meeting, 8 p. m.; Miss E. L. Dorr, speaker. John Quincy Adams Association meeting, 8 p. m.; W. B. Clavin, speaker. Lenox Vocational "At Home Night," 7:30 p. m.

League of Women Voters—Department of government and social studies. Capt. Rhoda Milliken speaks on "Problems Involved in Penal Institutions for Women in the District of Columbia, meeting at home of Mrs. Pearl B. Klein, 3000 Connecticut avenue."

Women's City Club—Evening bridge, 7 p. m.; current events, 8 p. m.; Mrs. W. E. Meyer, editor of the American Observer, speaker.

Alpha Omicron Pi Honor Society—Washington Alumnae Chapter meets at the home of Mrs. Constance B. 420 Chesapeake near Country Club Green.

B. C. Federation—Porter Clinic, Roosevelt Hotel, 4 to 6 p. m.; Ina Sheldon Tyler, chairman.

N. C. Society To Fete Hoeys

Governor and Wife to Be Honor Guests at D. C.
Group's Annual Party.

Gov. Clyde R. Hoey, of North Carolina, and Mrs. Hoey will be guest of honor at the annual Governor's night party with which the North Carolina Society of Washington opens its social season. The affair will be Thursday evening, November 18 in the west ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel.

The reception line will form at 8 o'clock. Preceding the reception, Gov. and Mrs. Hoey will be entertained at dinner by the new officers, members of the board of governors, and past presidents and secretaries with their wives and husbands. Following the reception, the Governor will address the society and his talk will be broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System. Senator Robert R. Reynolds will introduce him and after the address, there will be dancing and card playing.

The officers of the society are: Giles Yeomans Newton, president; John Wilbur Jenkins, first vice president; Mrs. Aubrey D. McFadyen, second vice president; Miss Annie Lee Chisholm, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Macie E. Lowe, assistant secretary-treasurer; the Rev. Charles Berry Austin, chaplain, and Mrs. Boydston Satterfield, historian. Members of the board of governors are Gov. O. Max Gardner, Charles P. Gay, Dr. C. C. Foote, Miss Augusta Landis, Mrs. Thomas R. Offenbacher, Senator Reynolds, Miss Reba Doughton, Frank W. Hancock, Mrs. Marian Butler, S. Grady Putnam and Mrs. H. E. C. Bryant.

Assisting Miss Chisholm will be Mrs. Lower, Mrs. Offenbacher, Miss M. Pearl Hagan, Miss Jennie Saine, Mrs. Paul D. Stout, Mrs. William H. Hessick, Jr., and Mrs. Edson W. Briggs.

Writers Hear Tom McCarthy

Post Columnist Discusses Art
at Y. W. C. A. Club Meeting.

Tom McCarthy, columnist of The Washington Post and judge of the Umbrella Court of the Air, told the Professional Writers Club of the Y. W. C. A. how "columning" is done, in an informal talk at its meeting last night.

Sometimes the difficulty is in gathering material for a daily column and other times it's in the writing, he told the group. But the worst of it is when the clock marches toward the deadline and you can't think of a thing to write—an experience all columnists have more than once in a lifetime, but which they manage to live through, putting out a column just the same, he said.

Everything in grief which comes to the columnist's mind—taxi drivers, waitresses, readers who write in, the man on the street, all may give him suggestions for tomorrow's column.

At the close of his talk he remained to answer questions about his vagabond trip West last summer and other details of his work.

Sacred Heart Alumnae
Set Dance for Nov. 20

The Alumnae of the Academy of the Sacred Heart of Mary will hold a dance November 20 at the Hamilton Hotel from 10 until 1 o'clock for the benefit of their educational fund.

Miss Emma Ragan, president of the alumnae, has appointed Miss Agnes Auth as chairman of the dance, assisted by Miss Evelyn Collins, Miss Margaret Harold, Miss Marie Hawk, Miss Marcella Lanigan, Mrs. Maggie and Miss Bessie Mills.

Center Guild to Meet.
The Center Guild is entertaining members and friends with movie night to be held November 16 at 8:30 p. m. in the drill room of the Jewish Community Center. The films will be both entertaining and educational.

One-piece crepe with shirred shoulders and Venice lace collar and cuffs.
$14.95

Jeanne Barrie
Exclusives...

Black and White DRESSES

Fresh and Lively Under Your Coat

$14.95

Sparkling with a flash of white against inky black—it's the contrast that makes them dramatic! Short sleeved Jeanne Barrie dresses featuring the slimmer corseted waistline, and artful shirring and drapery. Soft, mossy crepes with lingerie touches to peep out demurely from under your coat. Sizes 12 to 20.

Third Floor—Better Dress Shop—The Hecht Co.

SLEEK STREAMLINED Flexees Foundations

For Day or Evening

Just the right amount of support to make the average figure take on that slim, "poured-in" look! Flexees of shimmering rayon satin lastex, zipped up the side with never a bulge, and lightly boned in front to flatten your tummy. The net-lined lace bust sections give you the high, youthful lines that fashion demands. Choose black or white for evening, and peach for daytime. Sizes 33 to 40.

$10

Flexees girdle of rayon satin lastex, in black or white. 15" lengths in sizes 27 to 32..... $7.50

Third Floor—Corset Shop—The Hecht Co.

"Madame Chairman"....

By Suzanne.

MRS. EDGAR B. MERITT, chairman of radio for the General Federation of Women's Clubs and president of the Political Study Club, has issued invitations for a luncheon Saturday at 2400 Sixteenth street in honor of Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson, president of the General Federation, who is spending the winter in Washington.

Her guests will include officers and past presidents of the District Federation, the executive board of the Political Study Club and a few additional club leaders. One of these will be Mrs. John D. Robinson, radio chairman of the North Carolina Federation, who will come from Wallace, N. C., for the occasion.

Mrs. William E. Springer, of Chevy Chase, entertained the Washington Alumnae Chapter of National Park Seminary at her home yesterday afternoon. There are about 100 alumnae in Washington and fully half that number are active in the work of the chapter.

Mrs. Layson Atkins, wife of Col. Atkins, is president of the alumnae; Mrs. Charles Wolcott, secretary and Mrs. Samuel Jones, the treasurer.

OVER in Prince Georges County, a county council of Home-makers Clubs was organized the other day with Mrs. Joseph Brandywine as its president and Mrs. Harvey Pyles, of Allentown, its vice president.

Prince Georges had been the only county in the State without a council which brings together representatives of the Home-makers Clubs in various sections. Miss Venus M. Keller, State home demonstration agent, and Miss Ethel M. Regan, county home demonstration agent, were there to help organize the group. Mrs. Milton Brickard, of Glendale, was elected treasurer and Miss Irene Wilson, Suitland, secretary.

THE SEMIANNUAL meeting of the D. C. voteless branch of the League of Women Voters has been set for November 17—a dinner in Barker Hall of the Y. W. C. A. at which the program of work for the year will be adopted, according to Mrs. Louis Oltensberg, the president. Preceding the dinner, there will be a reception for members of the national board who are meeting in Washington November 15 to 18. Miss Marguerite Wells, the national president, is a resident of the Capital.

The most recent bulletin of the league, which describes all of its active study groups and names their chairmen, contains a little illustration headed League Shopping News, with "Government and Its Operation," "Economic Welfare," "Child Welfare," "Education," "Legal Status of Women" and "Foreign Policy," all listed for the members to choose from. The league, as most everyone knows, is one of the women's organizations which has a constructive and thorough program, offering its membership opportunity to do valuable work in promoting civic welfare and good government, with party lines temporarily ignored.

THE MEN were the real heroes of the donor luncheon of the Jewish Consumptives' Relief Society Auxiliary yesterday. Mrs. Martin Mendelsohn, the president, admitted they have been returning home to cold dinners and foregoing the pleasure of listening to their radios in the evening, hearing discussions of luncheon plans instead, during committee meetings in their living rooms—which has been their part in helping a good cause.

Shanghai Falls As Outflanked Defenders Flee

Chinese Set Buildings in Hungjiao Afire; Japanese Swarm Across Creek,

Continued from Page 1.

treat beginning first from the area nearest the International Settlement.

Japanese began crossing the Jessfield railway bridge near St. John's University, scene of the bitterest fighting in the last ten days, as soon as scouts assured them the Chinese were leaving the region undefended.

A bewhiskered Japanese officer crossed Jessfield Bridge—symbolizing the fall of Shanghai—and walked opposite the British defense outposts firing a revolver ahead of him. A Japanese patrol followed immediately behind him and cautiously examined the first dugout along the railway which the Chinese had evacuated shortly before them. Then warily the Japanese advanced and spread out over the new territory.

Before quitting the region Chinese fired the 87,000,000 Japanese-owned Toyota cotton mills, and several other fires were seen starting on the horizon.

Earlier the Japanese army reported it had seized positions in the outskirts of Sungkiang, 22 miles southwest of here and a key point in the Chinese defense system in the Shanghai area.

Capture of Mission Feared.

Oberlin, Ohio, Nov. 8 (AP).—Officials of Oberlin College expressed fear today that its Chinese school, Oberlin-in-China, may have been seized by Japanese troops.

Four of a group at Taihu from which no word has been received, and who are believed to be behind Japanese lines in Shansi Province, were identified at the college as Oberlin graduates and missionaries under the American Board of Missions of the Congregational Church. They were P. D. Dutton, of Auburn, Mass.; Isabel Hemingway and her mother, Mrs. Will Hemingway, of Washington, and Gladys Williams, of Oberlin.

10,000 in Death Stand.

Nanking, Nov. 8 (AP).—The war office was advised tonight that 10,000 Chinese soldiers under Gen. Fu Tso-yi have formed themselves into "death battalions," and are holding Taiyuan, capital of Shansi Province, in the face of overwhelming Japanese attacks.

Gen. Fu and his men are determined to emulate the exploit of the battalion of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Central China army, which held off more than 40,000 Japanese in the Chapei area of Shanghai before retreating into British-controlled areas.

Gen. Fu is governor of Suiyuan Province and is leading troops who repelled last year's North China invasion by pro-Japanese Mongol armies.

The Japanese held only small areas inside the walled city of the Shansi capital this morning, according to war office radios, but hand-to-hand fighting was going on in the streets.

Theater of War Shifts to Southwest of Shanghai

Copyright by the Associated Press.

Three Japanese columns were reported moving, as indicated by arrows, toward Kashing, Sungkiang and Minhang. Reports stated that Pootung (1), where Chinese showed great resistance, was virtually deserted. Solid line indicates battleline west and northwest of Shanghai, with Japanese reporting advances south of Sookchow Creek (2). Dotted line indicates Chinese defense west of Shanghai. Japanese were forced back along the Whangpoo at Minhang (3). Chinese were withdrawing from Sungkiang (4), on the strategic Hangchow-Shanghai Railroad. Japanese armies appeared swarming into Chekiang Province (5).

British 'Cringe' Franco to Mine Loyalist Coast For 165 Miles Around Valencia

To Franco, Says House Laborite

By the Associated Press.

London, Nov. 8.—The House of Commons' opposition tonight accused the government of making a fresh surrender to Premier Mussolini and Gen. Franco by deciding to exchange commercial agents with insurgent Spain.

The government was accused of "cringing" at Franco's feet by Laborite Albert Alexander who declared "Franco only has to seize a few more British ships and he will get his British ambassador."

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden denied accusations the act constituted the first step toward diplomatic recognition of the insurgents. He asserted a communique announcing completion of the exchange of agents "within a short time" would make clear that Franco neither would be recognized nor accorded belligerent rights.

He declared that more than $13,000,000 in Spanish trade was responsible for the decision to exchange "agents" with the nationalist regime. Critics charged the new move was not in accord with Britain's non-interference stand, and weakened France's hand.

By the United Press.

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish frontier, Nov. 8.—Insurgent sources along the frontier said tonight that Premier Benito Mussolini is withdrawing his "Black Shirt" legionnaires from Spain and from the insurgent-held Balearic Island of Majorca under an agreement with Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The plan was said to provide for "gradual evacuation." It was said that 4,000 Italian mercenaries who participated in the recent insurgent victories of the northwest fronts sailed for home aboard an Italian steamer from Santander two or three days ago.

Franco was said to have asked for the withdrawals preparatory to his acceptance of the London Non-Intervention Committee's plan to send neutral commissions to Spain to count foreigners serving in the insurgent and loyalist ranks.

At Salamanca Franco's headquarters warned all shipping tonight that, effective Wednesday, 165 miles of the loyalist Mediterranean coast around Valencia will be mined for his nationalist blockade.

The mined section, which Franco said was "imposed by the necessities of war," extends from Cape Tortosa, 110 miles north of Valencia, to Cape de la Nao, 55 miles south.

The mines, it was explained, will be confined to Spanish territorial waters. According to insurgents at the frontier, Italian infantrymen are the first to be evacuated and thousands of them already have been withdrawn from the front lines.

Mexico May Be Asked To End Soviet Break

Mexico City, Nov. 8 (AP).—Labor members of the Chamber of Deputies today discussed a petition to President Lazaro Cardenas asking resumption of diplomatic relations with Russia. Mexico severed diplomatic relations with the Soviet eight years ago toward the close of the presidency of Emilio Portes Gil, after secret police raided the Mexican legation in Moscow.

Earl's Office Bombed.

London, Nov. 8 (AP).—London sources disclosed today a bomb had wrecked the rent office of the Irish Free State estate of the Earl of Harwood, the brother-in-law of King George VI.

Germany Plans Honors For Its Dead in Spain

Munich, Germany, Nov. 8 (AP).—An official roster disclosed yesterday that Germans who have died in Spain will be honored for the first time in the annual list of Nazi Party members who "have died for the cause." This list, totaling 275 names, will be read to the rolling of muffled drums here November 11 in solemn observance of the fourteenth anniversary of Adolf Hitler's unsuccessful 1923 putsch.

France Sentences Spies.

Marseille, France, Nov. 8 (AP).—A military court today sentenced Victoriano Mao and his wife to ten years in prison for espionage, and to exile from France for 20 years.

HUDSON TERRAPLANE
MOTOR CARS
WARRINGTON MOTOR CAR CO.
Since 1912
2035 17th ST. N.W. P.O.T. 0701

For Distinguished Service

THE BLACK WATCH

HONOURS OF DEWAR'S

"White Label"

MEDAL SCOTCH OF THE WORLD

Alfred of the International Exhibition, Jamaica, 1891
... one of more than 60

medals honoring Dewar's White Label for Excellence in Scotch Whisky.

The standard of DEWAR'S White Label has been decorated by more than 60 medals of honour for distinguished service. Enlist the services of "The Gentleman's Scotch" and you command the dependability of a seasoned veteran. Order DEWAR'S White Label and Soda... highball of the highlands... and be... "At Ease!"

White Label

8 years old
86.8 proof

Dewar's (Pronounced De-ar)

"White Label"

The Medal SCOTCH of the World

BLENDED SCOTCH WHISKY

Copr. 1937, Schenley Import Corp., New York, N. Y.

JUST ARRIVED! A CARLOAD OF OCCASIONAL TABLES

2.99

EACH

-built of solid maple and finished in maple and walnut

We've sold hundreds and hundreds of them... but they no sooner arrive, than out they go. When you see them you'll understand why. Sturdily built, with smoothly finished edges and stretcher braced bases. So many styles, you're bound to find one to fit your needs. No room need be without its full supply... not when you can buy them for 2.99.

- | | | | |
|--------------------------------------|------|-------------------------------------|------|
| 1. End Table with Drawer..... | 2.99 | 5. Oblong Table with Shelf..... | 2.99 |
| 2. End Table with Undershelves..... | 2.99 | 6. Drop-leaf Butterfly Table..... | 2.99 |
| 3. Double Pedestal Coffee Table..... | 2.99 | 7. Book-trough Drop-leaf Table..... | 2.99 |
| 4. Radio Magazine-pocket Table..... | 2.99 | 8. Convenient Pler Cabinet..... | 2.99 |

Not Every Style in Both Finishes!

Fourth Floor—The Hecht Co.

you are your brother's keeper

Give thru your community chest

FOR GREATER CONVENIENCE, USE OUR MODERN PARKING BUILDING—Rates, 10c for the First Hour, 5c for Every Half Hour or Fraction Thereafter.

Sunbeam
THE BEST IN ELECTRIC APPLIANCES MADE

Silent Automatic Toaster — Coffee-maker — Ironmaster Mixer, and others.

Powerful!
Sturdy!
Efficient!

THE IDEAL GIFT

MIXMASTER

THE BEST FOOD MIXER MADE

Get this great kitchen labor saver and be done with the tiring arm-work of cooking, baking, getting meals. Preferred by over a million women for its extra power, easier handling, wider usefulness.

The only mixer with such advantages as Full Power automatically maintained on all speeds (beaters hold the speed you set them for—won't slow down as batter thickens)—big FULL-MIX beaters for greater aeration, finer results—a choice of colors (ivory-and-green or black-and-white) to fit your own kitchen color scheme. Complete with juicer, $23.75.

Sunbeam Mixer is the ideal gift. If she has one — give Mixmaster labor-saving attachments, Sunbeam Ironmaster, Silent Automatic Toaster or Coffee-maker.

AT YOUR FAVORITE DEALER IN ELECTRIC APPLIANCES

Sunbeam APPLIANCES
As Low As 50c Weekly

J.C. HARDING NAL 2160
Company, Inc.
Sales ELECTRICAL Service
Established 1917

Harlan Miller Over the Coffee

A Frenchman just back from a visit to Europe entertained a Washington cocktail party yesterday with a rather vivid description of the new French fortifications along the Belgian frontier to the sea.

Some of the cocktails got a bit warm during his recital, while others were repeatedly refilled, depending on the listener's personal attitude toward war.

These entrenchments run like a New York subway tunnel the whole length of the French frontier, with every two kilometers (1 1/4 miles) a fort something like the Times Square Subway Station, and several pillboxes, machine gun nests, machine gunners, in between.

Some of the more prosperous comfort-loving Frenchmen in the region are talking jokingly of building private tunnels from their own trench back to their own farmhouses or chateaux, so they can spend an occasional night or week-end at home during a lull in the next war.

Air-conditioned trenches, too, are on the program. The best to a point where forced ventilation will make the underground garrisons impervious to gas attack.

(How's that, buddy—air-conditioned trenches? Nothing but a decided yet about sewers, running water, plumbing and heating.)

But what does a poilu care about shower baths when his heart will be gladdened by the knowledge that there's enough ammunition for two years stored in the subterranean ammunition dumps, and a built-in first-aid station every two kilometers, and ground and immune to bombing?

No-Man's Land will be landscaped, too. . . . Handsome steel bars are being planned densely enough in the right places so as to appear an attacking tank in its vulnerable belly.

Barbed wire is ready to be strung as quickly as the soldiers string the white satin ribbon at a church wedding.

And small dams at strategic spots will flood the lowlands. . . . It will look lovely at night, with the red flares and very pistol flashes.

In the hurry and flurry of preparation, no arrangements are on the cards for the evacuation of the civilian population—the aged, the women and the children.

But some of the more far sighted householders are building fairly bomb proof cellars and sub cellars, where life can go on.

All the hospitals—at least the ones in the advance zones—are to be built underground, when they can get around to that, so the Frenchman said, as he munched a caviar canape. . . . To protect the wounded from the mistakes of enemy aviators.

There is even talk of a vast underground cathedral at Rheims, which it will be useless to bombard (1) because it cannot be used as a "lookout tower" and (2) because it will be invulnerable to bombardment.

Some cautious patriots think all the villages in the frontier zone should be rebuilt completely underground.

"It will be cheaper in the long run," they say.

Amid all this pre-warlike splendor one thing cheers and buoy up the population of northeastern France and keeps a smile in their hearts.

That is Herr Hitler's repeated assurance that he is dedicated heart and soul to peace, and that every goose step is a step toward eternal peace.

Have another drink. Aren't these Washington cocktail parties fun?

Frank M. Crawford, 66, Hurt When Hit by Car

2 Civic Units Back Fight on Higher Fare

Piney Branch and Park View Groups Condemn Tram Increase.

Kalorama Association Approves of New D. C. Transit Rates.

Two citizens' associations, endorsing the action of their federation, last night demanded a rehearing on the cost of street car tokens.

It was indicated in the District Building that a court order would be necessary to compel the P. U. C. to modify its position.

At the same time, the Southeast Business Men's Association asked a Congressional investigation of the P. U. C. saying that in recent years the commission has refused no request of the Capital Transit Co. The resolution asked for removal of commission members in the event that an investigation found it not to be protecting the interests of the public.

One Group Approves. The citizens associations opposing the increase, the Park View and Piney Branch associations, objected particularly to the "wholesale" sale of tokens. It would be fairer, they thought, to sell them at three for 25 cents instead of six for 50 cents.

The Kalorama Citizens Association, on the other hand, approved of the higher rates granted the transit company.

In the District Building, P. U. C. Chairman Riley Elgen and Vice Chairman Richmond B. Keech made it clear that they would not agree to a rehearing of the order except under "unusual pressure."

Must File in 30 Days. Their action followed a month of preparation led by Howard Ennes, editor of the Hatchet, student newspaper; Lawrence Thomas, president of the Smith-Reed-Russell Medical Society; and Donald H. Cooper, head of the Lester F. Ward Cooperative Society.

Second stage of their intensive three-day opening campaign will come with today's issue of the Hatchet. Ennes said yesterday the issue would carry a signed article by Raymond A. Vonderlehr, assistant surgeon general of the United States, who has been active in the antisyphilis campaign.

In addition Ennes said the Hatchet would announce plans for a panel discussion by leading medical authorities, to be held at 8 p. m. Thursday in Stockton Hall on the university campus. Ennes said Dr.

George Washington Students Enter Fight Against Social Disease

Blanche Widome, senior medical student, shows other students an exhibit in the display set up in the Student Club illustrating the effects of syphilis. The display is the opening move in the students' campaign to help bring the disease under control.

Students at George Washington University yesterday stepped into the thick of the national campaign to bring under control the menace of syphilis, with the announcement that they intended to seek establishment of Wasserman tests as a routine part of all physical examinations at the university.

Opening move in their educational drive on the campus came yesterday when leaders of the Student Club a display illustrating medical and social facts about syphilis.

Their action followed a month of preparation led by Howard Ennes, editor of the Hatchet, student newspaper; Lawrence Thomas, president of the Smith-Reed-Russell Medical Society; and Donald H. Cooper, head of the Lester F. Ward Cooperative Society.

Second stage of their intensive three-day opening campaign will come with today's issue of the Hatchet. Ennes said yesterday the issue would carry a signed article by Raymond A. Vonderlehr, assistant surgeon general of the United States, who has been active in the antisyphilis campaign.

In addition Ennes said the Hatchet would announce plans for a panel discussion by leading medical authorities, to be held at 8 p. m. Thursday in Stockton Hall on the university campus. Ennes said Dr.

Thomas Parran, Jr., U. S. Surgeon General, was expected to send the gathering a message.

Spread of the campaign to other colleges, both in Washington and throughout the East, was forecast by Ennes. Groups from American University have indicated their desire to co-operate, he said.

The Hatchet will say, in part: "We would like to emphasize that the disease is unnecessary, that it can be wiped out, that it is a public responsibility to provide means of removing it altogether."

"We would like to point out that one of the primary reasons science has not been able to apply its remedies, and preventives, to syphilis has been because of the taboo placed upon its discussion."

Ennes said last night he would carry the campaign after Thursday's meeting here to the conference of the International Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States to be held Friday and Saturday at Lehigh University. With other representatives from George Washington, Ennes plans to introduce a resolution calling for establishment of two committees on syphilis. One committee, with representatives from each of the colleges in the association, would co-operate in extending the anti-syphilis campaign on college campuses. Formation of the second committee will be recommended to bring together Federal and State health officers as a permanent advisory body for directing educational measures on syphilis.

Ennes said: "Eventually we hope the university may require a Wasserman test as a routine part of every medical examination given students."

Several students have volunteered to give blood samples for Wasserman tests. The samples will be taken by students at the University Medical School at noon and again at 6 p. m. tomorrow in the club.

Students from the university medical school will be at the Student Club each day through Thursday from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. and 4:30 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. to demonstrate exhibits of laboratory specimens, and answer questions. Among the material which will be shown, are microscope slides of the organisms causing syphilis.

Free copies of a Public Health Service bulletin on syphilis, with discussion of the cause, spread and cure of the disease, have been made available for distribution to the students.

The display will remain at the Student Club until Thursday evening, Ennes said. At that time it will be moved and reassembled for the meeting in Stockton Hall, and afterward sent to Lehigh for the news association conference.

Carol Olson, of Plainfield, N. J., peers through a microscope at another specimen in the educational display.

Foe of War and Speed Traps Learns About China From Saito

Tokyo's Envoy Tells Pickus, One-Man Crusade from Cleveland, Shooting Is to Make Country Safe for Japanese.

Abe Pickus, who is against war, speed-traps and destitution, was in Washington from Cleveland yesterday to ask Hiroshi Saito, Japanese Ambassador, what all the shooting in China is about.

That's the way Pickus spends most of his time—going right to headquarters of warring nations to demand a cease-fire order. If he can't see a leader in person, he calls him on the transatlantic telephone.

In the three-quarter hour interview he had with the Japanese Ambassador yesterday, Pickus says, he was told that China hasn't been safe for the Japanese and that the Chinese have refused to co-operate properly in developing their country.

Pickus' concern about war grew out of his experiences in France with the A. E. F. He was wounded in the Argonne and, he says, saw many as 500 Americans piled together in a single heap. That left an impression on him which he has since translated into action.

Action with Pickus is violent, energetic. Although he is 47 years old, he doesn't look much over 30.

That, he says, is because he takes care of himself, goes off on a vacation when he needs one.

When he became concerned about the war in Spain, he telephoned Gen. Franco. Unfortunately Franco was off at the front somewhere so Pickus had to urge an underling to settle the war by popular vote.

He also placed calls for Mussolini and for Hitler but didn't have so much success there either although he did talk to one of Hitler's secretaries. Anthony Eden's secretary was another that he reached on the telephone.

Pickus claims credit for settling a Russo-Japanese border dispute in 1932 and for doing away with speed-traps in Ohio. In the first case he got in touch with the Soviet Ambassador and, he says, was assured that the fighting would stop. It did. He cleaned up the speed traps by forcing an investigation.

The one-man peace crusade is also against destitution and unequal distribution of wealth. He believes all of that can be cured by employers paying higher wages for a shorter work-week.

Pickus' concern about war grew out of his experiences in France with the A. E. F. He was wounded in the Argonne and, he says, saw many as 500 Americans piled together in a single heap. That left an impression on him which he has since translated into action.

Action with Pickus is violent, energetic. Although he is 47 years old, he doesn't look much over 30.

Robert Walden, 40, was held to the grand jury yesterday after an inquest into the death of Walden's brother, Harold Walden, 31, who died Sunday at Emergency Hospital from a stab wound inflicted early Saturday morning in the basement room occupied by Robert Walden at 1209 N. street northwest.

According to Policemen Robert Ashley, both Robert Walden, and a second brother, Reuben Walden, claimed that self-defense was the motive for the fatal stabbing.

Reuben Walden told the jury that Harold was dangerous when he had been drinking. "I was afraid of him when he was drunk," Reuben said. Reuben was spending the night at Robert's room, because a young sister was staying with his wife, Mrs. Virginia Walden, at their apartment.

Harold Walden, a house painter, lived at 5124 N. street, northwest. Reuben and Robert Walden are carpenters.

A 41-ounce baby, the city's tiniest, died in Sibley Hospital yesterday though physicians did everything known to their science to keep it alive.

Born Saturday to the 16-year-old wife of 17-year-old Ernest B. Payne, 445 Tenth street southwest, the infant was placed immediately in an enclosed crib and administered oxygen. The father was donor in a blood transfusion in the fight to keep his tiny child alive.

Meanwhile, the young mother, whose first wedding anniversary is Friday, was reported by hospital attendants to be recovering from the operation necessary to birth of the child.

Kalorama Group for Suffrage By Close Vote After Debate

District suffrage was favored by members of the Kalorama Citizens Association last night in a close vote following a debate presented by W. S. Finch, president of the new D. C. Suffrage Association, and M. M. McLean, president of the Brookland Citizens Association.

Speaking against suffrage, McLean claimed that "many citizens trying to get away from suffrage and secure a district or city form of management to avoid extensive political graft and corruption."

"Washington is free of political graft and corruption that usually go hand in hand with suffrage," McLean said. "Let's try and keep it that way."

Pointing out that he was a native of Texas, but had lived in Washington 42 years, McLean said he couldn't participate in District voting and still keep his suffrage status in Texas. He added that a number of Government workers here had to keep a voting status in home States in order to keep their jobs and were liable to lose their positions if they voted in Washington.

Branch Library Asked. In the annual election of officers, Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, president for the last two years, was replaced by Mrs. Edna L. Johnston. Under terms of the association's constitution, the president may not serve more than two consecutive terms.

Other officers elected last night were Gen. J. C. Hawley, first vice president; H. H. MacCubin, second vice president; Mrs. Edwin H. Pilon, recording secretary; Thomas R. Sard, corresponding secretary, and two delegates to the Federation of Citizens Association, Mrs. Wiley and M. M. Sangs.

Dr. George F. Bowerman, District librarian, spoke on need for a new main library for the District and agreed with the association the community is in need of a branch library. It was pointed out that the nearest branch, the Mount Pleasant Library, a mile distant, has a greater turnover of books than any other Washington branch.

Members later voted to request Congress to provide for erection of a branch library building in the Kalorama section.

Joining with action taken by a number of other civic organizations, members of the Piney Branch Citizens' Association went on record as opposing a proposal to make the old Tuberculosis Hospital a part of Gallinger.

In a resolution it recommended that the hospital site be converted into a recreational and educational center for school children.

Other action included endorsement of the Chest drive, approval of 13 new members and adoption of a request to Commissioners for establishment of a community center in Park View.

Fights Liquor Stores. Meeting at the East Washington Heights Baptist Church, members of the Hill Crest Citizens Association re-elected its complete roster of officers and went on record as opposing recent rulings of the Alcohol Beverage Control Board permitting additional liquor stores in the community. It adopted a resolution providing for a petition calling for reconsideration of new licenses.

Final action was formation of a special tax committee. The committee was instructed to report findings and recommendations on a more equitable system of taxation for the District.

Southeast Asks Sales Tax. The Southeast Business Men asked that Congress, if it fails to make the District appropriation upon the legal 60-40 basis, substitute a sales tax for the business privilege tax now in effect.

The association asked legislation that would forbid nonresident children to attend District schools without paying tuition.

Krogen Succeeds Hale. B. J. Krogen, vice president of the Park View Citizens' Association, was nominated for president to succeed F. V. Hale, who retired during

Robert Walden, 40, was held to the grand jury yesterday after an inquest into the death of Walden's brother, Harold Walden, 31, who died Sunday at Emergency Hospital from a stab wound inflicted early Saturday morning in the basement room occupied by Robert Walden at 1209 N. street northwest.

According to Policemen Robert Ashley, both Robert Walden, and a second brother, Reuben Walden, claimed that self-defense was the motive for the fatal stabbing.

Reuben Walden told the jury that Harold was dangerous when he had been drinking. "I was afraid of him when he was drunk," Reuben said. Reuben was spending the night at Robert's room, because a young sister was staying with his wife, Mrs. Virginia Walden, at their apartment.

Harold Walden, a house painter, lived at 5124 N. street, northwest. Reuben and Robert Walden are carpenters.

A 41-ounce baby, the city's tiniest, died in Sibley Hospital yesterday though physicians did everything known to their science to keep it alive.

Born Saturday to the 16-year-old wife of 17-year-old Ernest B. Payne, 445 Tenth street southwest, the infant was placed immediately in an enclosed crib and administered oxygen. The father was donor in a blood transfusion in the fight to keep his tiny child alive.

Meanwhile, the young mother, whose first wedding anniversary is Friday, was reported by hospital attendants to be recovering from the operation necessary to birth of the child.

Man Held to Jury In Brother's Death

Robert Walden, 40, was held to the grand jury yesterday after an inquest into the death of Walden's brother, Harold Walden, 31, who died Sunday at Emergency Hospital from a stab wound inflicted early Saturday morning in the basement room occupied by Robert Walden at 1209 N. street northwest.

According to Policemen Robert Ashley, both Robert Walden, and a second brother, Reuben Walden, claimed that self-defense was the motive for the fatal stabbing.

Reuben Walden told the jury that Harold was dangerous when he had been drinking. "I was afraid of him when he was drunk," Reuben said. Reuben was spending the night at Robert's room, because a young sister was staying with his wife, Mrs. Virginia Walden, at their apartment.

Harold Walden, a house painter, lived at 5124 N. street, northwest. Reuben and Robert Walden are carpenters.

A 41-ounce baby, the city's tiniest, died in Sibley Hospital yesterday though physicians did everything known to their science to keep it alive.

Born Saturday to the 16-year-old wife of 17-year-old Ernest B. Payne, 445 Tenth street southwest, the infant was placed immediately in an enclosed crib and administered oxygen. The father was donor in a blood transfusion in the fight to keep his tiny child alive.

Meanwhile, the young mother, whose first wedding anniversary is Friday, was reported by hospital attendants to be recovering from the operation necessary to birth of the child.

The federation endorsed the Community Chest campaign by a unanimous vote.

Tuberculosis Out of Hand, Doctor Says

D. C. Staff's Resources Inadequate, Bureau Chief Asserts.

Half of '36 Cases Never in a Clinic, Social Council Is Told.

Deplored the poor showing the District makes in meeting its health problems in comparison with other cities, Dr. A. Barkley Coulter, director, Bureau for Tuberculosis, told the Council of Social Agencies yesterday his staff was "utterly unable to cope with the situation."

"Of 897 cases of tuberculosis admitted to hospitals in 1936, 410 were never known to clinics, and of 683 referred by clinics for hospitalization, 200 never entered hospitals," he said.

Dr. George C. Ruhland, District health officer, and members of his staff addressed the council in response to requests for explanations of the large budget increases asked by the health department for next year.

Expenditure Below Standard. Dr. Coulter stated three problems in coping with tuberculosis: 1. To find the active cases. 2. To hospitalize the patient. 3. To examine the contacts to whom the disease may have been transmitted.

"The District of Columbia spends 33 cents per capita for tuberculosis although 8 or 9 cents is the standard set," he said. "If public health is purchasable, it should be purchased now, for there should be no waiting for 'bargain day' where human life is concerned."

Dr. Ruhland stressed the importance of prevention of disease and sickness, stating, "We must try to get over giving remedial treatment only, physical care and mental hygiene must begin early."

Personnel Lack Described. A lack of sufficient personnel of all branches of the Health Department was described by Assistant Health Officer D. L. Seckinger. "The District should have 300 public health nurses," he said, "but we only have 150. Adequate nursing service is essential to increase the number of home deliveries and thus decrease the cost of the public."

Dr. Ella Oppenheimer, director, Bureau of Maternal and Child Welfare, said there was a great need for infant and preschool clinics. Six maternal and child health centers, plus one shortly to open in Gallinger Hospital, are placed in strategic points of the city where death and disease rates are high, she said.

Other speakers included Mrs. Josephine Prescott, director of nursing, and Dr. Thomas Thompson, director of venereal disease service.

Yohe Heads Group For Montgomery

H. S. Yohe of Chevy Chase, Md., was elected president of the Montgomery County Civic Federation at its meeting last night at the Bethesda Elementary School.

Other officers elected are C. M. Kile, of Mohican Hills, vice president; John A. Overholt, of Bethesda, recording secretary; Miss Erma M. Kile, of Mohican Hills, corresponding secretary; William B. Horne, Somerset, treasurer.

Named to the executive committee were Josiah W. Jones, of Sandy Spring; Rhea E. Burkett, of Linden; Joseph B. Matre, of North Woodside; Walker D. Lambert, of Takoma Park.

The federation endorsed the Community Chest campaign by a unanimous vote.

PAINT FOR EVERY SURFACE,
GLASS FOR EVERY PURPOSE

HUGH REILLY CO.
1334 NEW YORK AVE.
NATIONAL 1703
NEARLY 50 YEARS OF QUALITY & SERVICE

LOANS
71 years of buying, selling and lending on diamonds, jewelry, etc.
Liberal Loans at Lowest Possible Rates
CASH FOR OLD GOLD
(Government License)

E. HEIDENHEIMER
Established 1895
LOAN OFFICE
435 RIALTO BL.
ALEx. Vn. 1915 N. N. W.

"Very Satisfied" With Tenant Post
Ad Brought Her

Rooms that are advertised in Post Want Ads bring discriminating tenants. "I am very satisfied," says Mrs. T. M., "with the type of person my ad in The Post brought me." Here's the ad:

W. ST. N.W. 73—Private corner home; cheerful room, ad. porch; suitable 1 or 2; near bath. Call Mrs. N.Y. 3576.

Have you a room to rent? Try a Post Want Ad. That's the way to reach more room-hunters. You can advertise in The Post for as little as 36 cents. Call Miss Moore—
NATIONAL 4200
POST WANT ADS

Campus Leader
DOBBS
KENLEY HALL

At a large Eastern University, Dobbs had every other make of hat in student preference. Kenley Hall in willow—a new grey with a shot of green. . . . $7.50

Sidney West, Inc.
14th & B
KROGER G. Galt, Pres.

MORE heat at less cost

Coleman OIL BURNING HEATERS

Hard about the new 2-WAY HEATING SERVICE of Coleman Oil Burning Heaters? Heat radiates into a focused comfort zone. And it circulates tremendous volumes of freshly warmed air throughout the room. Combines the advantage with the low cost of fuel oil. What do you have? More heat with a lower fuel bill.

Check these remarkable Coleman Heaters now! And be sure to see 1. Heat-Radiating Doors. 2. Heat-Radiating Flues. 3. Coleman Fuel-Saving Burner.

Lansburgh's for Outdoor Men!
FULL ZIPPER WOOL Jackets
6.95

Men who really go in for outdoor Winter sports will appreciate one of these snappy looking jackets. A 25-inch jacket that is as warm as toast yet light enough to hunt or skate in. The talon zipper front and the action back gives you plenty of room for freedom. Bright colors in plaids and checks. Sizes 35 to 46.

Worsted Trousers
3.45
The man who wants an all-round pair of trousers will find his answer here. Wear them for sport, work or dress. New patterns and dark shades. Plaid, checks and stripes. Sizes 34 to 44.

W. S. JENKS & SON
723 7th St. N.W.
NATIONAL 2092
(OH-43)

The Morning

Benny Leonard Talks of Fights, Fighters

By Shirley Povich.

Benjamin Leinert, who once owned the trimmest waistline and the cleverest pair of fists in the lightweight division, draped himself across the upholstery in his downtown hotel yesterday and very naturally talked of fights and fighting.

The Benny Leonard who retired unbeaten from the lightweights class 13 years ago is 30 pounds over his ringside weight. He never did have the proverbial fighter's fair for screaming at the referee. Modest pin stripes and subdued neckwear are his choice. You'd never guess he's a graduate of the pug-ugly era of prize fighting.

He's amused, he said, at the petty bickering he has encountered since taking over the management of Irish Eddie Dunn, a New York lightweight who has had three showings in Washington. He makes no great pretensions for Dunn except to say that the lad is willing, eager to learn and has some talent. His is a friendly interest in Dunn. The lad's purses wouldn't keep a hungry canary in bird seed over the weekend. But Dunn is learning to fight, said Leonard.

"The fight business has changed for the better in many respects," said Leonard, "but punk managers are making it tough for kids who ought to be in there fighting and learning to fight. They are holding out for big purses, favorable conditions, and special kind of opposition. They're not helping their own fighters."

"Billy Gibson was a pretty smart manager—he had two world champions, Gene Tunney and myself, and he wasn't so particular. He'd send us in there against fellows who could teach us something. We'd get hurt sometimes, but we didn't mind that. The only thing we felt was the pat on the back that we'd get from the kids on the corner if we won our fight. That's what we fought for, that kid's approval."

Leonard said he figured he earned about a million dollars during his 13 years in the prize ring, during 7 of which he held the title, from 1917 to 1924. In his thirty-two years of boxing, he had won 11 titles and 11 times spent so much time in the ring with Dundee that he learned to speak Italian.

The depression swept away most of his fortune. Ill-advised adventures into ice hockey at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia took him a $50,000 chunk. Mortgage holders on his New York apartment houses forced him back into the ring after eight years in retirement and he cleaned up $38,000 in 25 fights before he met up with Jimmy McLarnin and was knocked out for the third time in his career.

"I was putting on the gloves with Mickey Walker up at Orangeburg for a few rounds every day but I never had much of a chance to come-back," said Leonard. "Damon Runyon said I could lick most of the welterweights around and asked me why I didn't make a come-back. I guess I did look like a little body who could box a little could always handle Mickey Walker. Well, I needed the money, I had a pair of shoes and some trunks so I went back to the ring."

pretty awful. He was kind of open and easy to hit, but I didn't have that old co-ordination between mind and muscle. I'd see an opening and say to myself, 'Here's where I can hit him.' But I didn't have the right timing and then before I could do anything about it, something would bump me on the chin. I was still on my feet, but they stopped it, I guess, because they didn't want to count an old friend out."

Highlight chapters in boxing's history are those two Leonard-Lew Tindler fights, which typified the skill of Leonard under pressure. "Tindler banged me flush on the chin in the eighth round of that first fight at Boyle's. They agreed and I still don't know what held me up. My legs did a Leon Errol," related Leonard. "But somehow I kept 'em under me."

"That was a nice punch, Lew," I told Tindler, and he looked surprised to find me talking in circumstances like that. "Aw shut up and fight," he said, but I didn't feel much like fighting and told him I wasn't kidding, that he really hit me with a beaut. Instead of following up, he stood there arguing and by that time my head cleared and I was over the rough spot. I beat him in the last four rounds. In our next fight, he never did reach my chin."

McAuliffe Finds He Is Lightweight Champ

By Harry Ferguson, United Press Staff Correspondent.

New York, Nov. 8.—Jack McAuliffe tore open an envelope one day and learned that he had become lightweight champion of the world without striking a blow. All he had to do then was prove it.

It was a letter from his friend, the original Jack Dempsey, who had been lightweight champion and had grown into the middleweight class as was so often the custom in the last part of the nineteenth century. Dempsey handed the title to McAuliffe and told him to defend it the best way he could.

Here's how he went about it. He wrote letters to the "Police Gazette" and the "New York Clipper," stating that he had been awarded the championship and requesting anybody who doubted it to come forward and argue with his fists. McAuliffe got a quick reply from a lightweight named Jack Hopper. They met in New York and McAuliffe won in the tenth round, but it was an inconclusive fight and neither man was satisfied. The only answer was a return bout and this fight—one of the strangest in

Eddie Dunne Beats Johnny Dean in Furious Arena Battle
C. V. WHITNEY HORSES SOLD FOR $119,600

Eddie Alzac Gets T.K.O. On Bullock

George Abrams Wins; Ingram Gets Nod; Carrier Beaten.

By Bob Garrison.

They still are the fighting Irish, but it took the stroke of a Jewish master to produce victory last night as Irish Eddie Dunne, well-groomed product of Benny Leonard, retired undefeated lightweight champion of the world, hung up his third consecutive ring triumph at the expense of Johnny Dean, another son of Erin, who dropped a round decision at Turner's Arena.

Celtic fighting instinct, dominantly prevailed in both battles, proved more advantageous when educated by a past master of the art of glove wielding, as 1500 persons, the largest indoor gallery of the season, watched Dunne's clever boxing thwart a furious two-fisted attack that once threatened to win for his crude, wild-swinging, Philadelphia opponent.

Dunne Shows Good Left.

Dunne, the lightweight champion of Ireland, as a result of Leonard's tutelage, was just that—done, the finished product. Refusing to be lulled by Dean's savage charges that must have tempted him to toss aside all he had learned and stand toe-to-toe and swing, he calmly held his half-crouching posture, kept his left extended in Dean's battered face and proved his right as flag bearer for the greatest lightweight of them all.

While Leonard sat nonchalantly by, and smiled satisfaction, Dunne, continually met Dean with a stiff left that had his left eye closed as early as the second round, and then proceeded to pulverize his face throughout the remainder of the bout, although he met several staggering blows in so doing.

Following the sixth round, in which he was hurt, perplexed and groggy as a result of Dunne's cutting left jabs and right crosses, Dean refused to get up and was awarded a "give the winner his toughest assignment. Backing him against the ropes, Dean landed several vicious blows that visibly hurt, and forced Dunne to back with all he had to weather the storm, and take the decision.

Alzac Beats Bullock.

Three times out and was the story of the Billy Bullock-Eddie Alzac bout, which preceded the main event. Bullock, a local lightweight, found Alzac too tall, strong and clever and was spared further punishment after 2 minutes 20 seconds of the fourth round.

After holding his own for the first two rounds, Bullock sustained a beating about the head in the second heat that eventually took him out of the fight. Referee Eddie Lafont stopped the slaughter after Bullock had instinctively arisen from successive counts of 8, 8 and 2 seconds and awarded the bout to the willowy New Yorker.

In what was by far the outstanding preliminary of the evening, 18-year-old George Abrams, local 156-pound Jewish favorite, won a unanimous six-round decision from Curly Charlie Marshall, from the Mississippi Delta. Marshall, appearing to be toothless, gave evidence as early as the second round, when he took a couple of rocking rights that he had bitten off too big a hunk in Abrams, but remained until the end, though decisively outfought.

Marshall, head lowered in bull-like fashion, threw several wild swinging rights as he charged in that connected with George's head, but in retaliation Abrams hit under the chin and the fight was over.

A business-like fighter who will celebrate his nineteenth birthday Thursday, must have celebrated a couple of days early, for he apparently could have scored a knockout had he packed that certain "umph," so battered was his foe by the last round.

Ray Ingram, the consistently inconsistent local featherweight, won a unanimous six-round decision from the now-worn Baltimore veteran, Ray Rapp, in a hit-and-miss affair. Ingram, who left the mat on several occasions with both feet, was never able to land a solid blow though his gloves moved fast and often.

Rapp, on the other hand, rolled about with the agility of a contortionist, but never got around to

The Washington Post Sports

WASHINGTON: TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1937 17

Wirephoto: C. V. Whitney Bids Farewell to Turf

THE CHIEF AUCTIONED TO EARL SANDE FOR $14,100

Rule Changes Urged To Aid Grid Offense

Pop Warner Cites Progress of Defense Which Is Hindering Grid Scoring; Lou Little, Rules Committee Chairman, Agrees.

By Alan Gould, Associated Press Staff Writer.

New York, Nov. 8.—The collegiate gridiron defense, featuring such unorthodox measures as the five-man line, has gained the upper hand this season to such an extent that, unless offensive ingenuity develops more rebuttal, the national football rules committee will be asked to do something about it.

It's the coaches who think there's danger of the game becoming unbalanced in favor of the defense. The veteran Glenn Schooby (Pop) Warner of Temple spoke up strongly today in favor of rules revision calculated to give the offense more of a "break." His views were quickly backed up by Columbia's Lou Little, chairman of the rules committee of the American Football Coaches' Association.

Speaking before the Football Writers' Association, Warner said, "The defense has progressed, especially this year, to a much greater extent than the offense. This is due not alone to the more general use of a five-man defensive line but to the many variations which the offensive team is up against. Some teams use two or three defensive formations in the same game. The colleges are learning new tricks from the professionals."

Scoreless Ties. "We have had this season more scoreless ties than I can recall in the past five years," said Little, "but it isn't getting so tough to score that it seems to me the rules-makers should consider doing something to help."

Warner offered three suggestions designed to help the offense: (1) Legislation to compel the defense to keep six men on the line of scrimmage; (2) adoption of the professional rule permitting forward passing from any point behind the scrimmage line (instead of the present 5-yard limit); and (3) restore the goal posts to the goal line.

Little suggested the solution of current problems for the offense may be the abandonment of the "huddle" system of signal-calling in favor of the old-fashioned quarterback method.

"The offense then could vary its strategy to take advantage of the defensive lineup," said Little, "but if it isn't effective, there's not much doubt the coaches will want remedial legislation."

Hefelfinger Recalls Toughies. T. W. W. (Pudge) Hefelfinger, of Minneapolis, All-America giant of the old days at Yale, it seems all this indicates the "softening" influences of modern football. Still insisting he knows how to hold his position in any line, and looking the part, Hefelfinger said:

"Maybe they weren't any bigger in my day but they were tougher. We scrimmaged four times a week and played twice. Every man but the center carried the ball."

Notes from the huddle: Half of Notre Dame's regular backfield will be unable to start against Army this Saturday, due to injuries in the Pitt game. Joe Byrne, Eastern representative of the fighting Irish, revealed Nevins (Bunny) McCormick is out with a wrenched back, and Jack McCarthy, star passer, developed a hemorrhage of the right hip. Pop Warner credits Hugo Bezdek with invention of the spinner when the latter was at Penn State nearly 20 years ago. "It made Harry Wilson, an all-American back," added Warner.

Syracuse's backfield ace with the Hindu name, Wilmet Sidat-Singh, is a New York Negro boy. How about these "howl" pairings for New Year's Day: California vs. Pittsburgh in the rose bowl, Alabama-Fordham in the sugar bowl? Pitt's fullbacks, Frank Patrick and Bill Stapulis, are the key men in the Panther attack, while Tony Matis, tackle, is the main play wrecker on defense, says Harold Hansen, grid scout, who rates Pitt power with the best he's ever seen. Hansen starred for Minnesota in the days of Wyman and Baston.

Grider Dies. Sacramento, Calif., Nov. 8 (AP)—Charles MacArthur, 17-year-old high school football player, died today of injuries suffered in a game October 29.

Millies Is Released To Pilot Lookouts

Washington Catcher Returns to Minor League Club From Which He Was Purchased; Six Other Players Sent to Chattanooga.

This is the story of the darkest hour just before the dawn. It concerns Walter Millies.

Early yesterday, at his Chicago home, Catcher Millies was advised that he had been dismissed by the Washington Club. It was the unmistakable inference that he was a failure as a major league catcher after two years' trial. He had been shunted back to Chattanooga.

But, almost immediately, the gloom in the Millies household was dispelled. A few hours later came the announcement from Chattanooga: Millies was not returning to the minors merely as a major league throw-back. He had been appointed manager of the Chattanooga Club.

Thus did Owner Joe Engel, of Chattanooga, pick as his manager, one of the six players turned over to the team by the Washington club yesterday. Under the terms of the sale of the franchise by the Washington team, the Nats were to give Chattanooga seven players. Delivery of six was made yesterday.

Other Players Delivered. Along with Millies went outfielders Freddie Sington, Dee Miles and Howard McFarland. Pitchers Dick Lananah and Henry Bazner. The seventh player, an infielder, will be either Jimmy Bloodworth or Johnny Mihail.

The group was waived on by all clubs of both big leagues. Last summer, two teams had claimed Sington and another had sought out Millies' services, but on his last quest for waivers, Clarke Griffith met no opposition.

Sington's release follows three unsuccessful trials with the Nats. Possessor of powerful batting averages in both the Southern Association and the International League, Sington failed to hit in a manner becoming a big leaguer. Miles and McFarland, in brief trials with the Nats, were also unimpressive.

The release of Dick Lananah is the latest sour chapter of the local boy's failure to make good with the Nats. Lananah, like Sington, had three trials, but was both wild and ineffective. Like Sington, he was a huge favorite at Chattanooga.

Release Is Surprise. The 27-year-old Millies was bought by the Nats from Chattanooga two years ago after formerly having a trial with Brooklyn. An acceptable receiver and a fair hitter, his release by the Nats was something of a surprise, but Griffith declared last night that he was

Continued on Page 19, Column 1.

Navy Drilled On Army Plays By 'B' Eleven

Coaches Stress Passing in Workout; Varsity Given a Rest.

Annapolis, Nov. 8.—Navy made a start this afternoon in its special preparations for the Army game by working against a section of its own squad B, trained in the plays of the West Pointers. The scrimmage was short and the players who saw action in the Columbia game Saturday were excused.

The unusual arrangement of the schedule this year, with a gap of two weeks before the Princeton game and the Army contest a week later, has made it necessary for the Navy to do some of the preparations for the Cadets this week and next. Squad B has been divided and one section trained in the Army plays and the other in those of the Tigers.

The varsity worked this afternoon against the "Army" team, which has been in special training for that function during the past week, while the team which helped the Navy prepare for Columbia began to get its coaching in the Princeton plays.

In the varsity backfield this afternoon were Bill Ingram, Dick Shaffer, Frank Case and Ulmont Whitehead. Much attention was given to passing with Bill Ingram and Shaffer doing most of the ball handling. Shaffer is the back who won his place on the varsity by his fine passing against it when it was preparing for the Harvard game.

A stiff three-cornered fight is on for the place at center. After Al Wallace was hurt, the catcher and Jim Andrews fought it out, about dividing the playing. Wallace is on the field again, played a time in the Columbia game and will fight for his place.

It's sensible to start with

JOHNNIE WALKER

BORN 1820
... still going strong

What a pleasure it is to smoke a fine, mild cigar that burns evenly and stays lit! Step up to El Producto for real enjoyment.

EL PRODUCTO CIGARS for real enjoyment

What Size Please? 10c to 25c

MILD

You'll find no better way to usher in a pleasant evening than a short Johnnie Walker and soda before dinner. And after dinner, it's always sensible to keep your Johnnie Walker. Because there's no better whisky than Scotch and Johnnie Walker is Scotch at its best.

* Johnnie Walker Red Label is all 8 years old; Black Label, 12. Both are 86.8 proof.

JOHNNIE WALKER BLENDED SCOTCH WHISKY

CANADA DRY GINGER ALE, INC., NEW YORK, N. Y.; SOLE DISTRIBUTOR

Local Distributor: WASHINGTON WHOLESALE LIQUOR CORP. 402 11th St. S.W., Washington, D. C.

Jungle King Wins Manly as Little Party Is Squelched at Pimlico

In This Corner Cadeau II Is Second After Foul

Don't Sell Nebraska Short—Cuddy

By Jack Cuddy.

Copied, 1937, by the United Press.
New York, Nov. 8.—Maybe Bill Jones was pointing for Pitt.
That's one explanation for Nebraska's week. Of course, it's not necessarily the correct explanation, but it offers interesting possibilities in view of the Cornhuskers' approaching collision with the Panthers at Pittsburgh Saturday.

This encounter between two unbeaten powers of the East and Midwest shapes up as the best football game on our double-barreled Armistice Week program. It will have much more significance than the annual Army-Notre Dame classic in New York.

Jack Sutherland's Panthers, fresh from a 21-6 victory over Notre Dame, naturally will be favored. They have come through seven games with only a scoreless tie with Fordham to mar their record and they have rolled up 152 points to 20 against opposition that included Duquesne, Wisconsin and Carnegie Tech, as well as the Irish and Rams.

In Bill Jones' first season at the Nebraska helm, the Lincoln lads have weathered six games of a raw season without defeat, but they were decimated twice—by Kansas and Oklahoma, both Big Six rivals. Their victims were Minnesota, Iowa, State, Missouri and Indiana. The Huskers' comparative point score is not nearly as impressive as Pitt's—that means anything in this top-heavy season. Nebraska's six-game point total is 61 against 29 for their opponents.

This will be the twelfth meeting between the two schools. Of the previous 11 contests the Cornhuskers won only the opening encounter in 1921, 10 to 0. There were three scoreless ties, 0 to 0, in 1922, 1923 and 1924. Coach Sutherland, who came to Pitt before the '24 season, never had one of his Panther teams downed by the Huskers. Hence, if Coach Jones, successor to Dana S. Bible, can remove the smothering spell that has plagued the Panthers since 1924, the victory will even out that opening game triumph over Minnesota.

My scouts at Pitt and Lincoln assure that both teams will trot into the Pitt stadium at virtually full strength Saturday. They assure that neither team is in the least of the tremendous demand for pastebards. Pitt is planning to build 2,000 extra seats around the field.

Nebraska came out of the Kansas brawl with no new injuries of importance. Quarterback Johnny Howell still plays with a noseguard to protect the smothering spell that has plagued the Panthers since 1924, the victory will even out that opening game triumph over Minnesota.

Goldberg, Stebbins and Co. have rolled up much more impressive statistics for the Panthers than have Brock, Howell and the Huskers. They gained 1,756 yards by rushing, while seven opponents garnered only 283. It completed 17 of 55 pass attempts for 307 yards. This was less than their opponents' 397 in 24 attempts, or 16.5 yards per attempt.

The Huskers actually gained less ground by rushing than their opponents—744 yards to 751. Likewise, in the air, the Nebraska lads gained only 381 yards to their opponents' 417. And they chalked up only 41 first downs to the opposition's 47. But figures apparently mean nothing to the Huskers. For example, in that opening game with Minnesota, the Gophers ate up 178 yards by rushing against 48 for Nebraska, and 63 yards in the air against 51, and 10 first downs against 4. But Nebraska won, 14-9. Against Kansas, the Huskers bettered the Jayhawkers on land, in the air and in the kicking game, but were defeated, 13-13.

Coach Jones and his boys will enter from Lincoln Wednesday night. They'll stop off at Chicago for a Thursday workout at Soldier Field. Then they will continue on to the Panthers' lair. And it is quite possible that these Lincoln lads have been pointing for at least two weeks for this contest. So don't let the lopsided figure comparisons tempt you into making any lopsided bets against the Huskers.

Natie Brown Conquers Dies of Stab Wounds

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—Arthur Rutledge, 27-year-old former Golden Gloves heavyweight boxing champion, died today in a hospital (reconstruction) of stab wounds suffered early yesterday when he was assaulted by an unidentified assailant.

Rutledge, who had victories over Bob Olin, former light-heavyweight titleholder, and Natie Brown to his credit, and met Joe Louis as an amateur, also had served as sparring partner for Jack Dempsey and Jack Sharkey.

Time Out! BY CHET SMITH

They use tandems—cause it's a 12-day bike race!

For fun and adventure, don't miss the latest adventures of "Terry and the Pirates"—Daily and Sunday on The Post Comic Page.

At The Post

Dear Al:
Former Jockey "Frenchy" Schwartz, popular Maryland rider, died yesterday at Salisbury, Md. He will be buried tomorrow at Laurel. Jack Healey, former C. V. Whitney, trainer, has purchased Bryonion from the Greentree Stable and will race at the Bowie meeting. Healey expects to buy other horses. His colors are scarlet, French blue and white. He will be trained by Howard Hawks, movie producer and director, arrived from California to buy horses for winter racing at Santa Anita. Jockey H. LeBlanc has purchased the contract Max Hirsch held on his services and will ride free lance at Bowie. One of the Charles Town horsemen came to the Whitney auction this morning with $3,000 hoping to "steal" Rouboutab. He did get in a bid. While many of the prices were high, the new owners were not so much interested in actual racing as in breeding. Under the horse auction rules it must be announced if a horse is wind broken or injured. But the spirit of the law is being bent here today. Laurels on the Washington boulevard, goes under the hammer. I'd like to put Clocker Mike under a hammer. He can't even knock well these days.

Pimlico Entries.

By the Associated Press.
FIRST RACE—Two miles, purse, $1,000. 1. Jockey King (J. A. Jones) 115. 2. Cadeau II (J. A. Jones) 115. 3. Nebraska (J. A. Jones) 115. 4. Little Party (J. A. Jones) 115. 5. Squire Wins (J. A. Jones) 115. 6. Blue Ribbon (J. A. Jones) 115. 7. Lieut. Cleland (J. A. Jones) 115. 8. Victor Before (J. A. Jones) 115. 9. Fans at Madison (J. A. Jones) 115. 10. Garden (J. A. Jones) 115. 11. Belgian Second (J. A. Jones) 115. 12. Choosing to toss (J. A. Jones) 115. 13. Place with the Irish (J. A. Jones) 115. 14. Captain St. Paul (J. A. Jones) 115. 15. Keodore in his first (J. A. Jones) 115. 16. Keodore went out on the first (J. A. Jones) 115. 17. The victory was Marshall Cleland's (J. A. Jones) 115. 18. Second race (J. A. Jones) 115. 19. In the Brooks-Bright Foundation (J. A. Jones) 115. 20. Cup with Margot from the Cleland (J. A. Jones) 115. 21. Stables of Troy, Ontario, and finished (J. A. Jones) 115. 22. third with the Army team's (J. A. Jones) 115. 23. Challenge Cup and she came through (J. A. Jones) 115. 24. like an odds-on favorite for her fourth (J. A. Jones) 115. 25. blue ribbon in five (J. A. Jones) 115. 26. Appearances in the Madison Square (J. A. Jones) 115. 27. Garden area.

Rockingham Park Results.

By the Associated Press.
FIRST RACE—Six furlongs, purse, $800. 1. Jockey King (J. A. Jones) 115. 2. Cadeau II (J. A. Jones) 115. 3. Nebraska (J. A. Jones) 115. 4. Little Party (J. A. Jones) 115. 5. Squire Wins (J. A. Jones) 115. 6. Blue Ribbon (J. A. Jones) 115. 7. Lieut. Cleland (J. A. Jones) 115. 8. Victor Before (J. A. Jones) 115. 9. Fans at Madison (J. A. Jones) 115. 10. Garden (J. A. Jones) 115. 11. Belgian Second (J. A. Jones) 115. 12. Choosing to toss (J. A. Jones) 115. 13. Place with the Irish (J. A. Jones) 115. 14. Captain St. Paul (J. A. Jones) 115. 15. Keodore in his first (J. A. Jones) 115. 16. Keodore went out on the first (J. A. Jones) 115. 17. The victory was Marshall Cleland's (J. A. Jones) 115. 18. Second race (J. A. Jones) 115. 19. In the Brooks-Bright Foundation (J. A. Jones) 115. 20. Cup with Margot from the Cleland (J. A. Jones) 115. 21. Stables of Troy, Ontario, and finished (J. A. Jones) 115. 22. third with the Army team's (J. A. Jones) 115. 23. Challenge Cup and she came through (J. A. Jones) 115. 24. like an odds-on favorite for her fourth (J. A. Jones) 115. 25. blue ribbon in five (J. A. Jones) 115. 26. Appearances in the Madison Square (J. A. Jones) 115. 27. Garden area.

Squire Wins Horse Show Blue Ribbon

Lieut. Cleland Rides Victor Before 12,000 Fans at Madison Garden.

New York, Nov. 8.—Surviving two jump-offs, Lieut. Marshall Cleland, tonight, 23-year-old Squire to victory in the international military special challenge trophy competition to give the Canadian army its second major victory in the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden.

The veteran gray jumper, oldest equine competitor in the show, matched the clean performance of three other horses, including a teammate, the first time over the eight-jump course. Three of the four cleared three fences the second time around and again were called out to jump before the crowd of 12,000.

Under 25-year-old Marshall's fine ride, Squire jumped over the first three obstacles, Red Hugh, ridden by Lieut. G. M. Heffernan, of the Irish Free State, and Ramona, piloted by Lieut. Van Strijdom, failed to get over the third hurdle.

Belgian Second.

Choosing to toss for second place, the Belgian officer, second place with the Irish lieutenant third, Capt. Stuart Bell, leader of the Canadian team, took fourth with Keodore in his first ride since injuring his back last Friday. Keodore went out on the first jump-off.

The victory was Marshall Cleland's second major triumph of the day. Squire, ridden by Lieut. Marshall Cleland, 21-year-old brother of Marshall, was second in the event.

My Nu-Joy Favored.

Although My Nu-Joy was grand champion at the St. Louis show and received the highest prize in the grand combination class, she was virtually unknown when she paraded out for the opening of the show last Wednesday. Today she was the favorite to win the Baltimore Challenge Cup and she came through like an odds-on favorite for her fourth blue ribbon in five appearances in the Madison Square Garden area.

Another outstanding favorite also came through in the Killeen Farm Challenge Cup when Highland Court stamped herself as the horse to beat for the pony title won last year by her sire, King of the Plains.

Runner-up to Highland Court was Adrian Van der Cing, Queen of Scots, the 1935 victor.

Mt. Rainier High Soccerists Meet Laurel Club Today

Mount Rainier High School's soccer team, with only one defeat chalked up against them in Prince Georges county play, will travel to Laurel today in an attempt to lower the colors of Coach Wilbur A. Jones.

Laurel, who has been bludgeoned by a large score by the Mounts, after trimming the Police Crossers, 2-0, in the opener, had to bow before them last week by the same score. Mount Rainier, from the comparison, is a favorite to cop with the opening whistle toots at 3:30 p. m.

Coach Edward Arnold will depend upon the following booters to lead the team: Warren Rolfe, right fullback; Frank Land, left fullback; Joseph Hyson, right halfback; John Redman, left halfback; Green, center forward; Kenneth Taylor, center forward; Donald Riddle, right outside; Robert Riddle, left outside; Augusta Catalina, right inside; and Richard Kloppe, left inside.

Rockingham Park Entries.

FIRST RACE—Six furlongs, purse, $800. 1. Jockey King (J. A. Jones) 115. 2. Cadeau II (J. A. Jones) 115. 3. Nebraska (J. A. Jones) 115. 4. Little Party (J. A. Jones) 115. 5. Squire Wins (J. A. Jones) 115. 6. Blue Ribbon (J. A. Jones) 115. 7. Lieut. Cleland (J. A. Jones) 115. 8. Victor Before (J. A. Jones) 115. 9. Fans at Madison (J. A. Jones) 115. 10. Garden (J. A. Jones) 115. 11. Belgian Second (J. A. Jones) 115. 12. Choosing to toss (J. A. Jones) 115. 13. Place with the Irish (J. A. Jones) 115. 14. Captain St. Paul (J. A. Jones) 115. 15. Keodore in his first (J. A. Jones) 115. 16. Keodore went out on the first (J. A. Jones) 115. 17. The victory was Marshall Cleland's (J. A. Jones) 115. 18. Second race (J. A. Jones) 115. 19. In the Brooks-Bright Foundation (J. A. Jones) 115. 20. Cup with Margot from the Cleland (J. A. Jones) 115. 21. Stables of Troy, Ontario, and finished (J. A. Jones) 115. 22. third with the Army team's (J. A. Jones) 115. 23. Challenge Cup and she came through (J. A. Jones) 115. 24. like an odds-on favorite for her fourth (J. A. Jones) 115. 25. blue ribbon in five (J. A. Jones) 115. 26. Appearances in the Madison Square (J. A. Jones) 115. 27. Garden area.

Official Charts

AT PIMLICO, MD.
(Compiled by Walter Haight.)
MONDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1937.
WEATHER: CLEAR, TRACK: FAST.

FIRST RACE—Six furlongs. Purses, $1,000; claiming. The Seven. For 2-year-olds. Start good from stall gates. Won driving place same. Went to post at 1:21. Off at 1:24. Time, 1:13 3/4. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 1:13 3/4.

Horse	Jockey	Post	St.	Str.	Fin.	Str.	Str.
Cadeau II	(J. A. Jones)	115	1	1	1	1	1
Nebraska	(J. A. Jones)	115	2	2	2	2	2
Little Party	(J. A. Jones)	115	3	3	3	3	3
Squire Wins	(J. A. Jones)	115	4	4	4	4	4
Blue Ribbon	(J. A. Jones)	115	5	5	5	5	5
Lieut. Cleland	(J. A. Jones)	115	6	6	6	6	6
Victor Before	(J. A. Jones)	115	7	7	7	7	7

SECOND RACE—One and one-half miles. Purses, $1,000; claiming. The Delinquent. For 3-year-olds. Start good from stall gates. Won driving place same. Went to post at 1:47 1/2. Off at 1:49 1/2. Time, 1:47 1/2. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 1:47 1/2.

Horse	Jockey	Post	St.	Str.	Fin.	Str.	Str.
Cadeau II	(J. A. Jones)	115	1	1	1	1	1
Nebraska	(J. A. Jones)	115	2	2	2	2	2
Little Party	(J. A. Jones)	115	3	3	3	3	3
Squire Wins	(J. A. Jones)	115	4	4	4	4	4
Blue Ribbon	(J. A. Jones)	115	5	5	5	5	5
Lieut. Cleland	(J. A. Jones)	115	6	6	6	6	6
Victor Before	(J. A. Jones)	115	7	7	7	7	7

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purses, $1,000. The Arlington. For 3-year-old fillies. Start good from stall gates. Won driving place same. Went to post at 2:12 1/2. Off at 2:14 1/2. Time, 1:13 3/4. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 1:13 3/4.

Horse	Jockey	Post	St.	Str.	Fin.	Str.	Str.
Cadeau II	(J. A. Jones)	115	1	1	1	1	1
Nebraska	(J. A. Jones)	115	2	2	2	2	2
Little Party	(J. A. Jones)	115	3	3	3	3	3
Squire Wins	(J. A. Jones)	115	4	4	4	4	4
Blue Ribbon	(J. A. Jones)	115	5	5	5	5	5
Lieut. Cleland	(J. A. Jones)	115	6	6	6	6	6
Victor Before	(J. A. Jones)	115	7	7	7	7	7

FOURTH RACE—One and one-half miles. Purses, $1,000; claiming. The Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stall gates. Won driving place same. Went to post at 2:44 1/2. Off at 2:46 1/2. Time, 1:47 1/2. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 1:47 1/2.

Horse	Jockey	Post	St.	Str.	Fin.	Str.	Str.
Cadeau II	(J. A. Jones)	115	1	1	1	1	1
Nebraska	(J. A. Jones)	115	2	2	2	2	2
Little Party	(J. A. Jones)	115	3	3	3	3	3
Squire Wins	(J. A. Jones)	115	4	4	4	4	4
Blue Ribbon	(J. A. Jones)	115	5	5	5	5	5
Lieut. Cleland	(J. A. Jones)	115	6	6	6	6	6
Victor Before	(J. A. Jones)	115	7	7	7	7	7

FIFTH RACE—Two miles. Purses, $1,000. The Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stall gates. Won driving place same. Went to post at 3:12 1/2. Off at 3:14 1/2. Time, 2:13 3/4. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 2:13 3/4.

Horse	Jockey	Post	St.	Str.	Fin.	Str.	Str.
Cadeau II	(J. A. Jones)	115	1	1	1	1	1
Nebraska	(J. A. Jones)	115	2	2	2	2	2
Little Party	(J. A. Jones)	115	3	3	3	3	3
Squire Wins	(J. A. Jones)	115	4	4	4	4	4
Blue Ribbon	(J. A. Jones)	115	5	5	5	5	5
Lieut. Cleland	(J. A. Jones)	115	6	6	6	6	6
Victor Before	(J. A. Jones)	115	7	7	7	7	7

SIXTH RACE—One and one-half miles. Purses, $1,000; claiming. The Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stall gates. Won driving place same. Went to post at 3:44 1/2. Off at 3:46 1/2. Time, 1:47 1/2. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 1:47 1/2.

Horse	Jockey	Post	St.	Str.	Fin.	Str.	Str.
Cadeau II	(J. A. Jones)	115	1	1	1	1	1
Nebraska	(J. A. Jones)	115	2	2	2	2	2
Little Party	(J. A. Jones)	115	3	3	3	3	3
Squire Wins	(J. A. Jones)	115	4	4	4	4	4
Blue Ribbon	(J. A. Jones)	115	5	5	5	5	5
Lieut. Cleland	(J. A. Jones)	115	6	6	6	6	6
Victor Before	(J. A. Jones)	115	7	7	7	7	7

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-half miles. Purses, $1,000; claiming. The Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stall gates. Won driving place same. Went to post at 4:12 1/2. Off at 4:14 1/2. Time, 1:47 1/2. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 1:47 1/2.

Horse	Jockey	Post	St.	Str.	Fin.	Str.	Str.
Cadeau II	(J. A. Jones)	115	1	1	1	1	1
Nebraska	(J. A. Jones)	115	2	2	2	2	2
Little Party	(J. A. Jones)	115	3	3	3	3	3
Squire Wins	(J. A. Jones)	115	4	4	4	4	4
Blue Ribbon	(J. A. Jones)	115	5	5	5	5	5
Lieut. Cleland	(J. A. Jones)	115	6	6	6	6	6
Victor Before	(J. A. Jones)	115	7	7	7	7	7

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-half miles. Purses, $1,000; claiming. The Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stall gates. Won driving place same. Went to post at 4:44 1/2. Off at 4:46 1/2. Time, 1:47 1/2. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 1:47 1/2.

Horse	Jockey	Post	St.	Str.	Fin.	Str.	Str.
Cadeau II	(J. A. Jones)	115	1	1	1	1	1
Nebraska	(J. A. Jones)	115	2	2	2	2	2
Little Party	(J. A. Jones)	115	3	3	3	3	3
Squire Wins	(J. A. Jones)	115	4	4	4	4	4
Blue Ribbon	(J. A. Jones)	115	5	5	5	5	5
Lieut. Cleland	(J. A. Jones)	115	6	6	6	6	6
Victor Before	(J. A. Jones)	115	7	7	7	7	7

NINTH RACE—One and one-half miles. Purses, $1,000; claiming. The Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stall gates. Won driving place same. Went to post at 5:12 1/2. Off at 5:14 1/2. Time, 1:47 1/2. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 1:47 1/2.

Horse	Jockey	Post	St.	Str.	Fin.	Str.	Str.
Cadeau II	(J. A. Jones)	115	1	1	1	1	1
Nebraska	(J. A. Jones)	115	2	2	2	2	2
Little Party	(J. A. Jones)	115	3	3	3	3	3
Squire Wins	(J. A. Jones)	115	4	4	4	4	4
Blue Ribbon	(J. A. Jones)	115	5	5	5	5	5
Lieut. Cleland	(J. A. Jones)	115	6	6	6	6	6
Victor Before	(J. A. Jones)	115	7	7	7	7	7

TENTH RACE—One and one-half miles. Purses, $1,000; claiming. The Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stall gates. Won driving place same. Went to post at 5:44 1/2. Off at 5:46 1/2. Time, 1:47 1/2. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 1:47 1/2.

Horse	Jockey	Post	St.	Str.	Fin.	Str.	Str.
Cadeau II	(J. A. Jones)	115	1	1	1	1	1
Nebraska	(J. A. Jones)	115	2	2	2	2	2
Little Party	(J. A. Jones)	115	3	3	3	3	3
Squire Wins	(J. A. Jones)	115	4	4	4	4	4
Blue Ribbon	(J. A. Jones)	115	5	5	5	5	5
Lieut. Cleland	(J. A. Jones)	115	6	6	6	6	6
Victor Before	(J. A. Jones)	115	7	7	7	7	7

Eleventh RACE—One and one-half miles. Purses, $1,000; claiming. The Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stall gates. Won driving place same. Went to post at 6:12 1/2. Off at 6:14 1/2. Time, 1:47 1/2. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 1:47 1/2.

Horse	Jockey	Post	St.	Str.	Fin.	Str.	Str.
Cadeau II	(J. A. Jones)	115	1	1	1	1	1
Nebraska	(J. A. Jones)	115	2	2	2	2	2
Little Party	(J. A. Jones)	115	3	3

Eastern, Tech Meet Today to Decide Title

Both Teams Have Won 3 Grid Battles

Contest Set for 3 P. M. at Lincoln Park Stadium.

By Jack Munhall.

At approximately 2:30 o'clock this afternoon more than 8,000 students will witness the final grid battle between Eastern and Tech in the annual championship game.

Kickoff is scheduled for 3 o'clock. Tied at three victories and no defeats, these powerful co-leaders, barring unforeseen upsets, will decide, with the aid of an innocent pigskin, the final resting place of the mythical mantle until next year.

Although each will have another interhigh encounter, neither is deemed capable of spoiling the dreams of the Eastern-Tech victor.

It is with high hopes and a well-balanced outfit that Eastern will take the field in pursuit of a title which has eluded it for 10 long years.

To take a squint at the last Eastern championship proof, you must dig up a dusty paper bearing the year 1927. The closest approach to an Eastern championship since that time was made by the 1927 edition which finished in a triple deadlock with Central and Tech.

Titles Not New to Tech.

This business of championships is not new to Tech—in fact, it must have grown somewhat monotonous, because the Manual Trainers will be seeking their tenth outright title, not to mention that they also shared the pennant in two other seasons.

The majority of these honors were gained when the famed Hap Harrell was tutoring Tech. But he had departed and Rusty Thompson is faced with the unenviable task of defending the laurels gained by Tech last year. Harrell's farewell coaching achievement.

On the basis of records compiled to date, but which can be promptly discarded, Eastern will rule a slight choice to defeat Tech in this rivalry. Each has swept through interhigh competition with a minimum of effort, so the best medium of comparison is offered in Gonzaga Prep, where was met by each eleven.

Eastern won a decisive 13-0 victory over the prep outfit in the season's biggest upheaval. But Tech bowed to the Gonzaga team, 20-0. Needless to say, that score does not represent the true extent of Tech's strength but it does serve to place it in the role of underdog.

Both Tech and Eastern have formidable, well-balanced aggregations paced by two outstanding backs. In fact, the performance of this quartet of backs may well determine the outcome of the contest. Tech has Jack Belote, a triple-threat quarterback, generally acclaimed the best back in the series, and Henry Rasier, a human battering-ram fullback.

Both Eastern presents classy Al Kidwell, all-high halfback, and Bill Kemp, most valuable choice at a center position last year. Tech was unified to quarterback this year.

Belote's Kicking Unequaled.

The kicking edge belongs to Tech because Belote has no scholastic equal for length and accurate punting and this same young man also gives Tech the better passing. The running attack appears equal for Rasier and Belote, and Kidwell and Kemp have adequate support. In Eastern's backfield will be such shifty ball-carriers as Hal Spith and Doc Murray, while the two outstanding ends in Eastern are Freddie Dick, fleet open-field runner and Dick Streets, fine blocking back, round out Tech's backfield.

The forward walls are heavy and aggressive and are also well-matched. Tech has an exceptionally capable pair of guards in Ivy Belote and Charlie Callan and two outstanding ends in Milton Bittenbender and Jack Connolly. Its tackles, Jake Fleishman and Don Slaugh, both scaling better than 200 pounds, starting the game when plays are aimed their way but are a little slow in rushing passers and kickers. Jim Miller is a smart center who is adept at diagnosing enemy plays.

Eastern features Dick Wade and Jack Kearney, a pair of highly efficient wingmen who are glue-stuck on the receiving end of Kidwell's aerials. The remainder of the line finds Paul Kober and Hal Dickinson, at tackles, Bob Stange and Jerry Dennis, at guards, and Zeke Cliff at center.

Millies Released

Continued from Page 17.

satisfied with his catching prospects. "Rick Ferrell gives us first-grade protection behind the plate, and the rookie from Chattanooga, Thompson Livingston, gives promise of being a sensational catcher when he acquires experience. Young Jake Early is also our property and may develop.

"I had no idea that Joe Engel had contemplated making Millies his manager, but I think it was a fine choice. Millies is a hard worker, a smart fellow and will give Chattanooga a fighting team."

Billy Richardson, Hard-Luck Champion, Gets Chance

Bull-like Billy Richardson, the real little fellow whose football saga reads like a hospital chart, may get another chance in George Washington's backfield Saturday after surviving a series of unfortunate mishaps that threatened to bring his football career to an untimely end. The Colonials tangle with North Dakota in their homecoming game.

A product of Central High School where he earned a reputation several sizes larger than himself in the Blue's backfield, Billy saw his first

Eastern Star

Jacobus Faces Fight to Retain Professional Golfers' Office

Illinois Association Launches Drive to Elect Cunningham After Harlow Is Deposed as Tournament Bureau Manager; Many Problems Up.

By Charles Dunkley.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Rival factions drew battle lines today for a fight over control of the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

The organization controls the teaching and touring exhibitions of its stars.

The executive committee met in private session but tomorrow delegates assembled from 28 State chapters will start airing their views, principally over the retention of George Jacobus, of Ridgewood, N. J., as president, who has served four terms.

This may be Jacobus' last appearance as chief executive, since the Illinois branch of the association has launched a campaign for the election of Alex Cunningham, of the North Shore Country Club, Chicago District, for president.

Others who have been mentioned to succeed Jacobus include Brand, of Pittsburgh; George Aulbach, of Dallas, Tex.; Willie Hunter, a Californian, and R. W. Treacy, of Grand Rapids, Mich., one of six vice presidents.

The Illinois Association is aroused

By Lewis F. Atchison.

Joe Bunsu, Catholic University end and potent middleweight of the boxing team, lay in Emergency Hospital last night, the victim of a strange malady which has baffled medical science thus far and definitely ended the lad's football playing for the season.

University officials were at a loss to explain the case. Bunsu was removed to the hospital late Friday night after complaining of sharp abdominal pains. A precursory examination indicated appendicitis, but this theory was scouted after a thorough examination at the hospital. Inasmuch as he did not play against West Virginia Wesleyan Saturday, Bunsu could not be suffering from a football injury.

Bergman Worried.

But Bunsu's baffling ailment, which threatens to keep him confined indefinitely, is but one of the numerous worries which have come to roost in the gray thatch of "Dutch" Bergman, Cardinal coach. "Irish" Carroll, the team's ace back, is out for ten days with a damaged arm; Carmen Pirro, a tackle; Vic Miller and Lou Shine, end, have all been lost for the remainder of the season. Their injuries range from mangled knees to a chipped vertebrae bone.

At the master now stands, Bergman probably will invade Miami this week-end with a force of only 18 men. Originally he planned to take the entire squad of 24 men, but list.

Vinnie Fraatz, Bergman's able end coach and scout, added even more gloom to the situation by his report on Miami, which he scouted Saturday. The Hurricane, according to him, is small but fast, with a line averaging 181 pounds, and a backfield of 186 pounds. The ends, among the best Fraatz ever has seen, and he played against some of the best during his own career and has seen hundreds of others in action.

They get down under punts like whippets and are vicious tacklers. The backfield is well knit and has in Dunne, quarterback and safety man, a man who hits and runs like Andy Farkas, of Detroit. If you are kicking as fast as the Cards you'll recall how Mr. Farkas treated them. Masterson received honorable mention on last year's All-America, and Fraatz contends that Dunne will be added to the list this season.

Smaller Ball Urged for Boys

The Touchdown Club of Washington yesterday unanimously went on record favoring the adoption of an official "pre-varsity" size football as well as program of promoting the game among boys between the ages of 6 and 12 years.

The idea originally was promulgated by Arthur E. French, Harvard '28, at a meeting of the New York Touchdown Club.

The undersized ball, an exact duplicate of a varsity ball scaled to fit smaller boys' hands, can be used under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington. The scheme is to have club members devote an hour of their spare time each week to a group of youngsters, teaching them the fundamentals of kicking and passing. They will be drilled as teams and will play "touch" football. No bodily contact is involved, hence the danger of injury is almost wholly eliminated. At the end of the season a tournament may be arranged to decide the junior and dependent champions of the city.

"Dutch" Bergman, head football coach and director of athletics at Catholic University, introduced the plan and exhibited the ball at yesterday's club luncheon, and expressed hearty approval of the move.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

The undersized ball, an exact duplicate of a varsity ball scaled to fit smaller boys' hands, can be used under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Which the ball is merely a means to an end under the French plan, which very likely will not be in force until next year in Washington.

Georgetown, N.Y.U. Start Grid Series

Blue and Gray, Violets Battles Produce Thrills.

Fresh from their surprising 6-6 tie with West Virginia, which marked a new high in Georgetown football during the past five years, the happy Hoyas yesterday began preparations for their ninth annual game with New York University, scheduled Saturday at New York.

This series with the Violets is one of the brightest, and paradoxically, gloomiest in Hilltop history. The brightest because the first game between the two marked the peak of Georgetown's football fortunes, and the gloomiest because a few years later a 39-0 drubbing at New York's hands indicated that Georgetown had reached the dregs of its cup of sorrow.

Many will recall the rainy November afternoon back in 1928 when the Hoyas invaded the Polo Grounds and on a slimy gridiron jolted the East's best, with a 7-2 defeat. Ken Provincial scooped up a fumble and plodded 87 yards through knee-deep mud for the winning touchdown.

Jim Mooney added the extra point, and Quarterback Johnny Scalzi's brainy field generalship prevented N. Y. U. from tying the score later.

Scalzi gave the Violets its 2 points on an automatic safety, rather than risk having a punt blocked near the goal line.

In 1929 Little led another team to Gotham and with Johnny Bozok, a punting star, and Eddie McHugh, a shiner, the host eleven with a 14-0 shiner. Then Little went to the big city without the Hoyas. He was Columbia's new coach.

The following year saw Georgetown drop its first decision to the Violet, a 2-0 affair, lost when Scalzi unkindly snuffed out a punt of his own from behind his own goal line. And then came the deluge. It was 34-0 in N. Y. U.'s favor in '31; and 39-0 the next year, the latter game marking Hagerty's debut at the Hilltop.

In 1934 a scoreless tie resulted after brilliant goal line stands by both clubs. Then in '35 the Hoyas lost a heartbreaker, New York scoring its tying touchdown in the last three minutes of play on a punt return by Ned MacPherson who ran through the entire eleven. Sal Somma place-kicked the winning point.

They struggled together to another tie, 0-0, when Red Hardy scored Georgetown's touchdown on a 40-yard run after breaking through and blocking Dan Dowd's punt. N. Y. U. tied it up late in the final quarter, but the Hoyas passed on the field Saturday against West Virginia in Hoyas' play.

He is building a deceptive passing attack around his newly drafted quarterback, 155-pound Joe Mellendick, and strengthening his defensive fortifications. Mellendick appears to be the kid to make the team click. He is the one man who can take the ball and keep the enemy guessing. He kicks well, runs well, and passes well enough to get by.

Moreover, he has an abundance of spirit, and a fire and dash—something new to Georgetown after an absence of many years, was reflected on the field Saturday against West Virginia in Hoyas' play.

Didrikson Has 75 in Practice

The Babe dropped in town yesterday after a Sunday exhibition in the Washington-Babe golf tournament to play 27 holes at Congressional, and include the driving of the eighteen green among her feat.

The Babe, en route to New York, where she will play with Helen Hicks, John Montague and Babe Ruth in an exhibition match on Sunday, played the first nine in 40, with Roland MacKenzie and J. Monroe Hunter, including an eight on the hole. She birdied the seventh hole and was over par on the eighth.

After taking six strokes, two over par, on the eleventh, she parred the holes to 16 where her second stroke was a 5 from the green and she canned the putt for a birdie. A regulation par followed on 17 after a 30-yard drive, aided by a trailing wind. Stepping on the middle tee, Babe closed one on the final hole that trickled onto the green. Her approximate score was the lengthy course.

Don't let the rockiness of mid-summer for those little fellows of 2 pounds and under on such heavily weighted lines that you wondered where the fun lay. You won't find this present sport that you need not take odds from any—anywhere.

The one fly in the ointment is the ever-present thought of that part of the Maryland law that says 15 pounds is the minimum size for striped bass to be taken legally from its waters. It must be a dictate of each angler's conscience will tell him what to do after he gets a larger fish than this up to the side of the boat. Release it or try and wrap the net around it—there is no middle course.

If you decide to hit the roads to southern Maryland for a try at this grand fishing, take with you, for the early mornings and late evenings are more than cool on the water, and plenty of the yellow-headed Florida leeches. The size of the catches will be entirely up to the individual, but reflecting, in no misundestanding language, many things from the size tackle employed to the angler's ability to stand punishment.

These Point Lookout strippers have been rising anywhere between 8 and 12 inches in the morning and staying in until dark, so it isn't necessary to get up in the middle of the night for the early start, but it is necessary to make a boat reservation ahead. From the setup yesterday, when more than ten boatmen were called and found booked until Wednesday, we would say that four or five days ahead would be about right.

For your guidance if you do not happen to know a good boatman in this area: Capt. Raub Drury and Capt. Raub Drury, Jr., phone Great Mills 2313; Capt. T. T. Willoughby, Great Mills 1612; and Capt. C. T. Willoughby, Great Mills 4F5. These guides all live in Ridge and run out of St. Jerome's Creek, while the following are in the form of 4-pound twin girls.

Speaking of lacrosse, this vicinity is the center of the game in America. Maryland, Navy, Johns Hopkins and St. John's producing the best teams in the country. ANGUS LAMOND, who plays a speedy game of running plays for the Washington Presidents lowing are in the form of 4-pound twin girls.

Speaking of lacrosse, this vicinity is the center of the game in America. Maryland, Navy, Johns Hopkins and St. John's producing the best teams in the country. ANGUS LAMOND, who plays a speedy game of running plays for the Washington Presidents

lowing are in the form of 4-pound twin girls.

Speaking of lacrosse, this vicinity is the center of the game in America. Maryland, Navy, Johns Hopkins and St. John's producing the best teams in the country. ANGUS LAMOND, who plays a speedy game of running plays for the Washington Presidents lowing are in the form of 4-pound twin girls.

Vital Statistics

Deaths.

Anna M. Landon, 66, 317 7th st. at 24. Phillips H. Darr, 76, 845 1st st. at 24. Raymond B. Johnson, 62, 1212 Floral st. at 24.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Deaths.

Ship Movements

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

At New York.

Transfers

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

Navy Orders.

On the Air Today

The Northern Dramatic Company's Armistice Week program will be "For Love," a war story, with Dorothy O'Donnell and Norman Rose, WOL, at 9. Ronald Dawson will be heard in the type of role that is his forte—as a British Army officer.

Jack Oakie and Stuart Irwin continue the search for funds for "Oakie College," WJWS, at 9:30. Benny Goodman follows at 10 with a feature he calls "Life Goes On."

Bob Burns guests in "Hollywood Mardi Gras," WRC, at 9:30. Ruby Mercer, operatic soprano, also will be a guest attraction. With Lanny Ross, Charley Butterworth and others.

Cleveland's leading colored vocalist, heard for several months from Cleveland's WGAR, will be presented over the Columbia network (WJWS) at 10:45 in "Wings Over Jordan."

Today's speakers: At 5, Lady Nancy Astor, by short wave from London, WRC; at 10:30, Postmaster General Farley, from Young Democrats dinner at Mayflower, WOL; at 11, Dr. J. Cayce Morrison, educator, in "Science Versus Crime," WMAL.

The Post Radio Time-Table

Tuesday, November 9, Washington.

Eastern Standard Time.

WRC 316M-590KC

WMA 478M-630KC

WOL 229M-1,310KC

WJWS 206M-1,460KC

6:00 Gordon

6:15 Hittentmark

6:30 Today's Prelude

6:45

7:00

7:15

7:30

7:45

8:00

8:15

8:30

8:45

9:00

9:15

9:30

9:45

10:00

10:15

10:30

10:45

11:00

11:15

11:30

11:45

12:00

12:15

12:30

12:45

1:00

1:15

1:30

1:45

Complete Transactions Yesterday

Total trading 1,377,454 shares; previous day, 768,380; week ago, 1,029,210; year ago, 1,319,080; two years ago, closed. January 1 to date, 399,390,770; previous day, 413,001,253; two years ago, 294,460,100.

Unit of trading ten shares.

Dow-Jones Averages

Nov. 8, 1937. The United Press.

Stocks—Open. High. Low. Close. Net chg.

30 Industrials..... 31.88 31.90 31.70 31.85 +0.03

30 Railroads..... 31.88 31.90 31.70 31.85 +0.03

75 Stocks..... 41.67 41.70 41.50 41.65 +0.03

Transactions in stocks under $250,000:

Bull..... 88,600

Bear..... 81,850

Unsettled..... 81,850

Total..... 170,450

Commodities Range

Nov. 8, 1937. The United Press.

Grain, Chicago (Dec.)..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Wheat, Chicago (Dec.)..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Corn, Chicago (Dec.)..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Soybean, Chicago (Dec.)..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Lintseed, Chicago (Dec.)..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Flour, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Coffee, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Sugar, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Wool, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Lead, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Zinc, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Copper, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Gold, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Silver, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Platinum, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Palladium, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Rhodium, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. 1000, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. 500, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. 250, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. 125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. 62.5, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. 31.25, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. 15.625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. 7.8125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. 3.90625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. 1.953125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .9765625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .48828125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .244140625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .1220703125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .06103515625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .030517578125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0152587890625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00762939453125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .003814697265625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0019073486328125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00095367431640625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .000476837158203125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0002384185791015625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00011920928955078125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .000059604644775390625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0000298023223876953125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00001490116119384765625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .000007450580596923828125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0000037252902984619140625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .000001862645149230957265625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0000009313225746145488378125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00000046566128730727274390625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .000000232830643653636371953125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0000001164153218268181829765625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00000005820766091340909093978125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .000000029103830456704545469890625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .000000014551915228352272727349453125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .000000007275957614176363636371953125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0000000036379788070881818181829765625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0000000018189894035440909093978125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00000000090949470177204545469890625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .000000000454747350886263636371953125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .000000000227373675443131818181829765625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .000000000113686837721665909093978125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0000000000568434188608272727349453125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00000000002842170943041363636371953125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00000000001421085471520681818181829765625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00000000000710542735760340909093978125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .000000000003552713678801704545469890625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0000000000017763568394008522727349453125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0000000000008881784197004261363636371953125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00000000000044408920985021306818181829765625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0000000000002220446049251015272727349453125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00000000000011102230246250051363636371953125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0000000000000555111512312500256818181829765625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0000000000000277555756156250012840909093978125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .000000000000013877787807812500064204545469890625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0000000000000069388939039062500032102272727349453125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00000000000000346944695195312500016051363636371953125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0000000000000017347234759765625000080256818181829765625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00000000000000086736173798812500004012840909093978125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .0000000000000004336808689940625000020064204545469890625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00000000000000021684043449703125000010032102272727349453125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .000000000000000108420217248515625000005016051363636371953125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00000000000000005421010862425781250000025080256818181829765625, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Pt. .00000000000000002710505431212890625000001254012840909093978125, New York..... 85 1/2 85 3/4 85 1/2 85 3/4

Realtors Here N.Y. Curb Stock

To Discuss New Firm at Close

Appraisal Plan

More Accurate Valuations

Aim of National Forum

Next Week

Continued on preceding page.

Other officers re-elected were Harry G. Meem, vice president; Gilbert Grosvener, vice president; Edward J. McAlister, secretary; and J. Harold McDowell, assistant secretary.

All directors were re-elected. The board is composed of Ralph P. Barnard, Charles H. DeLong, Gilbert Grosvener, Arthur B. Heaton, Robert L. Lewis, Edward L. McAlister, Harry G. Meem, Theodore W. Noyes, Arthur Peter, Walter S. Pratt, Jr., Frank J. Stryker and Wilson L. Townsend. The fifty-eighth annual report revealed the association's assets have passed the $7,000,000 mark.

Business Failures Drop.

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—Business failures in the United States for the five days ended November 4 fell to 182, against 218 in the week previous and 151 a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

Life Insurance Club.

The Life Insurance Club of Washington, D. C., held its monthly meeting recently at the Parrot Tea Room.

At this session, Leoni O'Brien, William P. Ross and Capt. Andrus Durrant, were admitted as new members.

An unusually large attendance at this meeting had the pleasure of an instructive talk by Ray Du Four, of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co., local agent, who spoke on the recent estate taxation law, affecting residents of the District of Columbia. Mr. Du Four also discussed the effects of general taxation upon estates and the benefits of life insurance in connection with these and administrative charges.

The club, organized in 1933, meets monthly and is represented by agents from leading insurance organizations in this city.

Life Underwriters.

At the regular monthly meeting of the District of Columbia Chapter of Chartered Life Underwriters of the new District of Columbia, held by Joseph A. Marr, general agent of Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co., who is also instructor for wills, testamentary trusts and the administration of estates by the District of Columbia Life Insurance Institute. Chief item of the discussion was the new inheritance tax, passed by the last Congress and which affects a large number of estates in Washington. The maximum exemption under the law is $5,000 and the minimum exemption is $1,000.

Members of the chapter attending the monthly dinner, generally expressed the idea that clients are deeply interested in the new inheritance tax as it will affect the administration of their estates by increased taxes. The business privilege tax was also covered in the discussion, because of its effect on earnings and the chapter's problem of continuing business operation under estate management. The meeting was held following a dinner at the Cosmos Club.

President Orval W. Adams, of the American Bankers Association has appointed Vice President Joshua Evans, Jr., of Hamilton National Bank, a member of the national organization's committee on Federal legislation.

John R. Waller executive vice president of the National Association of Sales Finance Companies will be a speaker before the National Association of Ice Industries, at Cleveland, this week. Two thousand delegates are expected in attendance.

Bank Stocks

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—(New York Security Dealers Association.)

Bank and Trust Companies

Bank of America (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of Montreal (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of New York (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the City (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the South (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the West (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the North (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the East (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the Middle (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the South (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the West (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the North (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the East (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the Middle (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the South (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the West (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the North (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the East (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the Middle (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the South (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the West (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the North (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

Bank of the East (N.Y.)..... 22 1/2 22 3/4 22 1/2 22 3/4

DIED.	Auction Sales
--------------	----------------------

TRENAM MILTON ROSWELL. On Sunday, November 7, 1937, at his residence, the Cavalier Hotel, MILTON ROSWELL TRENAM, beloved husband of Flora L.

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

trus, holding an Equity Court. National Equity Court, 1000-1002, 1004, 1006, 1008, 1010, 1012, 1014, 1016, 1018, 1020, 1022, 1024, 1026, 1028, 1030, 1032, 1034, 1036, 1038, 1040, 1042, 1044, 1046, 1048, 1050, 1052, 1054, 1056, 1058, 1060, 1062, 1064, 1066, 1068, 1070, 1072, 1074, 1076, 1078, 1080, 1082, 1084, 1086, 1088, 1090, 1092, 1094, 1096, 1098, 1100, 1102, 1104, 1106, 1108, 1110, 1112, 1114, 1116, 1118, 1120, 1122, 1124, 1126, 1128, 1130, 1132, 1134, 1136, 1138, 1140, 1142, 1144, 1146, 1148, 1150, 1152, 1154, 1156, 1158, 1160, 1162, 1164, 1166, 1168, 1170, 1172, 1174, 1176, 1178, 1180, 1182, 1184, 1186, 1188, 1190, 1192, 1194, 1196, 1198, 1200, 1202, 1204, 1206, 1208, 1210, 1212, 1214, 1216, 1218, 1220, 1222, 1224, 1226, 1228, 1230, 1232, 1234, 1236, 1238, 1240, 1242, 1244, 1246, 1248, 1250, 1252, 1254, 1256, 1258, 1260, 1262, 1264, 1266, 1268, 1270, 1272, 1274, 1276, 1278, 1280, 1282, 1284, 1286, 1288, 1290, 1292, 1294, 1296, 1298, 1300, 1302, 1304, 1306, 1308, 1310, 1312, 1314, 1316, 1318, 1320, 1322, 1324, 1326, 1328, 1330, 1332, 1334, 1336, 1338, 1340, 1342, 1344, 1346, 1348, 1350, 1352, 1354, 1356, 1358, 1360, 1362, 1364, 1366, 1368, 1370, 1372, 1374, 1376, 1378, 1380, 1382, 1384, 1386, 1388, 1390, 1392, 1394, 1396, 1398, 1400, 1402, 1404, 1406, 1408, 1410, 1412, 1414, 1416, 1418, 1420, 1422, 1424, 1426, 1428, 1430, 1432, 1434, 1436, 1438, 1440, 1442, 1444, 1446, 1448, 1450, 1452, 1454, 1456, 1458, 1460, 1462, 1464, 1466, 1468, 1470, 1472, 1474, 1476, 1478, 1480, 1482, 1484, 1486, 1488, 1490, 1492, 1494, 1496, 1498, 1500, 1502, 1504, 1506, 1508, 1510, 1512, 1514, 1516, 1518, 1520, 1522, 1524, 1526, 1528, 1530, 1532, 1534, 1536, 1538, 1540, 1542, 1544, 1546, 1548, 1550, 1552, 1554, 1556, 1558, 1560, 1562, 1564, 1566, 1568, 1570, 1572, 1574, 1576, 1578, 1580, 1582, 1584, 1586, 1588, 1590, 1592, 1594, 1596, 1598, 1600, 1602, 1604, 1606, 1608, 1610, 1612, 1614, 1616, 1618, 1620, 1622, 1624, 1626, 1628, 1630, 1632, 1634, 1636, 1638, 1640, 1642, 1644, 1646, 1648, 1650, 1652, 1654, 1656, 1658, 1660, 1662, 1664, 1666, 1668, 1670, 1672, 1674, 1676, 1678, 1680, 1682, 1684, 1686, 1688, 1690, 1692, 1694, 1696, 1698, 1700, 1702, 1704, 1706, 1708, 1710, 1712, 1714, 1716, 1718, 1720, 1722, 1724, 1726, 1728, 1730, 1732, 1734, 1736, 1738, 1740, 1742, 1744, 1746, 1748, 1750, 1752, 1754, 1756, 1758, 1760, 1762, 1764, 1766, 1768, 1770, 1772, 1774, 1776, 1778, 1780, 1782, 1784, 1786, 1788, 1790, 1792, 1794, 1796, 1798, 1800, 1802, 1804, 1806, 1808, 1810, 1812, 1814, 1816, 1818, 1820, 1822, 1824, 1826, 1828, 1830, 1832, 1834, 1836, 1838, 1840, 1842, 1844, 1846, 1848, 1850, 1852, 1854, 1856, 1858, 1860, 1862, 1864, 1866, 1868, 1870, 1872, 1874, 1876, 1878, 1880, 1882, 1884, 1886, 1888, 1890, 1892, 1894, 1896, 1898, 1900, 1902, 1904, 1906, 1908, 1910, 1912, 1914, 1916, 1918, 1920, 1922, 1924, 1926, 1928, 1930, 1932, 1934, 1936, 1938, 1940, 1942, 1944, 1946, 1948, 1950, 1952, 1954, 1956, 1958, 1960, 1962, 1964, 1966, 1968, 1970, 1972, 1974, 1976, 1978, 1980, 1982, 1984, 1986, 1988, 1990, 1992, 1994, 1996, 1998, 2000, 2002, 2004, 2006, 2008, 2010, 2012, 2014, 2016, 2018, 2020, 2022, 2024, 2026, 2028, 2030, 2032, 2034, 2036, 2038, 2040, 2042, 2044, 2046, 2048, 2050, 2052, 2054, 2056, 2058, 2060, 2062, 2064, 2066, 2068, 2070, 2072, 2074, 2076, 2078, 2080, 2082, 2084, 2086, 2088, 2090, 2092, 2094, 2096, 2098, 2100, 2102, 2104, 2106, 2108, 2110, 2112, 2114, 2116, 2118, 2120, 2122, 2124, 2126, 2128, 2130, 2132, 2134, 2136, 2138, 2140, 2142, 2144, 2146, 2148, 2150, 2152, 2154, 2156, 2158, 2160, 2162, 2164, 2166, 2168, 2170, 2172, 2174, 2176, 2178, 2180, 2182, 2184, 2186, 2188, 2190, 2192, 2194, 2196, 2198, 2200, 2202, 2204, 2206, 2208, 2210, 2212, 2214, 2216, 2218, 2220, 2222, 2224, 2226, 2228, 2230, 2232, 2234, 2236, 2238, 2240, 2242, 2244, 2246, 2248, 2250, 2252, 2254, 2256, 2258, 2260, 2262, 2264, 2266, 2268, 2270, 2272, 2274, 2276, 2278, 2280, 2282, 2284, 2286, 2288, 2290, 2292, 2294, 2296, 2298, 2300, 2302, 2304, 2306, 2308, 2310, 2312, 2314, 2316, 2318, 2320, 2322, 2324, 2326, 2328, 2330, 2332, 2334, 2336, 2338, 2340, 2342, 2344, 2346, 2348, 2350, 2352, 2354, 2356, 2358, 23

[illegible]

By virtue of a certain deed of trust duly recorded, in Liber No. 3700, Folio 119 at one of the land records of the District of Columbia, and at the request of the party secured thereby, the undersigned, a duly qualified and sworn referee in front of the premises, on WEDNESDAY, the 11th day of JANUARY, 1934, at 10 A. 1937, AT THREE-FIFTEEN O'CLOCK, sold at public auction, to the highest bidder, the premises situated in the District of Columbia, and designated as and being lot 173 in Block 5 of the subdivision of lot 173 in Rosa and Chaney's subdivision of lot 173 in Rosa and Chaney's subdivision of lot 173 in Block 5 "Mount Pleasant" and "Pleasant Plains" now known as Square 3888, and a portion of lot 173 in Block 5, as recorded in the Surveyor's Office of the District of Columbia, at Folio 119 of Liber No. 3700.

TERMS OF SALE: ALL CASH. A deposit of $250.00 will be required at time of sale. All convenancing, recording, etc., to be completed by the purchaser. The balance to be completed with within thirty days from date of sale.

the right to resell the property at the discretion of the trustee, and the right of defaulting purchaser, after five days' default, to resell the same in new newspaper published in Washington, D. C.

WILLIAM R. DELAMSHUTT,
Trustee, 1127 14th St. N. E.
Pc-1029-Nor. 2.4, 6.9

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1937—
THOS. J. OWEN & SON, Auctioneers, 1481 Eye Street, Northeast.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE FRAME
BUNGALOWS AND LOTS IN WASHINGTON
NO. 800 FORTY-FOURTH STREET
N. W.

By virtue of a certain deed of trust duly recorded in Liber 6382, Folio 241 at section 10, of the District of Columbia, and at the request of the party secured therein, the undersigned will sell at public auction, in front of the post office building, on WEDNESDAY, THE TENTH DAY
OF NOVEMBER, 1937, at 2 o'clock
P. M., the following-
FIFTEEN O'CLOCK P. M., the following-
LOTS 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 77 district of Columbia, and designated as and being lot 91 in S. D. Redmond's subdivision of lots in Square 5094, as per plat of said subdivision, and being the same as the District of Columbia in Liber 81 at folio 17.

TERMS OF SALE: ALL CASH. A deposit of $250.00 will be required at time of sale, and the balance of the purchase price to be paid by check or purchase. Terms of sale to be complete within thirty days from day of sale, and the purchaser to receive the title to the property at the risk and expense of the purchaser. The advertiser's advertisement of such result in some newspaper published in Washington, D. C.

WM. H. DELASHMUSS,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
 201 N. 14TH ST., NEAR 13TH ST.,
 Occ. Nov. 29, 1909. 24,675. Trustees.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS.

W ondered

Help-Me-Do

Men—If you don't find your own

of Service

W. W. CHAMBERS

W. W. CHAMBERS

NATIONALLY KNOWN candidate will select 2 men for special training for managerial position. Also

75 up

A beautiful half couch cushion, provided in a complete lot that includes cars, flowers and hearers, all for only—

$165

Flower Department

Continued on following page.

Bob Burns Says—

The other day I wrote that the farmers' wives were much more fortunate than their city sisters because they could work right along side their husbands in the farm work and be a part of the business while the business man's wife has to sit in the background and can't take part in her husband's business.

That afternoon I paid a visit to a friend of mine who is the president of a big corporation. While I was there his business manager came in and said "I'd like to use your telephone because my wife told me to ask you for a raise today and she didn't tell me how much."

The president said "Well, you go ahead and ask her and then I'll call my wife and see if she'll let me give it to you."

Copyright, 1937, for The Washington Post.

ROY POWERS, EAGLE SCOUT— Roy Pleads for Rocky. By Paul Powell

Registered U. S. Patent Office

DON WINSLOW OF THE NAVY— Here, Boy! By Frank Martinek

Lieut. Comdr. U. S. N.

NED BRANT—A Story of College Athletics By Bob Zuppke

Famous Football Coach.

More Fun For All

Three of the world's funniest cartoons appear in The Post. They are "Off the Record" . . . "Grin and Bear It" . . . and "Time Out" . . . Don't miss them today or daily, exclusively in The Post.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES

Jumped the Gun.

By Milton Caniff

BIG CHIEF WAHOO

By Saunders and Woggon

LALA PALOOZA

More Company.

By Rube Goldberg

MICKY FINN

By Lank Leonard

DIXIE DUGAN

Truckin' Lessons.

By J. P. McEvoy and H. J. Striebel

JOE PALOOKA

Ann Howe.

By Ham Fisher

JANE ARDEN

Registered U. S. Patent Office

Just the Idea!

By Monte Barrett and Russell Ross

BENNY

This Includes Him.

By J. Carver Pusey

sion of Congress "must decide whether "that same old line of policy"—a reference to the Wilson Administration's pre-World War policy—"is to be okayed at an earlier stage or whether the neutrality law to prevent that policy being followed again is to be carried out."

Declaring rumors are current "that the Administration contemplates greatly increased expenditures for armaments," Mrs. Boeckel urged popular opposition to such expenditures.

You ARE Your Brother's Keeper." Give Thru Your Community Chest